BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY,

VOL. IV. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1899. NO. 1.

President Harris' Address.

The opening address of the term was given in Bucknell Hall Monday morning immediately after chapel by Dr. Harris. As has been the case since the first chapel Friday morning, the seating capacity was taxed to its utmost. The subject of the address was "Character," and we give below some of the many valuable thoughts pointed out to us by our learned teacher and esteemed president.

The purpose of education is character. The pictures and statues in the halls and institutions of learning should be the pictures and statues of scholars and poets and literateurs, but I think as the object of education, especially the college education, is character, developing men of action, that men of action should have their place, and a very large place, among those whom the students daily learn to admire, and admiring to imitate.

Character is completely fashioned will. Character is will, is an expression for the fact that a man can act according to an idea, according to an idea of law. All other things, as Kant has explained, act according to law, but man can act according to his idea of law. It is a word used to express the fact that man can choose an object; a man can choose to be a physician, a lawyer or an agriculturalist and can start towards that end, and that he can also determine for himself any minor choices: the term will is merely an expression for that fact and the complete fashioning of this will is character.

Man in relation to his will may be considered either individually or in relation to others, in relation to society and in relation to God. Considered individually, man inherits a temperament, a certain disposition. He may be sanguine: he may be phlegmatic: slow to reason impulses from within and slow to react upon them; or he may be of a choleric temperament, not so ready to receive impulses from without but quick and strong in his reactions. Whatever temperament he inherits, that becomes a part of his character to be developed and improved and not to be submitted to. Together with temperament there are circumstances as difficulties. We may be born rich or poor and either may have to be met with. Overcoming the difficulty of circumstances is the fashioning of will power.

In the development of character the chief maxium is that we must accustom ourselves to conquer. This is the fundamental principle in the development of will of the individual. He must not choose what is too difficult; what is impossible for his reasonable attainment. It sometimes happens that students attempt that which is beyond them and thus defeat the development day by day. Besides taking matters too difficult we take matters that are inadequate to our powers. We don't require exercise, we don't consequently develop our energy of will; we elect along the lines of least resistence. It is not true that students elect the easy subjects, but a large proportion choose the difficult subjects quite generally here. We have to accustom ourselves to things we don't like. A large part of our education is in doing things we do not like and keeping on strenuously until we do like them.

In the development of energy of will a man must act for himself. It is a a mistake for several students to study together. There is always one of them a little quicker than the others and the loss is with the others.

There is an inner energy as well as this outer energy. The inner energy in the form of attention, a matter which especially concerns students. Mathematics is the discipline for attention. It requires careful attention and study. Light reading is not that which injures; it is the reading lightly. You must learn to pursue your train of thought without making any external matter an object of yourself.

The power of concentration must be developed. A man must be able to pursue his own intellectual course without making these an object to himself.

Will considered from the social standpoint: that is man is not to live a solitary life in the world but is to live in the world of men and so his interaction will not be with things which he can modify. We must deal with men and if he goes at them with a sledge hammer he will find another sledge hammer going in the opposite direction.

Man must be civilized or socialized and he must also become moralized in his will. Civilization and socializing is to train the man so that he will submit his natural egotism or egoism and natural selfwill to the rights and feelings of other people and to the social usages which have grown up among the people with whom he associates.

The will must not only be civilized but must also be moralized. There is a difference between this and morality. Morality has reference to principle, to to right, to duty. Its key word is duty. What I owe. What I ought to do, and that is the supreme work. And because a person is moralized he must not for that reason neglect also to be socialized.

The will is also in relation to the divine and no will is perfectly founded unless it is also founded in relation to the Supreme Being. Conscience and right and duty form the logical transition because every man is religious—religious because he is created of God in that way. Men naturally pray because they are born in that way. Men of action, men of will are as a general thing especially religious. They have a belief in a higher power, in a Destiny, as Napoleon called it: others will call it Fate, Providence, God, but great reformers, great actors, men who cast their eyes out into the future for hundreds and thousands of years must have faith that the world is grounded in righteousness, that however things may seem, and they do seem at times very strange, the world is founded in righteousness and right over wrong.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The new Y. M. C. A. hand book for '99-00, can be secured from Shields, Harvey or Ulmer for 5c a copy.

The new Y. M. C. A. Hall has taken definite shape at the southern end of the new dormitory building, first floor.

On Tuesday evening the first regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be led by E. D. Soper, College Secretary State Y. M. C. A. It will be a Bible Study Rally.

A students' rally was held in Bucknell Hall on Sunday afternoon led by Mr. Cyril H. Haas of the class of '99, of Susquehanna University. The attendance was very good and a large proportion of new men were present.

The annual college Y. M. C. A. Reception was held in the Literary Society Halls on Saturday evening. It opened with an informal reception to the students followed by a program of music and speeches. The Mandolin and Guitar Quintet, Messrs. Schilling, Sherwood and Pearse, 1900, Meschter, '01, and Harvey, '02, played several pieces. Morris, 1900, presided over the meeting and after a few words of welcome called upon Mr. Vincent B. Fiske for a short talk. The boys were introduced to the Faculty by Sherman, 1900, in a witty and entertaining manner. Harvey, 1900, President of the Association, explained what the object of the meetings was and how they were to be improved upon this year so far as possible.

Refreshments were served in an exceedingly informal manner and class yells aided in their disposal. Each new student present was individually introduced to the boys by Mr. Morris. Acquaintance was aided greatly by the cards bearing the name and class of the student pinned upon his coat lapel.

At a cabinet meeting of the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday afternoon it was decided to reorganize the association on a more business like basis of membership. Hereafter, just as in the city associations, membership continues only so long as the dues are paid and may be renewed by the payment of the term due some time during the term in which they join. This plan has been suggested by the International Committee and is being very widely adopted throughout the college associations. The regular dues of our association are twenty-five cents per term or one dollar paid in advance includes the dues for one year and a year's subscription to "The Intercollegian," the organ of the college Y. M. C. A., the subscription price of which is fifty cents per year. This paper is invaluable to one who wishes to keep in touch with this college movement. Mr. Switzer is chairman of the membership committee and will receive the names of those desiring to join. Every student is eligible to membership.

During the summer extensive repairs were made to the second and third floors of the main building of the Institute. The transformation of these two stories was hailed with delight by the students, both old and new.

THE FOOT BALL OPENING.

Bucknell 22—Wyoming 0.

The first game on Bucknell's schedule for the season of 1899 was played Saturday afternoon on the campus, Wyoming seminary being the opposing team. Promptly at 2:30 p. m. the game started, Messrs. Hoskins and Jennings acting as the officials. The first half was greatly marred by constant fumbling on both sides, resulting, however, more disastrously for Wyoming than for Bucknell: on two of Wyoming's fumbles, near their own goal, the ball was secured by our backs and carried over the line—Weymouth and Sherwood being the fortunate men. The aggressive work would have been better had it not been for the unfortunate fumbling which lost Bucknell the ball almost as soon as it was gained. Outside of the two touchdowns gained on Wyoming's fumbles, the first half closed without either side scoring. Stanton made a beautiful block of a punt, by breaking through just as Taggart was kicking the ball. The ball bounding back after striking him was secured by Gillus, close to Wyoming's goal line. Mathewson did not succeed in kicking a goal from either touchdown in this half, as they were at a rather difficult angle. First half closed 10—0 in favor of Bucknell.

During the second half several substitutions were made. Armour took Taylor's place at tackle, Freudenberger relieved Sherwood at end and Weymouth was replaced by Teufel. Much better team work was displayed during this half, and decidedly less fumbling. The men got together better, making constant gains, resulting in two well earned touchdowns, from which Bunnell kicked two nice goals. This half was decidedly more interesting, Mathewson's running with the ball, as well as his kicking, being especially noteworthy features. Williams, of Wyoming also did fine work in breaking Bucknell's line and play.

The game indicated what the boys can do with a little more practice, and the prospects all seem to be for a successful year.

In the opening of the fourth school year of its existence THE ORANGE AND BLUE greets its returning supporters and welcomes the new comers among the students' ranks. With all the departments of our University crowded and the increased attendance the College begins its fifty-fourth year with great promise. We can now appreciate the foresight of the authorities in planning the new dormitory which is already nearly half-way up. It cannot be completed too soon.

We desire your hearty coöperation in the publishing of this our weekly and want to impress upon every student his obligation to subscribe for the paper, induce others to subscribe and to criticise where you think it is needed. The paper is printed for you and represents your college. It is your paper and your duty to make it representative and expressive of the general sentiment of the student body.

The foot ball season is now on and much of the success of team lies with the students. To have a winning team there must be an interest taken in the team and an enthusiasm awakened. In view of past experience the management has deemed it wise to procure a professional coach and trainer even though at a financial risk. We now have some strong candidates for the team, an excellent coach and all we need is interest, enthusiasm and a ready response in the way of subscriptions, and the foot ball season of 1899 will prove the most successful season we have ever had. Attend the daily practice, cheer the good plays, encourage the coaches, and there will be enthusiasm. When approached for subscriptions, as every student will be, show your interest in a substantial way by subscribing liberally. All the money will be carefully and economically spent to the best advantage, but in view of the innovations more money will be needed than ever before. We must meet our rivals half way and by this means alone can it be accomplished.

O. R. LeVan, '99, is now on the Hamburg "Item."

Mr. Fred Godcharles, of Milton, took in the Wyoming game Saturday.

Anyone desiring a new mandolin at a great sacrifice, call at 3, east wing.

If any one decides not to 'subscribe for the ORANGE AND BLUE, please notify the manager.

John Davis, '02, entertained his brother Dave Saturday. This brother is a staunch Bucknellite.

There are ninety-three Freshmen in college, twenty-one more than last year. In all, the admissions to college are one hundred and thirteen.

Any foot ball apparel belonging to the athletic association and not in use should be returned at once to the manager in order that the reserve team may be fitted out.

We wish to impress upon the students their duty to patronize our advertisers. We must work together. All energetic business men advertise and energetic men always get the best goods and sell them at the lowest prices. Thus both buyer and seller are benefitted.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Baptist church will hold a reception in its lecture room next Saturday evening for the new students of the college, academy and seminary. Everybody is invited and will be made welcome. This is a splendid opportunity to meet each other in a social way.

Important additions have been made to the teaching force. Prof. Rudolph Schwill, a graduate of Yale and Doctor of Philosophy from University Munich, assists in the department of modern languages. Frederick W. Brown, a graduate from Bucknell and in medicine from Michigan University, has been added to the corps of instructors in organic science: Vincent B. Fisk, also a graduate of Bucknell to that of English: Reuben L. Rentz A. B. (Bucknell), to that of mathematics.

Institute Items.

Miss Nellie Goddard will not return until the winter term.

The large number of town pupils together with those who live in the building, make the Institute classes well filled this year.

The Junior Class has its co-ed. faction increased by three: two who have been at B. U. before, Miss Allen and Miss Davis and one new comer, Miss, Eckles.

The number of boarders at the Institute is larger than last year in consequence of which there is a new table in the dining room. The dining room, by the way, also boasts of a new paper.

There have been a number of improvements made at the Institute this year which add much to its appearance. The new paper, fresh paint, hard wood floors, and transformation of "South Hall" in the main building are fully appreciated by the old inmates and their beauty pointed out to the new ones.

The annual Y. W. C. A. reception was held in the Institute parlors on Saturday evening. Each girl or group of girls represented a proverb and there was a merry time guessing the many ingenious illustrations of proverbs old and new. Music and refreshments added further to the pleasure of the evening and the "animated proverbs" bade one another "good night" feeling better acquainted and more at home at Bucknell.

Prof. Phillips is now in Rochester Theological Seminary.

Recitation—Prof. Fithian.
Selection—Mandolin and Guitar Quintet.

Refreshments.

Recitation—Prof. Fiske.
Solo—Prof. Fiske.

Principal Edwards then delivered a short welcoming address and an informal reception followed.

Bucknell Defeats Williamsport Wheelmen

On Saturday last the Bucknell Foot Ball team journeyed to Williamsport, where they met and defeated the foot-ball team of the Williamsport Wheelmen. Bucknell won the toss, and chose the south goal with a strong wind in her favor. Green kicked off. End runs by Weymouth and Stanton, and gains through the line by Weymouth and Corlbin, carried the ball down the field, where Armour carried it over, six minutes after play began. Bunnell kicked a difficult goal. Score—Bucknell 6, W. W. C. 0. Williamsport again kicked off, Bucknell getting the ball and making constant gains. A low punt by Mathewson struck the Williamsport line, and Watson securing the pigskin, made five yards on an end run. Bucknell regained the ball on downs, but lost it on a quarter-back kick. Recovering it again, a series of steady gains carried it over the line, Bunnell kicking the goal. Score—Bucknell 12, W. W. C. 0. No more scoring was done in this half.

Soon after play began in the second half, Bucknell had worked the ball into a good position, and Mathewson tried for a field goal: the kick was successful and Bucknell added five points more to her score. Play was resumed, and the ball carried to the middle of the field: here Mathewson's punt was blocked, the ball rebounding some distance. Watson snatched up the pigskin at a full run, and behind good interference crossed our line, for the first score against Bucknell. Score—Bucknell 17, W. W. C. 5. Play being resumed, Bucknell made constant gains, carrying the ball to within a yard of the line, where it was lost on a fumble. Moore punted out of danger. Williamsport got the ball on downs, and the game see-sawed up and down until Riemer, breaking through, blocked Moore's punt and carried the ball over the line, between the posts. Bunnell failed at goal. Score—Bucknell 22, W. W. C. 5. Shortly after the game being called, no further scoring was done. The game was marked by entirely too much fumbling, looseness and slowness on Bucknell's part. Line up below.

Several other games, both at home and elsewhere are being arranged for the reserves. It is hoped that a large number of candidates will turn out every evening both to assist in strengthening the 'Varsity and in playing the proposed games.

C. E. Social.

The social given by the C. E. Society of the Baptist church on Saturday evening was a very pleasant and successful affair. All the old members and their friends, and all the new and old students in the different departments of the University, were invited to attend. The new students especially took advantage of this opportunity to become acquainted with the fair maidens of the University and town. A new feature was introduced in this social which proved very satisfactory. Each person on entering the room was handed a card containing three subjects for conversation; namely: "A Progressive Story," "My Favorite Book," or "One of My Vacation Experiences," and also directing the person to a Circle, designated by one of the letters of the alphabet. Sometime was spent in renewing old acquaintances and forming new ones after which the chairs were arranged in circles of ten each, and each person hunted the circle indicated on his card. The cards were so arranged as to have five ladies and five gentlemen in each circle. The different persons in each circle soon became acquainted and, as the progressive story seemed to be the favorite subject, wonderful stories were told, some of which created much laughter and amusement. Some of the stories told rivaled the wonderful tales of Baron Munchausen. After some time had been spent in this pleasant and edifying way, refreshments were served by the committee in charge. When all had done ample justice to these, Mr. Pitts announced a selection by the Mandolin—Guitarquintette, consisting of Meschter, '01, Schilling, '00, Pearse, '00, Harvey, '02 and Kalp, '03. The selection was much enjoyed and the quintette responded to an encore. Following this, Prof. Fithian favored the audience with a humorous and instructive reading entitled "Settin' up with Peggy NecKeg" which was delivered in his well-known, excellent manner. His reading was much appreciated, and he responded to a hearty encore with a humorous recitation. All assembled then adjourned to the main audience room of the church to listen to an fine violin solo by Mr. Brown Martin, accompanied by Miss Lawshe on the pipe-organ. The solo, "Meditation" by Wilson, was artisticaly rendered. Following this Miss Knox sang a vocal solo which was very much appreciated. Mr. Pitts, then in a few well chosen words thanked all, in the name of the society, for their presence and extended a hearty welcome to the meetings, and bid all goodnight. This social was, beyond a doubt, one of the most successful ever held by the society, and the devisers of the new plan deserve much credit.

The Only College Game on Campus.

On Saturday afternoon Bucknell will play the Franklin and Marshall foot ball team on our campus. The game will be called at 2.30. This will be the best game played in Lewisburg the present season and should be witnessed by all.

The work of another college year has fairly begun. The material prosperity of the University and large number of new students are sources of delight and encouragement. With increased numbers, we hope for increased interest and activity in all lines of college work. Not alone in class room work, although paramount, but in that part of the college life which depends entirely upon the students for its existence and support.

All the organizations connected with the University have been founded in answer to the need felt by the students themselves for coöperation along certain lines. How well they supply this need depends upon how much energy and real effort the students put into them.

As was emphasized in the opening lecture, by Dr. Harris, these organizations afford much valuable training, without which the college discipline would be incomplete.

Within the last week re-organization and preparation for another year's work has been going on. These organizations need the help and support of every student. The benefit derived from a hearty coöperation in these organizations will be two-fold.

Experience along various lines of work will be gained and the standard of the literary, social and religious life of the University will be raised. It is to be hoped that new corps of officers, as well as increased ranks of members will enter into this part of the work with enthusiasm, and with a determination to broaden and intensify this part of the college life.

Literature contains a rather remarkable article on the subject of plagiarism. It is remarkable, inasmuch as it defends an often condemned practice. The writer says:

"It seems to me, that within limits, plagiarism is quite permissible. Where, by its means, an author can strengthen the fragments of his plot, make a particular scene more dramatic, or a description more real, he has the right to take from any writer the particular ideas and expressions he may require. There are many works by famous and obscure writers which, while being in no sense great or even notable, yet contain ideas or passages of writing which are new and forcible. These books are buried in obscurity, and are rarely opened by any one save the student. Is it to be supposed that we can allow these gems which are hidden by so much that is weak and paltry, to be lost altogether? A thousand times no! If, by their use, a writer can make a more complete artistic unit of the particular work upon which he is engaged, then he is, in my opinion, quite entitled to use or reject whatever he likes. * * * I do not in the least uphold those who take a complete novel, essay, sermon, etc., alter its appearance by the change of a few words, and then pass it off as the result of their own work."

This article is not quoted to justify a Freshman or Sophomore in cribbing an essay. The wholesale appropriating of an author's effort is to be decried, but legitimate use, within limits, often tends to strengthen or invigorate an otherwise weak effort.

The Demosthenian Club held its first meeting for the year on Monday afternoon. The officers for the present term are: Pres. I. A. Dewitt; Sec'y C. H. Miller. Messrs. Ed. Bell, J. A Hague and Eugene Switzer have entered as new members. Much interest was manifested in this opening meeting.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY,

VOL. IV. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1899. NO. 3

BUCKNELL SCORES ON PENNA.

Penna. 47—Bucknell 10.

For the first time in her history, Bucknell scored against the football team of the University of Penna. and surprised the football world by her excellent showing against the Quaker giants. The game was played on Franklin Field on Wednesday at 3:30, but had the two teams met on Bucknell campus a different story could be told. Against the Bucknell team were pitted nineteen of Penn's strongest candidates and the most of them went in at the beginning of the second half. This was practically playing two teams, but notwithstanding, the wearers of the ORANGE AND BLUE fought pluckily and contested every inch of ground. Our team deserves great credit, not only for her fine playing in the first half, but also for the way she continued playing against a new team, an official and the time. According to some newspaper accounts, Coach Hoskins was accused of favoring Bucknell. Any penalty against University of Pennsylvania would naturally seem to favor Bucknell in the eyes of Philadelphiuns and accordingly in their newspapers. Nothing was said of the penalties laid on Bucknell, both by Hoskins and their official Mr. Jack Minds. Many times gross fouls on the part of Penn'a were permitted to pass unpunished by Umpire Minds. We believe Coach Hoskins acted honestly and fairly, and that had Bucknell not scored he would have been praised for the excellent work in lining up such a strong team, as undoubtedly he should be. Every man on the team played football as hard as he could. Mathewson's fine work with his foot could not have been possible if our line had not held nobly each time he sent the ball spinning between the goal posts, and almost every time he punted far down the field.

To show the weakness of Penn's play (or rather Bucknell's stength) in the first half all that is necessary is to point out that Bucknell scored twice, would have scored on Gardiner's fumble had Reimer known how to handle the ball, and almost scored on a long run by Mathewson, who carried the ball to Penn's ten-yard line where Gardiner the last man, just managed to get a firm enough hold on his leg to bring him down. He broke the hold and was up again, but his career had been sufficiently checked to enable Reugenberg to nail him and avert the touchdown. You might almost say that Bucknell scored four times. Certainly an example of weak defense.

Almost as soon as the ball was in play kicks were exchanged and Bucknell had the ball on her 10-line. Mathewson kicked into his own line but saved the ball. Pennsylvania was given the ball for play, but was held for four downs. Mathewson kicked to mid-field where the ball was given to Bucknell' the decision being that hands had been used in blocking off when Gardiner tried to run the ball back. Mathewson kicked close to Penn's goal, where Outland muffed. He attempted to kick and almost hit a forward which would have caused the ball to rebound over Penn's goal line, and would have resulted in a score against her. As it was, it barely missed the forward and went out of bounds at Penn's 25-line, where a Quaker got it on a fumble. Reungenberg kicked to midfield. Bucknell made a first down on short rushes. Then Mathewson kicked to Penn's 17-line and Gardiner ran the ball back 5 where it was given to Bucknell for use of hands. Mathewson kicked a pretty field goal from the 27-line. Score. Bucknell. 5; Penn. 0.

Mathewson returned the kick-off to mid-field, where Outland fumbled and the ball was Bucknell's. Mathewson kicked to Penn's 20-line, where Gardiner caught and ran the ball back 90 yards for a touchdown, skirting the side line as he ran. Hare and Reugenberg had blocked off for him to get his start and Howell and McClokey had helped at the finish of his run. Outland kicked the goal. Score. Penn. 6; Bucknell. 5.

Outland by a pretty 40-yard run carried the ball back to Bucknell's 40-line. Gardiner, Reugenberg and Wallace having been in the interference. A series of steady plunges by Reugenberg, Hare and Wallace carried the ball well up into Bucknell's territory, only to be lost on a fumble. Mathewson kicked to mid-field and Gardiner ran the ball back to Bucknell's 45-line. On the next line-up Outland skirted his right end, cutin, and after a marvelous dodging run, made a touchdown. He failed to kick the goal, 11-5, in Penn's favor.

Kicking and ineffective line bucking marked the play for a time. Finally Reugenberg kicked to mid field, where Mathewson picked up the ball and passed all the Quaker team, finally being spilled by Gardiner and nailed down by Reugenberg on Penn's 10-yard line. Several exchanges of kicks followed, when Reugenberg kicked from his 27-yard line. The ball was brought back and given to Bucknell on a decision of off-side. Mathewson dropped and kicked a goal from the 27-line, 11-10 in Penn's favor. The main occurence between this and call of time was Gardiner's fumble, which nearly cost a touchdown, as told above.

Soon after the start of play in the second half Mathewson kicked, and Ogelsby got the ball near mid-field. On a delayed pass McCracken got his right tackle and McCracken skirted his left end for 40 yards and a touchdown. Outland goal. 23-10.

Another series of successful attacks soon started in mid-field and at last Kennedy, helped by Coombs, broke through between his tackle and end for a touchdown. Hare goal, 29-10.

A kicking duel was next in order, and Puefel muffing Coombs' kick near the Bucknell line, McCracken made a touchdown. Hare goal, 41-10.

The last touchdown was made shortly after by a long run by McCracken, ably assisted by Coombs. Hare goal. Final score, 47-10. The summary:

"Kid" Garner, '99, was one of the officials at the U. of Pa.—Bucknell game.

Beidelspacher, '01, attended a wedding in Williamsport on Wednesday evening.

"Hub" Stanton and Ernest Myers, both '97, helped to entertain the boys in Philadelphia last week.

Rev. Hollingshead, '97, a former Varsity player watched the foot ball practice on Friday afternoon.

Rev. Soliday, pastor of the Milton Baptist church, and Dr. and Mrs. Thompson, of Virginia, visited Rowe and Pierson last Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. W. R. Courson, '90, occupied the pulpit in the Baptist church Sunday evening. He delivered an especially fine sermon.

W. D. Zerbe, special, left for his home at Sober, Centre Co., on Tuesday, on account of eye trouble. He expects to return as soon as possible.

The regular work in the Y. M. C. A. Bible classes was resumed last night when the different classes met for the first time with a very encouraging attendance.

Bevan, '01, received a telegram from his home in Phoebus, Va., summoning him to come home at once. He left on the midnight train on Monday night. He expects to return as soon as possible.

We are glad to see that Rowe and Prichard, two of the members of last year's 'varsity team, have donned their football togs again for this season. They will be a strong addition to the term. The able work of Coach Hoskins shows the wisdom of securing a professional coach. He has the confidence of team and student body alike.

Shamokin Goes Under.

On Saturday afternoon Bucknell defeated Shamokin on the college campus; score 40—0

The game was started by Shamokin kicking off, with Bucknell defending the south goal. Shamokin ran the ball back a few yards before being stopped, but soon lost it on downs.

Bucknell kicked the goal—score 6—0. Shamokin again kicked off. Bucknell running the ball back and by steady plugs soon crossed the line for a second touchdown—Bucknell failed at goal: score 11—0.

The entire first half was but a repetition of the above—Shamokin kicking off and B. U. carrying the ball back for a touchdown—three times was it repeated and two goals kicked before the whistle stopped the half. Bucknell frequently kicked the ball far into Shamokin's territory and then regained it by holding Shamokin for downs.

During the entire half, Shamokin made four downs only once and were forced to kick each time they had the ball.

On an exchange of punts the home team generally gained a number of yards. Mathewson getting his kicks off quickly and sending them far over the head of Shamokin's full-back.

In the second half Shamokin held the home team better, and no scoring was done for several minutes. This half was replete with sensational plays; fine runs around the end, and big gains through the line occurring continually.

A beautiful run by Teufel on a quarterback kick, a small gain through the line and a second long run around the end by Stanton, netted B. U. a touchdown: but this was not allowed by Shamokin's umpire, on the claim of off-side playing by Bucknell.

The ball was taken back, when another series of beautiful gains landed Carlin behind the line with the ball: this touchdown also was not allowed during the first half. Two more scores were made before the half ended.

The game enabled the college rooters to get a line on the Bucknell team, and it demonstrated that the team this year is stronger and far superior to that of last year. The interference was as fine as any ever seen on the campus, and Mathewson's good right foot had a great deal to do with the big score. The game was full of sensational runs. These runs were chiefly made by Weymouth, Stanton, Mathewson, Carlin and Bunnell.

The Shamokin line sometimes held well, and then again they allowed Bucknell to sweep them away like chaff. Shamokin had the ball but four times during the game, and once she held it for three downs. The line-up follows:—

Bucknell.	Positions.	Shamokin
Sweet	Center	McKiwen
Gillis	right guard	Shipp
Taylor, (Gray)	left guard	Snodgrass
Rowe	right tackle	McCall
Bunnell	quarter-back	A. Jones
Weymouth (Teufel)	right half-back	Tinley

Time of game, 25 & 20 minute halves. Touchdowns, Stanton, Mathewson, 3, Weymouth, Carlin, Riemer, Goals, Bunnell, 5. Referee, G. W. Hoskins. Umpire, John Welsh, University of Michigan.

College life has an atmosphere of its own. Coming between the home life and the business or professional life, it is characterized by interests and activities peculiar to itself.

Prominent among the elements that help to make college life what it is, is Custom. It is surprising to find how much of the every-day life of any college can be classified under college etiquette. On every hand abound established, although unwritten rules, which none can transgress with impunity. With equal authority custom permits one thing and forbids another.

Where had this custom its origin? In a precedent set in earlier days. Through an acceptance of precedent, custom becomes established.

One class acts upon a favorite idea of its members, in the hope that the following one will accept the precedent they have set, and thus a new custom be introduced. The class, of '99 has tried to add the Planting of the Ivy and the Manual Exercise to the Commencement program. Whether this becomes a fixed usage depends upon the following classes.

Although powerful in its time, custom is modified by changes in existing conditions and is thus frequently lost. In attempting to introduce any new regime in college life, it must be remembered that custom is limited by environment. What is all right at Cornell or the University of Pennsylvania may be ridiculous at Bucknell.

Custom yields to progress. With the acceptance of new ideas and broader views that which is worn out is put aside. Where now is "hazing" and where will the "class scrap" be in a few years? Such customs are outgrown and can no longer hold sway.

What the college customs are depends largely upon what are the college ideals. College practices are much the same everywhere; yet there are marked differences depending on the basis upon which the college exists. Compare the life of the American with the life of the European college, or of men's colleges with women's colleges and it will be seen that this is true.

Since the expression of college ideals is found in so great an extent, in its customs, an attempt should be made to root out all those that do not contribute to a true reflection of its life.

Let us consider the matter: The game with the University of Pennsylvania on Wednesday was played in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania's stronghold. Two of the officials of the game were U. Pa. men, one of them occupying the important position of being timekeeper. Of the three thousand spectators scarcely a hundred were Bucknell rooters. Pennsylvania officials in abundance were at the game. We simply call attention to these facts to show how absurd it is to try and make anyone believe that Pennsylvania was the victim of an official's injustice. Does anyone think for one moment that the U. Pa. crowd would allow an official to thus rob them in their own lair? It is enough to make a mummy grin. One of the Philadelphia papers contained the statement that Hoskins would have been removed had it not been that it would humiliate him. Wonderful forbearance! Infinite consideration!

In considering the account of the game as given to the public through the medium of the Philadelphia press, it would be well to bear two things in mind: the staff of a number of the Philadelphia papers is made up of University men. In writing of the game they must needs see through red and blue glasses darkly. Then, the fact that insignificant Bucknell scored on mighty Pennsylvania, not only once, but twice, caused the U. Pa. sympathizers and adherents to writhe in chagrin. The game was iconoclastic. In their extremity as to how to explain it, the reporters fall back on the old saw of roasting an official. More might be said, but what's the use?

The Orange and Blue

Bucknell 5, Lehigh 0.

Once again the Brown and White went down before the ORANGE AND BLUE and this time in a very closely contested foot ball game on Lehigh's gridiron. The game was called at 3:30 Saturday afternoon and was carried on under the direction of Godcharles, Lafayette, as referee, and Barr, Princeton, as umpire.

Bucknell won the toss and defended the Western goal. After the first two or three scrimmages it was plainly evident that the lines of the two teams were about even. From the kick off Bucknell rushed the ball about fifteen yards and after trying the line kicked into Lehigh's territory, where she soon secured the ball on the thirty yard line. Here signal was given for drop kick. Everybody awaited the result and a sigh of relief was heard when the ball shot out a little to one side of the goal post. From this time on during the first half the play was entirely in Lehigh's territory except on kicks when it was soon back again. Mathewson gained fifteen to twenty yards on every exchange. Very few first downs were made. Towards the close of the first half Bucknell secured the ball on an out-of-bound kick by Lehigh and after carrying it towards the center of the field on second down, Mathewson again tried for goal from forty yard line amid an ominous silence the ball cut between the goal posts and Bucknell had five points to her credit. The first half closed soon after with score Bucknell 5 Lehigh 0.

At the start in the second half the Lehigh boys were full of determination and as a consequence the play on their part was more spirited. Had all our fellows played with this spirit a different story could be told. During the half Lehigh made several first downs and one run of about twenty yards, the runner being stopped by Bunnell and Mathewson. Prichard took Bunnell's place at quarter upon the latter's temporary disablement. Fumbles were frequent but not costly to Lehigh as their men always secured the ball. Their gains were made by a double pass between the backs which was soon stopped by our boys At no time during the game was Bucknell's goal in danger as both sides were forced to kick after every few plays, and Mathewson's fine punting kept Lehigh working hard to hold her own. According to the Philadelphia Record the game was the prettiest, sharpest and cleanest ever played on Lehigh's grounds. Line-up:

Lehigh	Positions.	Bucknell.
McCarty	centre	Sweet
Bray	right guard	Gillis
Ross	right tackle	Armour
Gearhart, Dornin	right end	Feudenberger
Griffith	quarter-back	Bunnell, Prichard
Reese	left half back	Stanton
Chamberlain	right half back	Weymouth, Teufel
Hawley	full-back	Mathewson

Referee—Godcharles, Lafayette, umpire—Burr, of Princeton. Time—22 and 20-minute halves.

Rev. Thomas J. Cross, a former Bucknell student, and now pastor of the First Baptist Church, has resigned his charge. He has accepted an offer to become assistant professor of Theology in Temple college, Phila.

Saturday Night's Demonstration.

The demonstration on Saturday night in honor of Bucknell's victory over Lehigh was, in popular parlance, a "corker." The ranks were a heterogeneous mass of yelling Seniors, Juniors, Sophs and Preps. College songs and college yells rent the stilly air, and made the wiseacres turn over in their beds, and reflect upon the foolishness of college boys. Inspirited by the martial strains from a base drum, snare drum and fife, the procession marched to the hill where the college bell was rung. A detour was then made to the town where store boxes of all sizes without regard to their previous use were confiscated and the line swung back to the Institute campus. A bon-fire was lighted, and as the flames shot high in the air, effervescent students doing cake walks, Indian dances and a score of variations of the art terpsichorean encircled the fire. Of course, as befitted the occasion, the participants were costumed. Robes de nuit ranging in style from pajamas and the correct store article to the kind that mother makes were brought into bold relief as the flames lighted up the scene. Altogether it was a healthy display of college spirit.

Resolutions of Condolence.

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty God in his infinite wisdom to remove from this life the father of our beloved brother W. E. Thompson, be it

RESOLVED, That we thus express our sympathy for our brother in this his bereavement, and be it

RESOLVED, That we extend our condolence to his mother in her great loss and to his sisters and brothers in their sorrows, and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our brother, that they be spread upon the minutes of our meeting, and that they be published in the college papers and in the Sigma Chi Quarterly.

A New Departure.

The Merchants Association of Williamsport are going to take a new tack this year. They purpose to make arrangements with the railroads so that they can run cheap excursions from the surrounding towns to the State—Bucknell game. They have agreed not to advertise on score cards. Instead, extra editions of the Williamsport papers will be gotten out. It is said that the Association expects to have twenty thousand people in town for the game.

Dr. Putman, of New York City, will deliver two lectures in the Opera House for the benefit of the Athletic Association. The first lecture "Paris, the Queen City of Europe" will be given Thursday evening Oct. 26, and the second, "Rome, the Eternal City," on Friday evening Oct. 27.

The 'Varsity team is rounding into shape very nicely under the direction of Coach Hoskins. The regular evening practice is strong and fast. Coach Hoskins has eight men whom he can use as substitutes on the 'Varsity, so there is considerable competition for some of the positions.

The foot ball team was given a rousing send-off at the station when they left for Lehigh on Friday at 4.52. About a hundred students were there and mingled college yells with cheers for the team and coach Hoskins. This is a splendid evidence of the faith of the student body in both the team and coach.

Dr. Putnam, of New York City, a former trustee of Bucknell, visited the college several days during the week. He preached in the Baptist church on Sunday morning.

Mr. Kase entered Bucknell from Temple college, Phila., last Thursday. He is a heavy man and has had considerable experience in foot ball. He has shown in practice that he is a good ground gainer, and a strong addition to our team.

Culture, in its broadest sense, is the end of college training. Nothing contributes more to the impression of culture and refinement, than the proper and intelligent use of the English language.

The study of other languages is important, bnt pure English is yet the coin of the realm. The importance of acquiring a good vocabulary and of observing the rules of grammar cannot be over estimated. No thought is so poor but it gains by proper expression, and a grammatical error will detract from even the most beautiful thought.

It is natural to suppose that among college students, language would find its truest and best expression.

It seems doubtful whether this is the case, when daily we hear such expressions as "See what I done," "You had'nt ought to" etc.

Carelessness is the root of the evil. If the offender were questioned as to the grammatical relations and the proper form of such statements, they would probably give the right answer.

Habit and environment have their influence upon one's language. But the habit ought to be broken and the influence of environment to be destroyed.

No time is better for this than during college days while everything aids in furthering this end.

Slang is to blame for much of our poverty of language. Slang, however, tends to die out when it has served its day, but grammatical errors become more and more difficult to overcome.

Again, there is a tendency to inaccuracy of statement.

The English language is so rich in words of almost every shade of meaning that it is unnecessary to narrow down the common vocabulary to a few hundred words and stock expressions.

The time for instruction along this line is passed and it now lies with the student himself to remedy this evil. What has been taught is of no account unless it is put in practice.

The college graduate is looked to as one who is to be a leader in the community into which he enters, and to educate those with whom he comes in contact.

What will be the impression of the value of higher education, if it is discovered that he has not mastered the rudiments of grammar?

These little mistakes seem scarcely worthy of so much emphasis, but it is through the perfecting of the details that the whole gains in strength and beauty.

The results of the football games on Saturday were with hardly an exception disappointing to the big teams. Pennsylvania went down before the Indians. Chicago took Cornell into camp. Harvard, Yale and Princeton won, but by small scores.

In the majority of cases the low scores are due to the methods of coaching employed. The coaches are paying more attention to the gradual development of the team in preference to attempting to bring their men into the pink of condition too early in the season, and thus lessening their chances for big games later on.

At the meeting of the Chemical and Physical Society Thursday afternoon Oct. 5. Prof. Owens discussed "Carborundum." The officers chosen were as follows: Pres., Prof. Owens; Vice Pres., Dr. Brown; Sec., L. Hottenstein, '00; Treas., H. Simmons, '00. Examination Committee, Prof. Rentz and Konkle, '01.

The columns of the ORANGE AND BLUE have contained, from time to time, notices of the reorganization of the various college organizations. So far not one word has come to our notice concerning the Glee Club. Surely there can be no dearth of material after the entrance of so large a Freshman class. It is important that there be a Glee Club. It is a necessary college organization. Let the singers get together and organize.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

Bucknell vs. Duquesne.

Bucknell, 0—Duquesne, 35—such is the story of Saturday's game, and yet a story that tells but little of the game, for although Duquesne scored six touchdowns, every one of them was hard fought for and well earned. The team that lined up against Bucknell on Saturday is an aggregation of the brightest stars of the football field—men who, on college teams, have electrified their adherents by their brilliant playing, and whose fame has spread far and wide.

There is no athletic team in the country that can show such a gathering of famous players, and it is extremely doubtful if there is a team anywhere that Duquesne cannot defeat by a comfortable margin. Jackson, Williams, Gelbert and Thornton, of U. P.; Wagenhurst, of Princeton; Fultz, of Brown, and others equally as well known, compose the team. Nor do they play an individual game, but their team work is excellent.

In the face of such odds, Bucknell could not hope to win, and would have been fortunate to score. Defeat under such circumstances is no discredit, but rather the team is to be congratulated for the game manner in which they played and contested every inch of ground.

The game started by Duquesne kicking off; Mathewson returned the kick, making the longest punt of the day. Duquesne twice bucked the line, then kicked. Bucknell fumbled and McKeever fell on the ball for Duquesne. Kicks were exchanged and Duquesne by two magnificent runs scored the first touchdown and kicked goal. Bucknell kicked off and in four rushes Duquesne brought it back to the center of the field. From here Fultz carried it over the line, behind fine interference.

After the third kick-off, Duquesne fumbled in the first rush, Carlin falling on the ball. Bucknell twice hit the line without a gain and then punted. Gammons caught the ball for a free catch, but was thrown by Bucknell. For this offense on Bucknell's part, Duquesne was given fifteen yards. Eleven rushes carried the ball seventy-eight yards to Bucknell's line, where Thornton fumbled and Fultz fell on the ball on Bucknell's 15 yard line. Here a quarterback kick was tried, Gammons catching the ball and scoring.

Prichard now took Bunnell's place at quarter. Mathewson kicked off to the 10-yard line and Jackson ran it back thirty-five yards. Twelve rushes, without once losing it, carried the ball once more over the line.

Bucknell again kicked off, Jackson running the ball back thirty-five yards. After two rushes, Duquesne punted and in the first scrimmage Weymouth gained four yards; Mathewson gained ten on a double pass, but here the advance was stopped. Mathewson's punt was blocked, but after two rushes Fultz fumbled and Bucknell secured the ball. Weymouth was thrown for a loss, and Bucknell again punted. On a trick play Gammons got clear of the entire team and ran ninety yards for a touchdown. The first half shortly afterward ended.

SECOND HALF.

In the second half Duquesne succeeded in scoring but once, making their final score 35-0. Bucknell kicked off and Jackson ran the ball back 15 yards. Nine rushes carried the ball to the 16 yard line where a quarter-back kick was tried, but was caught by Bucknell.

Mathewson hit the line for five yards but Weymouth was caught behind the line and lost the ball. Steen snatched it up and scored for Duquesne. However, the play was not allowed and Bucknell was given the ball on their ten yard line. Stanton gained 5 yards and Bucknell punted. Punts were exchanged and Gammons went out of bounds at Duquesne's 43 yard line.

After five rushes Gammons again made a long run on a trick play but was stopped on the 23 yard line. Two more rushes and Duquesne again fumbled, Kase falling on the ball.

Matthewson gained 9 yards but the next two plays resulted in no gain and Bucknell punted,

In speaking of the game, Pittsburg papers comment favorably on Bucknell's team work and Matthewson's kicking and give Bucknell great credit for their plucky game in the face of such great odds.

Taken altogether the game was a creditable one for Bucknell, and we wish to add our hearty commendation of the work thus far done by the team.

Student's Mishap.

John Davies, '03, met with a mishap Saturday morning which will incapacitate him for several days. While engaged in picking apples in Dr. Harris' orchard, he made a misstep, causing him to fall heavily to the ground. His back was severely wrenched, and he was badly shaken up.

The Freshman Banquet.

On Thursday evening for the first time in the history of Bucknell, the Freshmen were allowed to go unimpeded and uninterrupted to their class banquet. The novelty of the thing caused no little comment but the fighting element of the class was probably greatly disappointed, as a Freshman banquet is generally thought to be a thing worth fighting for. The sophomores controlled themselves very well, considering the temptation they must have experienced in seeing their rivals start off without an obstacle in the way.

The memory of former banquets no doubt made this banquet seem rather tame, but it was nevertheless a most enjoyable affair. Of the ninety-three who make up the class of nineteen hundred and three, seventy members attended the banquet, which was given at the Broadway House, Milton. The four hacks which conveyed the class to Milton, drew up at the hotel at eight o'clock. The early part of the evening was spent in a social way and at ten o'clock the party marched into the banquet hall. Two large tables, on which the banquet was served, reached the length of the dining room and were very artistically decorated. The last course was finished at twelve, midnight, and Mr. Taylor, president of the class and toast-master, greeted the class. The following toasts were responded to:

Hail Alma Mater—M. F. Forbell.
The Faculty—M. E. Van Nostrand.
Cornet Solo—W. H. Hoffa.
The Sophs—D. W. Thomas.
Our Friends (The Boys)—Miss Luchsinger.
Our Friends (The Girls)—J. F. Bond.
Piano Solo—Miss Edehlman.
Our Girls—R. H. Harris.
Field Athletics—Wm. Slifer.
The Boys of 1903—Miss Fowler.
Vocal Solo—Miss Coleman.

After the toasts the party proceeded to the parlors, where dancing was indulged in.

The girls were well chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. Heim. During the banquet three cheers were given for the class, the chaperones and the football players.

The first returning hack left Milton shortly after three o'clock and the remaining three soon followed. Cheer after cheer rent the air as the class rode through town. When the Institute was reached the hacks were emptied of their occupants, and every one realized that their Freshman banquet was over forever.

Death of Bucknell Alumnus.

The Rev. J. Spencer Kennard, D. D., who died on Monday last, at the residence of his sister, Miss Anna M. Kennard, in Philadelphia, was a Bucknell graduate, having taken the highest honors of his class. After leaving Bucknell he pursued a course in theology at Princeton Theological Seminary. Among the charges which he had were the Tenth Baptist of Philadelphia and the Pilgrim Baptist of New York. He received the doctorate from Colgate University in 1879.

Reserves Beat Williamsport.

On Saturday the Reserve team defeated Williamsport High School team in a hotly contested game. The Reserves greatly outweighed the High School boys but their team work was hardly as good as Williamsport—facts which just about evened up the two teams. The game was made interesting and even exciting by numerous well-executed plays and an occasional long run.

For Bucknell, Switzer, Sherwood, and Tiffany put up an excellent game, while Wheeland and Lunday excelled for Williamsport. Line-up:

Sterling	center Otto
Glusepey	right guard Helns
Smith	right tackle Bittnar
Anthony	right half back Wheeland
Smith

The First Lecture by Dr. Moss.

Dr. Moss delivered the first of a series of four lectures in the chapel Monday morning. The first lecture was devoted to the correction of a wrong conception of christianity. Christianity is looked upon as a provision for death and the hereafter, and hence we dissociate it with a happy life. To a healthy person, one who is full of life and spirit christianity thus becomes, in a measure, repellant. This is a wrong view of christianity. The Christian life is a normal life. Man is just as unprepared to live without christianity as he is to die. The lecture was lighted up by anecdotes and happy flashes of wit.

Dr. Putman's Lecturers.

Dr. Putnam, of New York City, will give two lectures during this week for the benefit of the Athletic Association. On Thursday evening, Oct. 26, his subject will be, "Paris, the Queen City of the World" and on Friday evening, "Rome, the Eternal City." Both lectures will be illustrated with fine views on a large canvas and will be of a high order. Those who have heard these lectures speak very highly of them. Let all who can, come out and enjoy a rich treat and at the same time help along our Athletic Association.

Judge Mitchell Takes Adams' Place.

Judge Mitchell, who has taken Josiah R. Adams' place on the Republican ticket as a candidate for the Supreme Court Judgeship, attended Bucknell for two years. During his public career, he has held many offices within the gift of the people, not the least of which was a term in the U. S. Senate.

"Doc" Levan, '99, put in a rather unexpected appearance on the hill on Saturday evening. He was just the same as ever and was smoking one of his best cigars.

The Freshman banquet passed off as quietly and peacefully as a Quaker meeting. The Freshmen were allowed to eat the viands in peace, and even the morning of the night before witnessed no hostilities of any kind between the classes. Surely this is an innovation. Just a word in passing. We don't predicate it, we merely ask if it is true, that the tendency to settle all differences by wire or by the medium of the newspaper has the effect of enervating and rendering effeminate? Well (hear the sigh?) we suppose that class "scraps" are relics of barbarism or vestigial remains which in the process of evolution should pass out of existence, but there are worse things. The spirit which generates class "scraps" is not hate or anything akin. It is a healthy loyalty to one's class. In the world it is termed patriotism. Who, in the history of Bucknell, ever heard of any person being seriously injured in a class "scrap"? When one has left his college far behind him, and when college days are but a memory, the thoughts of "how we did the Sophs" or how we outwitted the Freshman, linger as bright gems in memory's treasure box. Get two gray-haired college men talking over old college days and almost invariably, the class "scraps" are brought prominently to the fore In fancy the battles are re-fought and their eyes sparkle with light of other days. We do not wish to advocate class "scraps" neither do we want to stand in the way of progress, and if the suppression of class scraps marks a step in healthy progress then, by all means abolish them and relegate any sentiment which would sustain them to the rear.

Come and hear Dr. Putnam's lecture Oct. 26 and 27.

Rev. J. E. Sagebeer, D. D., '85, of Phila., visited the town and the college during the week.

Andrew Leiser, Jr., '98, gave an interesting lecture on Economics to the students of Keller's Business College, on Wednesday afternoon, it being the first of a series of lectures to be given by him every other Wednesday.

A party of Juniors, consisting of Ayers, Anderson, Pierson, Hottenstein, A. M. Smith, Huff, Walker, Stephens, Goodman and Bechtel, paid a visit to their friends, the Freshmen, at the Broadway House, Milton, on Thursday evening. There was evidence of much good feeling and the Freshmen were congratulated on their safe arrival.

Among the Institute's Friday evening guests to dinner were: Miss Iza Martin, Messrs. Simons, Woodard, L. E. Ayres and Professor Fiske.

On Thursday evening the people of the Institute and a number of other invited guests were delightfully entertained by selections from the poets given by Rev. W. T. C. Hanna, of Bradford. After the readings there was an informal reception held in the parlors to meet Dr. Hanna. Refreshments were served and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

The regular weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday night was led by Bidelspacher, '01. The subject for the evening was, "What do ye more than others," or in what way should my life as a christian differ from those who are not christians. The meeting was interesting. While the attendance was good we would like to see more fellows at the meetings. There is room for more.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

Another Victory for Bucknell.

Bucknell 45, Susquehanna 0—such is the story of Saturday's game. The score, however, is no indication of what the game was, for a more interesting contest has seldom been seen on the home campus; being by no means as one sided as the score seems to indicate.

In weight the two teams were as nearly matched as two teams can possibly be. Susquehanna averaging 167 and Bucknell 168 pounds per man. The difference lay in the training and skill displayed by each team. Bucknell did not win because Susquehanna was weak, but because Bucknell's team work was magnificent—the finest seen this year. Every foot they gained was well earned, for the boys played together with a snap and unity that brought radiant smiles to Hoskins' face, as he watched the game from the side lines.

The game started by Mathewson kicking off for Bucknell to Susquehanna's 5 yard line, when Rollins carried it back 10 yards. Susquehanna kept the ball for only a few downs and were forced to kick. Mathewson ran the kick back and in a few rushes Bucknell crossed the line for the first score. Time one minute and a half, Bunnell kicked the goal. Susquehanna kicked off. Bucknell running the ball well back. A beautiful series of rushes carried the ball close to Susquehanna's goal, where it was lost. Susquehanna kicked, Bucknell ran the ball back well, and Gillis carried it over in a few rushes. Bunnell again kicked the goal. Score 12-0.

Susquehanna again kicked off, and after the ball changed hands several times near mid-field, Susquehanna got the ball on her own 30 yard line. The signal was given for an end play, but Herman fumbled and Freudenberger was through the line and off with the ball like a shot, with Mathewson behind him. He ran the entire 30 yards for a touchdown before Susquehanna knew what had happened. Bunnell kicked his 3rd goal. Score 18-0.

The fourth score was made much in the same way; after Susquehanna kicked off, the ball was gradually worked toward their goal, though frequently changing hands. On an exchange of punts, Bucknell invariably gained many yards.

Near the end of the first half Mathewson was pushed over for a touchdown, Bunnell again kicking goal. Score 24-0.

SECOND HALF.

In the second half several substitutions were made, Taylor relieving Kase, Gray taking Sweet's place, Armour taking Rowe's place, while Bunnell gave way to Prichard; Weymouth and Mathewson were also relieved by Sherwood and Prichard near the end of the game, Teufel going to quarter. Susquehanna kicked off and the ball was worked up to the 30 yard line directly in front of the goal. Here Mathewson was given a try for goal. The ball struck the 35 yard line as he kicked it, and passed between the poles, just over the bar; score, 29-0.

Susquehanna once more kicked off and Bucknell again carried the ball back to about the 30 yard line, Mathewson again tried for goal, though at a very difficult angle, the ball being near the side line. The try however, was successful, making the score 34-0.

On the next kick off occurred, perhaps, the prettiest play of the day. Susquehanna kicked off to Mathewson, who caught and ran the ball back to mid-field behind good interference. He then left the interference and with a clear field started to make a touchdown, but was overtaken and tackled high. The force of the fall shook the tackler loose, and Mathewson once more went on his way—but by this time two other tacklers were at hand, and he was downed on the 12 yard line, having made over 90 yards in one run. Two plunges and he was shoved over for the 5th touchdown. Riemer kicked goal. Score, 40-0.

Prichard went to fullback.

Another score was made by Riemer. Bucknell punted and Susquehanna fumbled. Riemer advancing to tackle, took the ball at full speed, and outdistanced all pursuers, planting the ball fairly between the posts. He failed to kick the goal, however. Score, 45-0.

After a very little more play the whistle blew, ending the game. The work of the entire team is to be highly commended; every man was in his place and did his work well. The finest team work seen this year was shown on Saturday, and certainly if Bucknell plays as well next Saturday, they will add one more scalp to their long string. Every man played a magnificent game, but perhaps the work of Mathewson, Carlin, Gillis and Stanton for Bucknell and Barnett, Easeman and Hoover for Susquehanna was most noticeable.

At a meeting of the Chemical and Physical Society on Thursday afternoon, in the Laboratory, Dr. Brown discussed "The Petroleum Industry." The attendande was quite large, including many students whose homes are in the oil regions.

Dr. Robert Lowry, '54, is lying dangerously ill at his home in Plainfield, N. J. His many friends in town and college will be sorry to hear of this. He has always been a loyal Bucknellite.

F. & M.—Gettysburg Game.

The Franklin and Marshall-Gettysburg game which was to have been played Saturday at Gettysburg did not come off on account of a failure to agree upon the officials. Both sides have their story, but the whole trouble seems to have been caused by F. and M's demand that Gettysburg import officials from a distance. Gettysburg refused to do this because they claimed their financial condition wouldn't permit. There seems to be something radically wrong with F. & M. this year, for whenever F. & M. has dropped her complaints and played the game her opponents have made her look like thirty cents. The Bucknell-Franklin & Marshall game which was to have occurred on our campus two weeks ago was canceled by F. & M. because Bucknell refused to secure officials from Philadelphia. It takes money to secure big officials and if F. & M's Athletic Association is rolling in affluence, she should have some consideration for her less fortunate neighbors.

A Bucknell Alumnus.

R. B. Davidson, '94, is the new General Secretary of the Student Christian Association, at the University of Michigan, and assumed his duties at the opening of the fall term. The position is a very responsible one. The Association has a commodious building, Newberry Hall. The work of the Secretary is varied. He looks after the general and christian welfare of the student body, he secures boarding places and seeks employment for needy students. Mr. Davidson spent five years at the University of Chicago, where he took a theological course and earned the degree of Bachelor of Divinity; he also took a course of study which will entitle him very soon to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

Dr. Putman witnessed the football practice on Wednesday evening and distributed some so-called nerve tonics among the scrubs. They proved a good tonic.

Y. M. C. A.

The regular Tuesday evening meeting was led by Reno, '00. The meeting was successful and profitable to all Rev. McGann will lead to-night. We hope for a good attendance.

Messrs Ayars, '01, Ulmer, '02, and Shields, '01, conducted two Missionary meetings in the White Deer churches on Sunday evening.

A meeting of the members of all the committees was held in the Association rooms on Saturday morning at 10.30. There was a good attendance. Reports from various committees were received and various topics were discussed. The question of how to interest more of the college men in the association and get their attendance at the regular meetings was discussed at some length.

Change of time of meeting was spoken of but it was finally concluded that the present time of meeting was the best.

The report on Bible study was favorable for all the classes except the senior class. Not many of the seniors have taken up the study as yet.

Trains to the Game.

For the accomodation of the Bucknell foot-ball team and its friends the Philadelphia & Reading Railway will run a special fast train leaving Lewisburg 12.34 p. m., arriving at Williamsport 1.36 p. m. Returning, leave Williamsport 7 p. m. Round trip fare from Lewisburg $1.00 good on above special trains and on all regular trains going and returning November 4. The team will go up on the Reading road.

Coach Hoskins has been giving the 'Varsity men talks on football every evening the past week.

Freudenberger, '01, of the 'Varsity team, was confined to his room for several days on account of boils.

Singheiser, '03, received a slight injury while wrestling last Thursday and as a result could not attend classes.

Fred ("Rex") Wagner, of Bradford, Pa., a former Bucknell student, spent several days in town during the week.

The 'Varsity received their new sweaters last week. The orange "B," neck, and border, form a striking contrast to the blue body.

Homer Peas, of Keystone Academy, visited his friends in college during the week. He operated the slides for Dr. Putman in his lectures.

A new walk has been made from the west wing to the intersection of the Academy and Chapel walk. This improves the appearance of the campus.

Among the college organizations, none has called forth more discussion than has the "Fraternity." Not alone among the college authorities but among the students themselves, it has for some time been a question whether the Fraternity should exist. It is right that every phase of the question should be investigated, since it is one that effects the college life. It deserves however to be looked at from a fair and unprejudiced point of veiw. Such a position is hard to gain since there is a peculiarly personal element in the question. Putting this aside, the question should concern itself the cause with and general trend of the Fraternity.

In the first place, it must be taken into account that the spirit which prompts the organization of fraternities is nota product of college life alone, but is wide spread throughout the country. The large number of clubs, societies and lodges of every discription is a proof of this fact. It is the spirit of the day for men to band themselves together for certain ends. Immediately the question arises whether the end for which the Fraternity is organized is a worthy one.

Much of the prejudice against fraternities is due to the fact that they are "secret societies". In an undefined way, this fact gives rise to the impression that they must have an unlawful object. They are linked with the secret political societies of history.

The very name "Fraternity" has expressed, in a measure, the purpose of the organization. In a general way, the aim of fraternities may be said to be friendship and development of its members.

Granted that no serious objection can be made to the spirit or the aim of fraternities, the question yet remains as to their influence. Here is where the greatest objections are raised against them. It is claimed that they are exclusive and therefore have a narrowing effect. Any tendency to become narrow is in the individual and is not the result of fraternity life. The relationship in a fraternity is a very intimate one and the circle of intimate friends is usually larger than outside of it. One may brush past a score of fellow students and not be affected by the acquaintance but a close contact with other's minds, other's hopes and ideals can not fail to broaden the ideas and sympathies.

The influence of fraternities upon the college is a beneficial one. They undeniably tend to promote college spirit. It would be useless to bring forward all the objections against fraternities and try to refute them. The fact that they have been so severly criticised shows that they have not been faultless. The fraternity like any other organization is just what the members choose to make it. There are few organization, that can boast a perfectly clean and unstained record.

The college fraternity is a reality and a power as well. Criticism and disapproval will not remedy its evils, but a more sympathetic attitude toward it and cooperation in what can be approved, may help to make it more the power it ought to be.

Dr. Putnam's Lectures.

Dr. Putnam's lectures the first "Paris, The Queen City of Europe" and the second "Rome, The Eternal City" were well worthy of a more liberal patronage from the student body. The treatment of the subjects was thorough and artistic.

Editorial.

Saturday the teams of State and Bucknell will hold their annual struggle for supremacy on the gridiron. In order to win it is necessary that the student body help the team as much as they can. There are many ways in which the students can help win a victory. Let every student get out to the practices this week and be liberal in his applause of good playing. If a mass meeting is held, as undoubtedly it will be, attend the meeting, learn the yells and songs and get your vocal, apparatus in good shape for Saturday. It won't hurt your voice and it will help to win.

The "Big Four," it seems, have had their day. Saturday's games clearly show it. The once mighty Yale was humbled by Columbia. Cornell overcame the Princeton tiger. Pennsylvania broke even with Chicago, and Harvard's victory has some of the sting of defeat in it, for the Indians scored against the Crimson on her own field. The scores do not indicate the retrogression of the Big Four so much as they show the progression of the other teams. There was a time when all that was known about foot ball was the exclusive property of the Big Four, but that day has passed.

The Football Girl.

Where banners of black and yellow,
Deep blue, or crimson stream,
She keeps on an ivory tablet
The score of a football team.
She comes in the golden weather,
And comes if the skies are gray,
For the game would be a failure,
With the football girl away.

In the dust of the broad arena
Her spirits rise and fall.
Tossed in the frantic rushes
With the bruised and battered ball,
She flutters a dainty kerchief
When the foe begins to yield,
And is hailed by the proud eleven
As the mascot of the field.

A flash in the glaring sun,
She joins in the frenzied cheering,
For the goal is touched and won,
She wears the champion's colors
As home in the dusk she goes,
To dream, it may be, of kisses
Stolen under the rose.

O, soldier back from battle,
Adorned with a captain's stars,
Dim is your martial glory
Compared to the half-back's scars!
Your sword must be your true-love,
So to the wars depart.
For an athlete in a sweater
Has won her girlish heart.

BUCKNELL 5, STATE 0.

Bucknell Plays all Around the Blue and White.

"O wonderful, wonderful, and most wonderful wonderful! And yet again wonderful, and after that, out of all hooping"—Shakespere.

Under gray and threatening skies, with a chill wind blowing diagonally over the field and on a gridiron soft from recent rains, was played on Saturday, at Williamsport, a game never to be forgotten. Two teams met there, skillful, well trained and determined. There were two young giants, confident in their own strength, flushed by recent victories, urged on by bitter rivalry and inspired by the cheers of their followers. The one, perhaps, over-confident, the other no less determined; both brought near to perfection by skillful coaching; the one overbearing because of its prestige and a long string of former victories, the other smarting under the defeats of past years and waiting its turn for victory. Backed by all that can make a man forget self and do or die, these teams met upon the field. Love for his Alma Mater, the expectations of friends, the sympathy and cheers of their followers, all urged on every man to do his utmost. And when at last the two teams came upon the field, after a disheartening delay, excitement knew no bounds. Cheer after cheer rent the air, college songs and college yells rolled forth in mighty volume. All the pent-up enthusiasm of the day burst forth, and one vast wave of sound swelled upward over the struggling combatants—a wave that never ceased. For throughout the entire game one side or the other kept up a continuous cheering. At first the struggle surged near mid-field, then, as it advanced either way, the one crowd would cheer for joy, the other to inspire its players; and when Stanton broke loose and carried the ball 35 yards, stopping only on State's 4-yard line, the scene was beyond description; one vast, mighty, powerful wave of Orange and Blue swept outward and upward, and when, one minute later, Kase went over for the touchdown, matters were even at a higher pitch. Old men and young men hugged one another in glee, hats went in the air, hands were grasped, backs slapped and a thousand grotesque actions indulged in.

When the half was over the crowd surged upon the field and bore the players off on their shoulders, and the mighty slogan of old B. U. rolled upward till the clouds over head reflected the glorious colors—orange and blue—and there they stayed in triumph. And when once more the struggle was on, and State, driven to desperation, played with a fiendish fury, and one or two players forgot themselves so far as to play foul, and when they advanced 1—3—7—10 at a time and every heart beat fast—then again that mighty sound rolled forth, and the sturdy warriors of the Orange and Blue responded nobly; once, twice, three times State went down for a loss and the ball was Bucknell's.

Then shortly the game was over, uncertainty was changed to certainty, and every loyal heart gave vent to its joy. The scene that followed was a repetition of the scene when the first half ended, exaggerated, if possible.

The game was called at 3:07 with State defending the east goal, having the wind in their favor. Mathewson kicked off, Cure returning the ball. After another exchange of kicks, the ball was Bucknell's in her own territory. Then began an attack on State's line that was a revelation. State's famous "stone wall defense" was ground to pieces by the fine rushing of B. U.: first "Big John," then Kase, then "Wey" or Stanton or "Christie" would smash through for constant gains of from twe to five yards.

Down the field went the ball until lost on a fumble on State's 35 yard line. Cure kicked out of danger. Mathewson sending the ball back again. Cure again kicked. B. U. worked the ball to State's 35 yard line and tried a drop kick, which was a failure. Cure punted out of danger. Then came Stanton's run, the most sensational play of the game, and the ball was on State's 4 yard line. In three scrimmages B. U. carried it over. Bunnell missed the goal, having to kick from a difficult angle and against a hard wind.

In the second half honors were more even. State played a hard, desperate game, but B. U. held them safe and they never got nearer to our goal than 25 yards. Throughout the game Mathewson outpunted Cure gaining from 6 to 20 yards on each exchange of kicks.

Bucknell's interference was magnificent, the runner seldom being thrown for a loss, and not held once for downs, while State was frequently thrown for a loss and held for downs repeatedly. To go more into details, at 3:07 Mathewson kicked off to State's 27 yard line; Cure returned the ball 40 yards; Mathewson kicked 35 and Cure 30 yards. B. U. went through State's line for 1½ yards. Stanton made five through center and end play yielded one more. Ten yards were gained in the next three scrimmages and the center bucked for five more. B. U. fumbled and Scholl fell on the ball.

State made 4 but lost the ball on off side play. Case made 5 through center; the guards back was twice played for 6 yards; B. U. lost ball to State on penalty on her 35 yard line. State gained 6 and was thrown on loss of 2 yards. Cure punted and ball rolled over B. U's goal line. Bucknell given free kick from 25 yard line. Mathewson twice punted out of bounds because of strong wind carrying ball. State was then given ball on Bucknell's 25 yard line. The finest defensive work of the day was seen here. Guards back gave State 5 yards, but an end run resulted in a loss. Bucknell's line held like a stone wall and State was thrown for loss of 1 yard. State tried left end for loss of 3 yards. Cure punted and Stanton gained 1 yard for B. U. Mathewson then punted 30 yards, the ball going out of bounds. State gained 1½, then lost, and was thrown for no gain. Bucknell's ball on downs. Bucknell then made beautiful gains of 3, 4 and 5 yards through the line. Two scrimmages gave but 2½ yards and Mathewson fell back for a try at goal, but kicked into the line, State falling on ball. Cure kicked 20 yards out of bounds. Bucknell's ball on 40 yard line. Kase made 4—repeated the trick for 2—Gillis 3—no gain—Kase made two more. Stanton was then given the ball for run around right end. Splendid interference kept State off till he was well around the end; skilfully guarding off State tacklers, he advanced the ball 35 yards, being stopped only on the 4½ yard line. Kase gained 1 yard. Bucknell fumbled but recovered the ball. Mathewson made 2. It was B. U's ball with 1½ yards to go in 1 down. The next rush was terrific—State's defense heroic, the entire 22 men were piled up in one struggling mass; but when the men were pulled off, Kase was seen to have the ball, a good foot over the line. The scene that followed is beyond description. Bunnell's try at goal, from a difficult angle, failed. Cure kicked off. Weymouth fumbled, but recovered and run back the ball 10 yards. It was Bucknell's ball on her own 26 yard line. No gain on end run but guardsback gained 4. Mathewson kicked. State made 4½, 3, 2, 4 yards fumbled and Weymouth fell on ball. B. U. fumbled and State made 5—no gain—lost 4. Cure punted out of bounds. Bucknell's ball on 33 yard line. Stanton thrown for no gain. Mathewson punted 35 yards. State punted and B. U. gained 1 yard. With the ball on Bucknell's 31 yard line, time was called. Score, 5 to 0.

SECOND HALF.

At 4:10 Cure kicked off. Bunnell ran back the ball 15 yards. Stanton made 3 yards on end run. Gillis made 3, Mathewson punted 45 yards. State's ball on her 37 yard line. State then played a temper game, gaining 4, 4, no gain, 1, 10, 5, 5 yards; here Bucknell braced up, State made no gain, gained 2 yards, thrown for loss, gained 1 yard. Failing to gain on next play, ball went over on downs. Kase made 5; Mathewson kicked 55 yards. State's ball on her 24 yard line. State gained 4, 3, 3, no gain, 3 yards. B. U. held for downs. B. U. gained 2, 1, 2, then was thrown twice for loss.

Mathewson attempted drop kick, but the ball was poorly passed and Mathewson thrown for 15 yards loss. State's ball. State took a big brace and rushed the ball to the 25 yard line, making 7, 1, 1, 2, 7, 3, 3, yards in succession, then being thrown twice for loss, tried a place kick. This failed and her only chance of scoring was gone. Bucknell was given free kick from the 20 yard line.

Preliminary Mass Meeting.

One factor not to be overlooked in Saturday's victory is the enthusiasm and confidence stirred up by the meetings of the undergraduates last week. On Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock the boys began to gather and after parading over the entire building assembled in Theta Alpha Hall. Wassel, '00, was placed in the chair and organization immediately effected. The following marshals were elected: Seniors, Kress; Juniors, Sam Smith; Sophomores, Anthony; Freshmen, Tiffany and Senn; Academy, Prof. Fisk. Speeches, songs and yells followed each other, after collection had been taken for decorations, etc.

Wednesday evening at 9.00 the second meeting was held in Theta Alpha, and the enthusiasm was intense. All the football players spoke and their confidence inspired the boys and the enthusiasm of the boys encouraged the players. The boys deserve praise for their backing of the team.

Football Subscriptions.

The defeat of State College was not accomplished alone in the forty-five minutes of actual play. This defeat was the object of the football management from the beginning last winter. It is now fact and was only accomplished at a financial risk. The coaching of the team for the entire season is a big item of expense, to say nothing of equipment and training. To meet all bills it will be necessary for the alumni and friends of Bucknell to help practically and we now ask all who can to subscribe in the near future. By economical management the season can thus be assured and any surplus applied to the debt of $250.00. We must have funds and as the undergraduate body has already subscribed liberally we look to the graduates for an equally liberal response.

Manager H. B. Wassell acknowledges receipt of the following replies to his general letter to the alumni and friends and will promptly acknowledge any subscriptions addressed to him, P. O. Box 640, Lewisburg, Pa.:

W. P. Beaver, '85	$ 5.00
Milton G. Evans	2.00
T. R. Jones, LL.B.	2.00
R. J. Powell, ex-'01	2.00
F. J. MacFarlin, ex-00	1.00
Wm. Van V. Hayes	1.00

Mr. Benjamin Bowen, of Wellsboro, a former State College student, visited Bucknell friends over Sunday.

Mrs. Ezra Allen, a former student of Bucknell, and wife of Prof. Ezra Allen, '95, visited Miss Allen, '01, on Wednesday and Thursday. Prof. Allen is teaching in Perkiomen Seminary, Pennsburg, Pa.

We won, and it is a victory to be proud of. The victory was not due to a fluke or the brilliant work of one man, but is the result of determined, concerted effort on the part of the whole team. No one man can be singled out as having played a better game than the others. Every man played as though his life depended upon it. Stanton deserves especial mention for his plucky playing under difficulties; with enough boils on his body to out-Job Job he played a brilliant game. Although State was considerably heavier, Bucknell went through her line repeatedly for big gains. At every point of the game Bucknell displayed her superiority.

In the general exultation one fact must not be lost sight of and it is this: The victory is due largely to Coach Hoskins' faithful work. Early and late he has worked untiringly to develop a winning team. We began the season with but three of last year's team back, but thanks to Hoskins' energy and coaching, we now have a team of which we can well be proud. The work of the scrub must not be lost sight of either. To it is due in a great part Bucknell's success.

Although the State game is won, the season is not over yet by any means. In previous years a noticeable slump has taken place after the State game, but this year must be an exception. We have hard games ahead, notably with Lafayette, and we must do our best to win.

What is a College Settlement? The question has frequently been heard since it became known that the women of our University had organized themselves for the support of settlement work.

The history of the movement may be briefly traced. Under the inspiration of the lofty social teachings of such men as Kingsley, Maurice, Ruskin and Green, students in the English universities became eager to undertake social service. Two Oxford men were the pioneers: Edward Denison first and afterward, in another district of London, Arnoid Toynbee went to live among the poor. Their residence was short—an untimely death ended the labors of both. The first settlement, founded in 1885, ten years after Toynbee had first given himself to the poor Whitechapel—was named in his honor Toynbee Hall. The movement developed rapidly. The oldest settlements in the U. S. are the Rivington St. Settlement in New York and Hull House in Chicago, both founded in 1890. The College Settlements Association, of which a chapter has just been organized at Bucknell, supports settlements in Boston, New York and Philadelphia. Wellesley, Smith, Vassar, Bryon Mawr, Radcliffe, Wells, Packer Institute, Cornell, Swarthmore, Elmira, the Women's College of Baltimore and Barnard are represented in the Association.

A College Settlement, in a word, then, is a place where earnest men and women, impelled by a desire to share their gifts of knowledge, of culture, of Christian grace, with the less favored classes, can go to live for any length of time—long or short—and study the life of the poor man from the poor man's point of view.

The Christian college has been slow to recognize its social mission. Shut in from the vulgar world, professors and students have too often forgotten that they are members of a civic community, amenable to its laws and responsible for its administration. It is gratifying to note that social, economic and political sciences are gradually claiming greater recognition. In the diffusion of a knowledge of "how the other half lives" lies the hope of its redemption:

"For felt the evil—born the right!
Dense the darkness—keen the sight."

To the students of sociology, the college settlement is a laboratory. There he will escape becoming a mere theorist. There he will learn that society, if it is saved at all, will be saved, "not by devices, but by persons." There he will see religion "stripped of those features which make it a form of insurance,"—a religion which is not "religiousness, but love."

Bob Trainer, ex-'96, is a candidate for coroner of Williamsport at the coming election.

Rev. James, of Altoona, led the chapel exercises on Wednesday and Thursday morning.

Instructor Fisk preached in the Northumberland Baptist church on Sunday morning and evening.

A large number of the boys attended the political meetings in the Opera House on Thursday and Friday evenings.

The Literary societies did not hold their regular meetings on Friday night on account of the mass meeting in town.

Ed. Bell, '00, has been entertaining his brother, A. S. Bell, who has been on the school-ship Saratoga, since last May.

B. Norris Rittenhouse, who attended the Academy several years ago, is a lieutenant in the 34th volunteers now in the Philippines.

Mrs. M. A. Cowden showed her appreciation of the victory over State by contributing a generous sum to the Athletic Association.

Goodall, '02, had his left ankle severely sprained in the football practice on Monday afternoon. He is able to move about with the aid of crutches.

Several of the boys went up to Williamsport on Friday afternoon to arrange some matters relative to the game and see how things were running.

Among the old Bucknellites at the game were Milligan, Douglass, Clark, Stevens, Hackenberg, Griffith, Grim, John Davis, Koser, Cregar and Prof. Allen and wife.

Several rousing mass meetings were held during the week to stir up the enthusiasm of the student body. The one on Wednesday evening was especially enthusiastic.

The news of Bucknell's victory caused intense delight in Lewisburg. Those students who had not gone up to see the game began to make things lively around the streets of town.

According to the custom started last year the Senior Seminary and College girls attended the State game on Saturday. They occupied a bunch of seats in the north end of the grandstand and rooted lustily for Bucknell.

The team was met at the station on its return from Williamsport Saturday night by a number of the boys. The enthusiastic students carrying transparencies suitably inscribed marched around town and up to the Institute where the girls were roused from peaceful slumbers by yells and songs.

The Williamsport Celebration.

After the game it was announced that there would be a parade at 7.15 in the evening to celebrate our glorious victory. Bucknell students and admirers to the number of several hundred gathered at the Updegraff, headed by the Bucknell band. The line of parade started out Fourth Street, toward the Park Hotel, State's headquarters, the band meanwhile making things lively with "A Hot Time in the Old Town" and "Georgia Camp Meeting." Bucknell yells and songs were given with a will along the route to the total disregard of the vocal apparatus. When the State headquarters were reached, the line swung into the Park and marched through the corridors but not a State man was to be seen. They had all taken an early train for home, bowed down by defeat. On the return trip a stop was made at the "Grit" office, and three rousing cheers were given for that paper. Another stop was made at the corner of Third and Pine, where Coach Hoskins' was met. He was lifted bodily on the shoulders of several students and made a short speech. Three hearty cheers were given for him and the parade resumed its way to the Updegraff where it broke up.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The regular Y. M. C. A. meeting held on Tuesday evening was led by Sherman, '99. The subject for consideration was, "Wilt thou be made whole," or is my life in college what God would have it be? The meeting was spirited and interesting.

Rev. McGann will lead the meeting to-night. He had been asked to lead the last meeting but it was deemed best to change to this meeting. The change was made too late to be corrected in the ORANGE AND BLUE. We hope there will be a large attendance this evening.

Professor and Mrs. Edwards Entertain.

Professor and Mrs. Edwards gave their annual reception to the Institute and Academy Tuesday evening. Literary puzzles taxed the wits but whenever the strain became too severe the the Mandolin and Guitar club rendered pleasing selections. It was a golden opportunity for Sem. and Cad to get acquainted and they took advantage of it. There will be a noticable increase in the number of callers at the Institute Saturday evening.

VOL. IV. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY NOVEMBER 14, 1899. NO. 8

Monday Night's Celebration.

"And the whole town rang
With a rattle and bang:
Zizzy ze zum! Zizzy ze zum!"

Lewisburg has seen celebrations of different kinds, and of various degrees of intensity, but the demonstration last Monday night in honor of our decisive victory over State made all former celebrations look like thirty cents, all in pennies. Every student in the University was there, or if any were absent they wont acknowledge it. Students that a fair sized earthquake couldn't stir out of their rooms after nightfall, sauntered out, and mixed up in that yelling, enthusiastic mass which had assembled in front of the Post Office. All apathy had disappeared; everybody was there to celebrate in the superlative degree. Noise producers, ranging in power from the meek and lowly cow bell to the bombastic tin horn, were taxed to their utmost in order to make the night resound with the fact that State had been humbled.

At about seven o'clock cosmos began to emerge out of chaos; the wild, unorganized mass began to form in line of parade. Instructor Fisk, the chief marshal, with his aides, Deppen and Bevan, headed the procession, the band meanwhile rendering lively airs. The various members of the team, including Coach Hoskins, were seated in vehicles of one sort or another drawn by willing students doing the horse act. A dummy labeled State was feelingly carried on a stretcher, while transparencies of various kinds, bearing inscriptions such as "We have more boils (Boyles) than State"; "Sweet gave Cummings diabetes"; "After Bucknell comes Yale," and a number of others which the enthusiasm of the moment suggested, were in evidence. As the parade moved out Market street, fire works lighted the nights in lurid streaks. Frequent stops were made during the parade's progress to do homage by cheering to some person or persons, but at the Seminary cheer followed cheer so rapidly that a rapid-calculating machine would have given up in despair. Through the courtesy of Geo. Fisher enough boxes were secured to make a huge bon fire on the athletic field. The human circle around the fire was there for business. The coach and the team were born around the fire on stalwart student shoulders. The noise became a din, yells were given, horns were blown, hats thrown in the air, and the scene not only beggared description, but, as a friend of ours was wont to remark, "foreclosed a mortsage on that much abused individual." Ghost dances, cake walks, fandangos, and a host of evolutions and gyrations were gone through. When the flames flickered and died out, the crowd dispersed, for some energy had to be saved to celebrate our coming victory over Lafayette. Regarding the result of this game, it might be remarked that there exists that difference which can be alleged concerning a chicken with one wing and a chicken with two wings—a difference of a pinion. We hope for the best.

Reception To The Football Team.

The ladies of the town showed their appreciation of the work of the Bucknell football team in a very fitting manner by tendering a reception to the team in the Armory on Tuesday evening. A large crowd was present to help the team to enjoy their victory over State College. Instructor Fisk was the chairman of the evening and he introduced the speakers, Profs. Hulley, Perrine, Rockwood, Edwards, Mr. D. P. Higgins, Hon. John T. Hyatt and Dr. Gundy.

The speakers were lavish in their praise of the excellent work of Coach Hoskins who is largely responsible for our victory over State. One of the speakers compared State to the ancient Greek, Icarus, who lost his life attempting to do a great thing, namely: fly to the sun with waxen wings fastened to his body. State died attempting to do a great thing. Mr. Fisk in behalf of the ladies of the town presented Coach Hoskins with a handsome diamond pin. He responded in a neat speech in which he took occasion to pay a glowing tribute to the character of the men composing the team. He praised them highly for their conscientions and faithful training and hard and steady practice. He expressed himself as very well pleased with the whole team and thanked the ladies very heartily for their kind gift.

Refreshments were then served and afterwards there was some dancing to music furnished furnished by the band consisting of town and college men. The college boys greatly appreciate this expression of good will on the part of the town people and it will be an incentive to stir them on to more victories this season.

Football.

The Varsity and Reserves must get down to work this week. We stand a fair chance of tieing or defeating Lafayette. All depends upon the attention of each and every man who is training for the football team. We must have the support of every student in the institution; also must have a strong reserve team of seventeen or eighteen men each day. Our whole heart must be put in all our practice games. We must have the same spirit and interest all this week in our practice as if we were going to play State instead of Lafayette. The winner of this game can justly claim the championship of the state.

Let each man lay aside his personal feelings and work for the interest of team and Old Bucknell. This must be done if we expect to put up a good game with Lafayette, or to win; in other words to put that same spirit in "to do or die" which was manifested in the State-Bucknell game.

Every man this week must train hard and conscientiously, bearing one thing in mind all the time i. e.—by laying aside all social enjoyments and personal pleasures, to put yourself in first class condition; and then, if we do lose, we can at least have the satisfaction of knowing that we did our best.

COACH HOSKINS.

Foot Ball Subscriptions.

In order to meet all the expenses of the football season and leave this year's team clear of debt, it will be necessary to have additional subscriptions amounting to at least fifty dollars. The work of our players fully warrants that we make the season of 1899 a financial success. In calculating ahead thus, it is expected that every dollar already subscribed be paid in, and this as soon as possible. The subscriptions are overdue, so please be ready when called upon by the management. Make this work easy and show your interest. Any who have not subscribed, kindly do so at the earliest opportunity.

The following cash has been received since the last issue applying on subscriptions of Alumni and friends. The college list will be published later.

Last Saturday afternoon a hotly contested game of football took place place at Shamokin between the Lewisburg Athletic club and the Shamokin High School. The tackling of both teams was excellent, especially that of Shuster and Hoffa. The features of the L. A. C's playing was the line-bucking of Marsh and the running of Hoffa.

We want fifty men to accompany the team. See the manager at once so that he can look after this. A great deal depends upon how many rooters we take with us. We all ought to see this game which will be the best of the season and it will be a good trip for every one to take.

The first of the series of three informal dances will be given Thursday evening in the Armory. Dancing begins promptly at 8 o'clock. All the students are invited to be present. The proceeds go to basket ball.

Lafayette put up a good game with Cornell—defeated them on their merits. The victory was due to the wet field, Cornell's loss of Walbridge and Alexander and the effective work of the guards back play, which Cornell had underestimated.

We play Lafayette Saturday. It depends on several things whether we win or not: First, the team, individually should forget all grievances and do the hardest work of the year this week, collectively should help out our Coach as he deserves it. He is working hard to have the Orange and Blue fly high in the breeze above all others. Let us get after the championship of the State in earnest. Next, let every student come out to the practices this week. Do it rain or shine. Yale's loyal twelve hundred watched their heroes practice in a downpour. It helps the blue to win. Remember the eleven are working for Bucknell—consequently for you. But stay on the side lines. The coach deserves this consideration of his service from all of us. How can you expect him to do his work with a crowd of students pressing in on the team, troubling him and making the players nervous—preventing the plays and hindering long runs.

Follow your marshalls in rooting, thus encourage the team and be of benefit instead of injury.

We beat State—they did not expect it, neither does Lafayette. Let every student who can scrape a ten dollar bill together go to Easton next Friday with the team. Altho over two hundred and fifty miles away, Lafayette had twenty-five supporters at Ithaca. We are only one hundred from Easton. We should take fifty with us to see Bucknell win. You will be sorry if you do not go.

Hoop-er-up, Hoop-er-up, Hoop-er-up well, Hoop-er-up for the boys of old Bucknell.

We desire also to commend the effort that is being put forth to improve the singing in the morning chapel exercises. The question of the value of College worship is one that is frequently agitated among the students.

The chapel exercises should be a pleasure and benefit.

Good music will go far towards making the exercises attractive. We appreciate the fact that it is no little matter to furnish good music every morning for ten months of the year.

It requires faithfulness, time and effort. Here, however, is an opportunity to raise the standard of the college in another feature of its life.

It is urged that all who can aid in this movement, do so. There are other reforms which might be instituted in connection with the chapel exercises. A more general and prompt attendance would lend interest. Compulsory attendance should not be required from college students, but in its being voluntary, ought not to lead to indifference.

It is held that from union and co-operation, social benefit is gained. This principle might be put into practice in the general singing of the students. There is no reason why this singing should not be full of life and enthusiasm. The tendency is for such exercise to become perfunctory and lifeless on account of sameness and repetition. Whatever tends to vary the exercises will contribute to the interest.

Bucknell did not have any game on Saturday. The practice this week will be of the strongest kind possible so as to get in good shape for Lafayette this coming Saturday. Coach Newton, of Lafayette, in an article in the Sunday Press says: This game will practically decide the championship of Penna., and that Lafayette should win this game because it is on her own campus. It is hence important that Bucknell do all in her power to win. We hope all the reserves will be out and give the 'Varsity the best possible practice. Bucknell can win the State championship if she rises to the occasion as she did Nov. 4.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

Lafayette, 12; Bucknell, 0.

On Saturday Bucknell met her third defeat of the season, at the hands of Lafayette, the State champions, having previously lost to U. of P. and D. C. and A. C. of Pittsburg.

The game was a very interesting one to watch, the teams being fairly well matched and snappy as a result; Lafayette, however had a trifle the better of it, being heavier, and playing on her own gridiron which is always a big factor.

The fact that Lafayette did not succeed in scoring until 21 minutes of play is proof enough of the closeness of the contest. Once again in the second half she was able to score, and only once, making the final score 12-0. Bucknell has no cause to feel humiliated over the defeat; while she may not feel jubilant, as at a victory, she has nevertheless cause for hearty congratulations in playing Lafayette so close a game on her own grounds, since Lafayette has beaten both U. of P. and Cornell, colleges that stand in the very top ranks of football.

Bucknell won the toss and took the south goal. Mathewson kicked to Lafayette's ten-yard line. Bray carried the ball back ten yards. Platt went through tackle for twelve yards. Trout followed with fifteen yards, but Bucknell held them on the next play. Trout then struck guard for four yards. Weidenmeyer and Platt again made nine yards. Then Bucknell held Lafayette and got the ball on downs.

Mathewson tried to punt, but Chalmers was through and blocked, Bucknell falling on the ball. Butler got the ball on a fumble on the next play. This was followed by a number of hard plunges through right tackle but Bucknell got the ball on a forward pass. Mathewson punted to the center of the field. Platt carried the ball back fifteen yards. Lafayette was given ten yards for off side. Then Bray, Trout and Platt hit the line for steady gains Trout finally going through right tackle for a touchdown. Bray kicked the goal.

Mathewson kicked off and Trout carried the ball back fifteen yards, the ball going to Bucknell for off side play on Lafayette's thirty-five-yard line. Mathewson tried for a goal, but was blocked. He tried the second time but again his kick was blocked. The half ended with the ball in Lafayette's possession on her forty-five-line.

In the second half Bray kicked off, but the ball went to Lafayette on Bucknell's forty-yard line on account of interference. Weidenmeyer, Bray, and Trout made steady gains through the tackle positions until the ball was on Buckell's twelve-yard line, when Platt on a delayed pass went through right tackle for a touchdown. Bray kicked the goal.

Mathewson kicked off and Bray carried the ball back thirty yards. Knight made a nice run for a gain of five yards. Stanton was downed for a loss. Mathewson punted over Lafayette's goal line and Bray ran the ball back forty-two yards while Bucknell was lining up to receive the punt out. Then Lafayette carried the ball to Bucknell's thirty-five-yard line, where Knight on the third down gained fifteen yards. Bucknell captured the ball on a fumble on an exchange of kicks. Bray gained five-yards. Then Bucknell made a first down on a double pass, but was forced to kick, Lafayette receiving the ball on the thirty-yard line. From here it was carried back to Bucknell's thirty-five-yard line, where the half ended.

Rev. Hollingshead's Wedding.

Pastor Hollingshead was married on the afternoon of November 2, to Miss Alma Genevieve Rodenbaugh, an accomplished young lady of Lewisburg. The ceremony was performed at that place. The many and costly gifts there received united with the words of the many friends in declaring their high appreciation of both bride and groom. Upon arriving at Ashland, at about half-past six in the evening, a cab met them and conveyed them to the parsonage, where a shower of rice, followed by the sunshine of smiling welcomes, convinced the happy pastor and wife that the day's joys were not ended. The parsonage was filled with the members and friends of the church. Among those from other places were Rev. and Mrs. E. G. Zwayer, of Girardville, and Miss Fannie Morgan, Missionary of the Reading Association. After many pleasant words, supper was served to all. Here too, the many useful and valuable gifts, as well as the perfect and tasteful arrangements made for the reception, declared with what joy loving hearts were seeking to crown the occasion.

On Saturday evening the little church at Centralia, which Bro. Hollingshead is also supplying, added their appreciation by a repetition of all this in a hearty welcome given to the pastor and his wife. Bro. Hollingshead has been pastor of these two churches for two years, during which time his labors have been signally blessed.

Freedom is the watchword of the age. Political freedom is considered a thing so desirable that nations shed their richest blood to gain it.

The freedom of the Press and of Thought are ideas so dear to American people that any attempt to encroach upon them drives the people instantly to arms to protect their rights. We may well congratulate ourselves upon this birthright. There is, however, a freedom that each man must work out for himself.

Education is one of the greatest means in attaining this end. As long as a man is hampered in any of his faculties or prevented in any way from making use of his powers, he is not altogether free, but is to such a degree still in bondage.

Only when a man has realized in himself all that he is capable of becoming, is he perfectly free. It is the work of education to help remove all that hinders such realization. An illiterate man is a slave to his inability to express himself. His lack of language reacts upon his mind and prevents any freedom of thought.

A free, all-round manhood is the aim of education. Its methods must then be such as will develop him in all his powers and faculties. To this end the wisest men of the day are planing educational work.

What then should be the student's attitude toward the various branches of work? To get out of as much as possible or to make the most possible out of what he can get? The man who neglects certain lines of work, because he does not like them, stunts his intellectual growth. To do only what one is forced to do in order to remain in his class is slavish.

A poor man who stood before a pile of coins which were offered him and refused to receive them, either because it required too much effort to carry them away or because he was ignorant of their value, would be a subject for pity and ridicule.

There is a tendency out of pure indolence to let the oration slip, to skip the elocution class and the lecture, and to neglect entirely the Literary Society. The four years of college life are full of opportunities. If the student neglects them the loss is his own.

The defeat of Bucknell by Lafayette on Saturday by the score of 12 to 0 was at least logical. Lehigh was beaten on her own ground by Bucknell, the resulting score being 5 to 0. Lafayette beat Lehigh on Lafayette's grounds by the score of 17 to 0. Logically, then, the Bucknell - Lafayette game should have resulted, as it did, 12 to 0. Had the game been played on our own field, or on a neutral field, there might have been a different tale to tell. Bucknell's defeat has none of the elements of disgrace in it. It was a splendid battle, splendidly fought.

In another column there is a local to the effect that a play will be produced in the near future with a student cast. It is to hoped that the scheme will be carried out. Why would it not be a good idea to form a permanent dramatic club? Other schools have them, as for example, the Hasty Pudding Club at Harvard. Valuable training could be secured by such an organization. Then, too, it would furnish an easy means of giving benefits for college athletics without calling upon foreign talent. The formation of such a club is at least worthy of consideration.

Rev. S. G. Reading was recently installed as pastor of North Main Ave. Church Scranton.

Rev. J. W. Plannet, of Cambridge Springs, has accepted a call to Linesville Baptist Church.

The November 1st number of the Commonwealth was quite a Bucknell number. The Reverends Irey, Moore, Goodchild and McDanel had leading articles.

Wm. J. Coxey, A. M., Camden, N. J., ex-'53, has presented 70 volumes mostly of a sociological nature, to th Bucknell library to form the nucleus of a new alcove.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaman, missionaries to Western China, are guests of Dr. Hulley. Mrs. Beaman is a daughter of Dr. G. R. Bliss, who was a professor at Bucknell for thirty years.

Rev. Henry Colestock, '96, pastor of the First Baptist church of Madison, Wis., was recently married at Newberry, Pa., to Miss Emma E. Kunkle, a graduate of the Institute.

Artist J. Wesley Little had a splendid set of water color paintings on exhibition in Bucknell Hall on Saturday afternoon. The paintings consisted of scenes in Buffalo Valley and several scenes in Europe. His work shows Mr. Little to be an artist of fine ability.

Rev. C. H. Thomas, ex-'71, pastor of the Fifteenth Baptist Church of Phila., recently celebrated his tenth anniversary as pastor of the church. During his ten years of service he has baptized 529 persons. The present membership is 749.

Rev. Samuel Z. Batten, '85, read a paper before the Ministerial Conference at Philadelphia on "The Making of the Social Conscience" which excited wide and favorable comment. He also had a paper at the Baptist Congress in Pittsburg, entitled "Place of Authoritative Creeds."

Rev. O. P. Eaches, of Hightstown, N. J., was in attendance at the Baptist Congress recently held at Pittsburg Concerning the discussion of the subject. "The Improvement of Theological Instruction" Dr. Eaches said that the practical knowledge which may be gained in the time saved by taking Hebrew out of the curriculum would much more than compensate. The same, he said, applies to Greek. He held that every seminary should have a thorough English course, and that the question to the student should be, Can you think? Can you do things? Can you dominate the thoughts and activities of a congregation? Professors and students should be chosen with regard to that quality known as spiritual mindedness. They must learn to preach whole truths and to avoid half truths.

Informal Dance.

The first informal dance was held in the Armory last Thursday. Trate's orchestra, of Watsontown, furnished excellent music. Quite a large number were in attendance.

Art Wallauer spent a few days at his home in Ashland last week. He played full-back on the Ashland team in their game with Pottsville and helped them to win the victory.

"Bill" Rogers, "Doc" Thornton, Gold and Gregg Loomis, old Bucknellites took in the game at Easton.

Byron W. King, President of King's School of Oratory, Pittsburg, who stopped off in Lewisburg over Sunday, called on some friends. He visited Wolfe '01, in the afternoon and took a stroll over the University grounds.

At the meeting of the Chemical and Physical Society on Thursday afternoon, Dr. Brown will discuss "The student and his relation to tuberculosis." The discussion will doubtless be very interesting, especially to those who intend studying medicines.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The regular Y. M. C. A. meeting was held in Bucknell Hall on Tuesday evening. The subject under consideration was "A calling for life." Dr. Hulley led the meeting. He read as the evening's lesson the 15th Psalm, in which is the definition of a good citizen. In selecting a calling for life, he emphasized five things as necessary. 1. Consider manner of your own desires. 2. Consult your abilities or what are you fitted for. 3. Consider the field. 4. Consider the question of an opening. 5. Consider the question of equipment.

The claims upon and opportunities of the Christian student of medicine were presented by Shields, '01. He gaveas his strongest claim and opportunity the fact that the physician had the best means and most direct opportunity for alleviating human suffering.

Anderson, '01, presented the claims and opportunities of the ministry. As opportunities he presented, (1) christianizing the foreigners, (2) opposing the liquor traffic, (3) dispelling the ignorance in the world. In view of the education of the ministers, he considered that there is a special demand made upon them.

Mr. Hague rendered a vocal solo, "Heavenly Song," in a very acceptable manner.

Mr. Dewitt, '00, gave as the claims of teaching, (1) train body, (2) train soul, (3) train mind, teacher must work by and through example. Opportunities: (1) Schoolboards want christian men and women; (2) Christian influences.

Mr. Harvey, '00, gave as the opportunities of the mission field, (1) foundation work, (2) giving the Bible to a nation in its own language, (3) implanting christian principles in the life of the people, being at the front. Among the claims he gave, (1) world's need, (2) our opportunity, (3) Christ's command.

Goodall, '02, will lead the next meeting.

Foot Ball.

Owing to the cancellation of two scheduled games the season will in all probability end with a debt of about One Hundred Dollars, unless there is a liberal response on the part of students, faculty and alumni who have not yet subscribed to the support of the team. This has undoubtedly been the best team we have ever had and it would look bad if we allow a debt to mar an otherwise successful season. Lafayette received voluntarily over One Thousand Dollars from her friends after the Penn'a game and also a considerable sum after the Cornell game. Will our alumni and friends allow a successful season at Bucknell to be blocked by a debt of one-tenth that sum? Surely we have one hundred friends among the many graduates and former students who will give at least one dollar apiece to help close the season without debt for the team of 1899 which scored on Penn'a, defeated Lehigh and lowered once more the Blue and White of our old rivals, State College.

Dr. Lowry Dead.

The many friends of Dr. Lowry were grieved to hear of his death in Plainfield, N. J., last Saturday. Dr. Lowry was seventy-three years old, born in Philadelphia, March 12, 1826. He graduated from Bucknell, then the University at Lewisburg, in 1852. While in college he was prominent in undergraduate circles and was a member of Phi Kappa Psi. At one time he was Professor of Rhetoric at Bucknell, and was also pastor of the Lewisburg Baptist church.

Dr. Lowry was best known as a hymn writer. Some of his best known compositions are: "Shall We Gather at the River?" "Where is my Wandering Boy To-night?" "I Need Thee Every Hour." "Weeping Will Not Save Me."

Bond, '03, visited relatives in Danville on Saturday and Sunday.

Dickinson versus Susquehanna.

On Saturday last quite a number of our students attended the foot ball game between Dickinson and Susquehanna at Sunbury. As characteristic with Dickinson she wanted and secured, unfortunately, all—two of her coaches, Geo. Brooke and Sam Boyle, as officials and started in for a walk over. The first half was long drawn out, owing to numerous delays caused by lack of lime, rope and whistles, but finally ended with score: Dickinson, 16. Susquehanna, 0. Susquehanna was unfortunate in having several of her players laid out but pluckily started in the second half and before long scored a touch down on a long run by Barrett from which goal was kicked. Encouraged by this, Susquehanna began to pound Dickinson's line for continuous gains. Dickinson finally secured ball on a fumble about her thirty yard line and in the first scrimmage a Susquehanna man in some manner, got the ball and started for the goal. After being downed Referee Brooke ordered the ball back and, of course, Dickinson had merely dropped the ball down for the next line up. Then came trouble, neither side giving in. The game was finally called.

Concert.

The concert given in Bucknell Hall on Tuesday evening, by the School of Music was very successful. The attendance was not as large as desired, however. All the numbers of the program were very well rendered and showed careful preparation on the part of those participating. Several of the members were very heartily encored. The University Vocal Quartette Club was composed of Misses White, Davis, Bacon, Coleman and Messrs. Snow, Senn, Hague and Theis.

The following program was rendered:

PART I.

1. Piano duett, Carl Bohm.
Misses E. Sandbach and L. Love.
2. Romance from Traviata, Verdi.
Mr. J. A. Hague.
3. Minuet of Mozart, transcription by Schulhoff.
Miss E. Sandbach.
4. Invitation a la danse, Weber-Daube.
Miss Louise Lawshe.
5. University Vocal Quartette Club, Suanee River.

PART II.

1. Shepherds all and maidens fair, piano solo, Nevin.
Miss Lillian Love.
2. Romance for Violincello, Beethoven.
Mr. R. Wendell.
3. Nymphs and Shepherds (1600) (by request) Purcell.
Miss Gertrude Knox.
4. Cavitina, Bohm.
Mr. James Brown Martin.
5. University Vocal Quartette Club, "Good Night."

Accompanied by Dr. Aviragnet, Brown Martin, Miss Lawshe on the violin, and Mr. Wendell on the violincello.

Chemical and Physical Society.

The meeting on Friday evening had an unusually large attendance. Dr. Brown presented in a very forcible manner "The Relation of the Educated World to Tuberculosis." His discussion embraced the cause and effect of this scourge, also a means of exterminating it.

The cause is plural. Primarily the disease may be ascribed to the tubucle bacillus, which was discovered in 1882 by Coke. After this discovery Osler remarked, "Coke has given the sum total of knowledge on this subject."

An incidental cause is the susceptibility of the individual. If the germ enters the lung and finds suitable soil for growth it destroys the lung and with it life. Although the disease is commonly thought of as being confined to the lungs it can not be restricted to these organs for all parts of the body yield to this germ. From one hundred and fifty to two hundred thousand lives are annually paying for our negligence toward the disease. To this must be added a large proportion of the inmates of alm-houses, orphanages and penitentiaries.

Small pox has been exterminated but only by radical means. The same will be necessary for the riddance of tuberculosis. Dr. Vaughan's method for its extermination was then given.

In closing, the doctor dwelt upon public responsibility and the lack of harmony between scientific knowledge and public action.

Every year there is an increased tendency to combine experiments with the learning of dry facts. This may be seen in all lines of work. It is especially apparent along the line of the Sciences. A few years ago, experiment played but a small part in the student's work, and most of his knowledge had to be gained from the information contained in the text-book. To-day experiment and research are held to be a very important part of the work. It is recognized that knowledge and practice must go hand in hand, if the best results are to be obtained.

The students have felt the need of making use of the knowledge gained from their books. The study of Rhetoric and Oratory amounts to little, if it remain nothing but theory and criticism.

Here, the Literary Society is of benefit. It is the testimony of nearly all alumni that much of the best training gained in college was derived from work in the Literary Society. It gives a self-control and power that all who expect to be leaders need. Another opportunity along this line is offered in the different publications connected with the college. For those who expect to make journalism or literary work of any kind their profession, these papers offer one of the most valuable means of discipline.

The student is not to be cut off from all religious work during the four years of his course. Opportunities for activity along this line, are found in the Y. M. C. A. and college settlements, where these are connected with the school.

One of the most prominent features of the colleges of to-day is athletics. Through athletics is expressed the conviction that along with the study of Physiology and Hygiene should go the practical care and development of the body. "Knowledge is power," but practice teaches us how to use this power.

We do not approve of the use of the editorial column for delivering lay sermons but there is one thing we wish to call attention to, and it is in regard to the disfiguring of library books by marginal notes. The other day we had occasion to use a book of poetry in the library and found that the marker had been there and gotten in his heavy work. Here and there braces were drawn around several lines with the marginal comment: "This is especially beautiful," or "How exquisite," and so on. It takes a lot of nerve to mark a book in such a manner when the book isn't one's own. Besides, the marker ought to give some one else credit for having a little discerning power, and ability to appreciate the beautiful.

If a person owns a book and desires to mark certain passages, all right; the practice is a good one, and is helpful in reference. But when the book happens to belong to the University, overcome your tendency to underscore and comment. If you don't, you rob another of the pleasure of discovery; and then, too, the practice is silly. It seems to us like drawing a picture of a cow, and, then, for the information of the observer, adding, "This is a cow" lest some one should mistake it for a Rocky Mountain goat.

A large number took in the first concert in the Brockway course in the Opera House on Friday evening.

College Yell With a "Jag."

The mental condition of the college yell maker just before and at the moment of production would doubtless be a study in brain disease, could it be properly observed. Consider what must be the present torture and subsequent exhaustion of the mind that produced this, which has just been adopted by an Ohio college class:

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

VOL. IV. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY DECEMBER 5, 1899. NO. 11

The Buffalo Game.

Bucknell lost its last game of the season to the University of Buffalo team by a score of 30-0. Buffalo was at her best while Bucknell was weakened by the loss of two of her best men, Armour and Mathewson. Bucknell played poorly in the first half, allowing their opponents to roll up 24 points, but during the second half they braced up wonderfully and Buffalo was barely able to score one touchdown. Notwithstanding the one-sided score, the game was full of interesting plays, being by no means as one-sided as the score would seem to indicate.

Shortly before three the officials met and Capt. Riemer won the toss, taking the south goal with the wind in his favor. Buffalo kicked off, the ball going only a few feet where a Buffalo man fell on it. Buffalo then started to smash through Bucknell's line, and by terrific plunges carried the ball down the field for a touchdown in six minutes.

Buffalo did not resort to any trick playing, her scores being made upon straight football, aimed for the most part at Bucknell's center and Bucknell was unable to withstand the terrific ramming given her line and gradually gave way before them. After the first touchdown by U. of B. Bunnell kicked off, the ball going to Buffalo's goal posts, where Gordon caught the pigskin and trotted back 25 yards, Leon Cursons followed with a run of 40 yards and was finally brought to earth by Bunnell and Pritchard. It was one of the spectacular things of the afternoon. Hewitt next advanced the ball ten yards. Gordon, McPherson, Cursons followed with gains until Turk Gordon was fairly lifted over the heads of Bucknell for a second touchdown. A kick-out for goal was necessary, but it was accomplished without a hitch and Gordon kicked the goal. Bunnell again kicked off and sent the ball well down the field, but Gordon in the midst of good backing pulled up to the center before going down. It required about seven plays for the next touchdown and McPherson, Simpson, Donavan and Charley Haase divided up the the distance between them and again Gordon went over for the goal. Bunnell again did his best and the ball was back as quickly as U. of B. players could trot. Simpson carried both ball and players with him. Those back of the line took turns at taking the ball and it was but a short time until Curson's head was seen to be lying over Bucknell's line for another touchdown.

It was at this time that Bucknell braced, rather late, but they began to hold and Gordon was forced to kick, thus Bucknell secured the ball for the first time aside from the kick-offs, twice Bucknell tried U. of B.'s line. It budged an inch or two, but failed to give. At this period Bunnell received a bad kick in the forehead which opened up a nasty gash over his eye and made him partially delirious. Tuefel took Bunnell's place. Buffalo had held Bucknell on two downs and Prichard was forced to kick to get out of danger. The first half ended with the ball in Buffalo's possession upon her 35-yard line.

The second half was far superior to the game Bucknell put up in the first. Their playing was fierce and it was with the greatest difficulty that U. of B. was able to make the one touchdown which brought her score up to 30. Leon Cursons was the star in the early part of the second division and escaped around Bucknell's left end for long runs. Capt. Thomas seeing the goal in sight could not be held and swept through tackle and guard carrying a load of players with him and, guessed the distance right, for he could just reach out and plant the ball over the line. Gordon kicked the goal. This was the last scoring for Buffalo. Bucknell took a start at this juncture and began to carry Buffalo down the field and Weymouth, Stanton and Kase did brilliant work for Bucknell, especially the former, for he made several brilliant runs and always tackled safely. A punting match was indulged in by Pritchard and Gordon and both teams were on the run for some time, until Weymouth changed the tactics and tried the right end and it looked like clear sailing for him until he assayed to pass Gordon, when he was brought to earth with a cold thud. Bucknell began to ram the center and had the ball dangerously near Buffalo's line when the latter braced for a last effort and gained it on downs. Close formations were the order for U. of B. and the ball was traveling back when the time was called for the last half just after McPherson had sprinted for 25 yards around Bucknell's right end.

Doctor Lowry Memorial Services.

A Doctor Lowry memorial service was held in the chapel Wednesday morning. A number of Doctor Lowry's hymns were sung and Prof. Martin delivered an able address upon the dead alumnus and former Professor. Prof. Martin's address was in part as follows. "We are here to-day to contemplate a life: a vigorous, energetic life, a beautiful, a fruitful life This life in its buoyant youth, its tuneful spring, made our campus vocal with happy shouts and holy hymn. This life took form and strength, grew full and round, in the discipline of our institution: this life kept fresh and warm its attachment to college and town for fully fifty years! Of few living men can this be said. How few men in the land have maintained such constancy of interest and sympathy, of affection and helpfulness to their Alma Mater through fifty years! This is why we ask students to-day to pause in our routine work to consider this son and friend of our institution, this ever youthful-hearted lover of his college, this one-time teacher in her halls, this peerless preacher in the college church, this brother of 45 generations of graduates in fellowship of college memories, in devotion to mutual culture and abiding friendship."

The Professor then paid glowing tributes to Dr. Lowry's memory for his work in religious, musical and educational circles and said in conclusion:

In cherishing the memory and emulating the example of Dr. Lowry, the students of our University will aid in perpetuating the choicest traditions of our history of fifty years, in preserving the memories of its earliest distinction, the outline and embodiment of its purpose and aid. They will also honor one, who, with devoted zeal, strove to perpetuate the affiliation between colleges and their sons, and to make them mutually helpful. And no man of our time, of equal station and prominence, has so devoted himself to perpetuate the friendships formed in college life, throughout the after days. He has been an example and an inspiration to all Alumni and all Fraternity workers who desire to see the worthiest fruits of friendship clothe the trees planted in student days. In so doing he has strengthened the bonds between all true students, who view their culture unselfishly and patriotically.

The address, in full, will appear in the January Mirror.

Former Students Wed.

The Guthrie homestead on First Street was the scene of a very pretty home wedding on Thanksgiving evening when Miss Harriet Guthrie and Mr. Allyne Earl were united in Hymen's bonds. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jas. M. Guthrie, father of the bride, assisted by the Rev. I. Newton Earl, father of the groom. The young couple left on an early train Friday morning for Ithaca. N. Y., where they will make their future home. The ORANGE AND BLUE extends its heartiest congratulations.

Zeta's Open Meeting.

The open meeting of the Zeta Literary Society was well attended by the college and academy boys and friends from town, and proved a decided success in every respect. The Institute Chapel was beautifully decorated for the evening's entertainment. The program was interesting, amusing and decidedly original and reflects very much credit on those who originated it and carried it out. Miss Kline, '00, presided and delivered some suitable remarks at the opening of the meeting.

The first number on the program was a vocal solo by Miss Bacon, '02. She rendered it in a very excellent manner. This was followed by an exhibition of how the Freshmen girls study "De Senectute." This proved very interesting, especially to the young men, whose methods of study are so very different from the method shown by the girls. A number of spicy jokes were cracked during the study of the lesson.

A group of Sophomore girls next showed how the Sophs wrestled with Chemistry and the much dreaded Rhetoric, or perhaps more especially Paragraph Writing. This scene evoked much laughter from the audience. The girls showed that they could solve difficult equations in chemistry and that they had control of the figures of speech in Rhetoric.

The Junior girls next showed how to study that horror of all horrors "The Plural" Mechanics, which is proving such a nightmare to the Juniors. Following this the Seniors gave an exhibition of how they study Psychology. Some remarks were introduced which were rather foreign to the study but which nevertheless applied to some of the girls who were studying the subject.

A number of girls followed this with an exhibition of how the girls make that most delicious of delicious things, "fudge," without which a college girl's life would not be worth living. During the process of the fudge-making some of their friends tendered them a serenade under their windows.

The program closed with a reproduction of the girls' mass meeting held while waiting for the score of the State game. They sang several of the football songs. Miss Wylie made a short address and when the score was announced they showed that they really could give the college yells.

A social enjoyment and refreshments followed and at a reasonable hour all the young men left the enchanting halls and sought their rooms, feeling that they had spent a very pleasant evening, and perhaps wishing a like opportunity would come to them every month.

The New Building.

The brick work on the new dormitory is finished and work will be started on the roof at once. This will be of slate. The contract has been awarded to the Madoc Slate Company, of Allentown, with which C. R. James, '77, and W. H. Rodgers, '97, are connected.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

VOL. IV. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY DECEMBER 5, 1899. NO. 11

The Buffalo Game.

Bucknell lost its last game of the season to the University of Buffalo team by a score of 30-0. Buffalo was at her best while Bucknell was weakened by the loss of two of her best men, Armour and Mathewson. Bucknell played poorly in the first half, allowing their opponents to roll up 24 points, but during the second half they braced up wonderfully and Buffalo was barely able to score one touchdown. Notwithstanding the one-sided score, the game was full of interesting plays, being by no means as one-sided as the score would seem to indicate.

Shortly before three the officials met and Capt. Riemer won the toss, taking the south goal with the wind in his favor. Buffalo kicked off, the ball going only a few feet where a Buffalo man fell on it. Buffalo then started to smash through Bucknell's line, and by terrific plunges carried the ball down the field for a touchdown in six minutes.

Buffalo did not resort to any trick playing, her scores being made upon straight football, aimed for the most part at Bucknell's center and Bucknell was unable to withstand the terrific ramming given her line and gradually gave way before them. After the first touchdown by U. of B. Bunnell kicked off, the ball going to Buffalo's goal posts, where Gordon caught the pigskin and trotted back 25 yards, Leon Cursons followed with a run of 40 yards and was finally brought to earth by Bunnell and Pritchard. It was one of the spectacular things of the afternoon. Hewitt next advanced the ball ten yards. Gordon, McPherson, Cursons followed with gains until Turk Gordon was fairly lifted over the heads of Bucknell for a second touchdown. A kick-out for goal was necessary, but it was accomplished without a hitch and Gordon kicked the goal. Bunnell again kicked off and sent the ball well down the field, but Gordon in the midst of good backing pulled up to the center before going down. It required about seven plays for the next touchdown and McPherson, Simpson, Donavan and Charley Haase divided up the the distance between them and again Gordon went over for the goal. Bunnell again did his best and the ball was back as quickly as U. of B. players could trot. Simpson carried both ball and players with him. Those back of the line took turns at taking the ball and it was but a short time until Curson's head was seen to be lying over Bucknell's line for another touchdown.

It was at this time that Bucknell braced, rather late, but they began to hold and Gordon was forced to kick, thus Bucknell secured the ball for the first time aside from the kick-offs, twice Bucknell tried U. of B.'s line. It budged an inch or two, but failed to give. At this period Bunnell received a bad kick in the forehead which opened up a nasty gash over his eye and made him partially delirious. Tuefel took Bunnell's place. Buffalo had held Bucknell on two downs and Prichard was forced to kick to get out of danger. The first half ended with the ball in Buffalo's possession upon her 35-yard line.

The second half was far superior to the game Bucknell put up in the first. Their playing was fierce and it was with the greatest difficulty that U. of B. was able to make the one touchdown which brought her score up to 30. Leon Cursons was the star in the early part of the second division and escaped around Bucknell's left end for long runs. Capt. Thomas seeing the goal in sight could not be held and swept through tackle and guard carrying a load of players with him and, guessed the distance right, for he could just reach out and plant the ball over the line. Gordon kicked the goal. This was the last scoring for Buffalo. Bucknell took a start at this juncture and began to carry Buffalo down the field and Weymouth, Stanton and Kase did brilliant work for Bucknell, especially the former, for he made several brilliant runs and always tackled safely. A punting match was indulged in by Pritchard and Gordon and both teams were on the run for some time, until Weymouth changed the tactics and tried the right end and it looked like clear sailing for him until he assayed to pass Gordon, when he was brought to earth with a cold thud. Bucknell began to ram the center and had the ball dangerously near Buffalo's line when the latter braced for a last effort and gained it on downs. Close formations were the order for U. of B. and the ball was traveling back when the time was called for the last half just after McPherson had sprinted for 25 yards around Bucknell's right end.

Doctor Lowry Memorial Services.

A Doctor Lowry memorial service was held in the chapel Wednesday morning. A number of Doctor Lowry's hymns were sung and Prof. Martin delivered an able address upon the dead alumnus and former Professor. Prof. Martin's address was in part as follows. "We are here to-day to contemplate a life: a vigorous, energetic life, a beautiful, a fruitful life This life in its buoyant youth, its tuneful spring, made our campus vocal with happy shouts and holy hymn. This life took form and strength, grew full and round, in the discipline of our institution: this life kept fresh and warm its attachment to college and town for fully fifty years! Of few living men can this be said. How few men in the land have maintained such constancy of interest and sympathy, of affection and helpfulness to their Alma Mater through fifty years! This is why we ask students to-day to pause in our routine work to consider this son and friend of our institution, this ever youthful-hearted lover of his college, this one-time teacher in her halls, this peerless preacher in the college church, this brother of 45 generations of graduates in fellowship of college memories, in devotion to mutual culture and abiding friendship."

The Professor then paid glowing tributes to Dr. Lowry's memory for his work in religious, musical and educational circles and said in conclusion:

In cherishing the memory and emulating the example of Dr. Lowry, the students of our University will aid in perpetuating the choicest traditions of our history of fifty years, in preserving the memories of its earliest distinction, the outline and embodiment of its purpose and aid. They will also honor one, who, with devoted zeal, strove to perpetuate the affiliation between colleges and their sons, and to make them mutually helpful. And no man of our time, of equal station and prominence, has so devoted himself to perpetuate the friendships formed in college life, throughout the after days. He has been an example and an inspiration to all Alumni and all Fraternity workers who desire to see the worthiest fruits of friendship clothe the trees planted in student days. In so doing he has strengthened the bonds between all true students, who view their culture unselfishly and patriotically.

The address, in full, will appear in the January Mirror.

Former Students Wed.

The Guthrie homestead on First Street was the scene of a very pretty home wedding on Thanksgiving evening when Miss Harriet Guthrie and Mr. Allyne Earl were united in Hymen's bonds. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jas. M. Guthrie, father of the bride, assisted by the Rev. I. Newton Earl, father of the groom. The young couple left on an early train Friday morning for Ithaca, N. Y., where they will make their future home. The ORANGE AND BLUE extends its heartiest congratulations.

Zeta's Open Meeting.

The open meeting of the Zeta Literary Society was well attended by the college and academy boys and friends from town, and proved a decided success in every respect. The Institute Chapel was beautifully decorated for the evening's entertainment. The program was interesting, amusing and decidedly original and reflects very much credit on those who originated it and carried it out. Miss Kline, '00, presided and delivered some suitable remarks at the opening of the meeting.

The first number on the program was a vocal solo by Miss Bacon, '02. She rendered it in a very excellent manner. This was followed by an exhibition of how the Freshmen girls study "De Senectute." This proved very interesting, especially to the young men, whose methods of study are so very different from the method shown by the girls. A number of spicy jokes were cracked during the study of the lesson.

A group of Sophomore girls next showed how the Sophs wrestled with Chemistry and the much dreaded Rhetoric, or perhaps more especially Paragraph Writing. This scene evoked much laughter from the audience. The girls showed that they could solve difficult equations in chemistry and that they had control of the figures of speech in Rhetoric.

The Junior girls next showed how to study that horror of all horrors "The Plural" Mechanics, which is proving such a nightmare to the Juniors. Following this the Seniors gave an exhibition of how they study Psychology. Some remarks were introduced which were rather foreign to the study but which nevertheless applied to some of the girls who were studying the subject.

A number of girls followed this with an exhibition of how the girls make that most delicious of delicious things, "fudge," without which a college girl's life would not be worth living. During the process of the fudge-making some of their friends tendered them a serenade under their windows.

The program closed with a reproduction of the girls' mass meeting held while waiting for the score of the State game. They sang several of the football songs. Miss Wylie made a short address and when the score was announced they showed that they really could give the college yells.

A social enjoyment and refreshments followed and at a reasonable hour all the young men left the enchanting halls and sought their rooms, feeling that they had spent a very pleasant evening, and perhaps wishing a like opportunity would come to them every month.

The skilled workman is known by the use he makes of his tools. In the library is found a storehouse full of tools. The value of a systematic course of intelligent reading of first-class English authors can scarcely be overestimated. The natural tendency is to allow the reaction consequent to strict application to text books to govern our outside reading.

We seek light entertaining literature in preference to more solid reading. There is no objection to this where recreation is the sole aim. It should, however, be made a point by every student to give a few minutes each day to the reading of English for the benefit and discipline derived from it. A book which makes a student give attention to every sentence, to think, to think of what he reads and perhaps to consult the dictionary frequently, gives mental discipline aside from its mere contents. Such reading is a test of the power gained from the study of other languages. The understanding of the meaning, relation and position of words which is essential to the translation of foreign languages ought to aid in gaining the true meaning of any English production. Such a book not only tests the student's power in this line, but developes it. To do this more thoroughly it should be far enough beyond him, so that it is not easy reading, but draws out his mental powers at every turn. Reading of this nature, is also an excellent training for the development of the will. It requires will power to fix and hold the attention upon something that is uninteresting and difficult.

In addition to this mental discipline, the student would receive from such a course of reading, a store of fine thought and an appreciation of style and choice diction which are almost invaluable in themselves.

From time to time our columns have called attention to the worth of the debating society, and have urged upon the student the importance of attending the meetings of our literary societies. Speaker Henderson, of the National House of Representatives, has the following to say about the matter:

"The debating society should be an important factor in the training of a young man. One of the most desirable things about regular debating is that the speakers are forced to read extensively and study deeply."

Henderson owes a great deal of his own success to the debating society, and even in his youthful days he was a leader among youthful debaters, who assembled to discuss the questions of the day.

Several of the boys, while trying to make a raid on an apple barrel on west wing, Wednesday evening, very unexpectedly found the owner of the apples in his room. They were very much astonished as they had expected he had gone home to spend his vacation. He kindly offered them all the apples they could eat.

Bucknell Dramatic Club.

The Bucknell Dramatic Club is now a living, breathing reality. Various attempts have been made to form a dramatic association, but heretofore failure has always attended the efforts. There was no reason why Bucknell, up-to-date in everything else, should be behind the times in this particular. For good material existed in the school, as was evidenced by the class day plays.

At a meeting on Saturday the Club, which consists of Wassel, Peck, Sherwood and Evans, seniors; Meschter, Smith, Sausser and Thompson, juniors, elected the following officers:—Pres., Wassell: Vice Pres., Evans; Secretary, Smith: Treasurer, Meschter.

The first entertainment will be given Thursday night in the Opera House, when a grand double bill will be presented, consisting of two roaring farces, "The Unexpected Always Happens," and "A Proposal Under Difficulties." The general admission is twenty-five cents, with an additional ten cents for reserved seats. The proceeds go to foot ball.

UNEXPECTED ALWAYS HAPPENS.

"Mick" Shreedy, a boxing professor, fresh from the Bowery.....Wm. E. Thompson.

Mrs. Hudson, a genial old lady. Steve's mother..... Emmons L. Peck.

PROPOSAL UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

Bob Yardsley } suitors for the hand
Jack Barlow } of Miss Andrews..... } Harry B. Wassel. } Jess. D. Evans.

Dorothy Andrews, a much beloved young lady....David A. Sausser.

Jennie, an Irish housemaid.....Emmons L. Peck.

Mrs. Hulley Entertains Senior Girls.

On last Friday evening the young ladies of Dr. Hulley's different classes spent a very pleasant evening at his home. The Doctor's reading of the description of Achilles' shield from Bryant's "Iliad" and several selections from "Mr. Dooley" were much enjoyed. Refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening spent in singing and looking over pictures of scenes and art abroad, made doubly interesting by the explanations and facts given by the kind host and hostess.

Dr. Lowry's Funeral.

Messrs E. Percy Gilchrist, '97, G. Livingston Bayard, '99, and Samuel Calvin Smith, 1901, were pall bearers at the funeral of Robert Lowry, D. D. '54, which took place Tuesday Nov. 28, at Plainfield, N. J. Among the Alumni present at the funeral were G. A. Peltz, D. D., W. H. Conard, D. D., J. B. Probasco, M. D., and others. Dr. Peltz spoke on the life of the deceased. He spoke of Dr. Lowry's abilities and said that "he never met a man more loyal to his fellow men." While on his death bed, Dr. Lowry said to his friend: "There is nothing better than to submit to the inevitable, the inevitable is God, and there is nothing better than to submit to God. Death has nothing in me: death is abolished."

Phila. Club of Bucknell Banquets.

The Philadelphia Club of Bucknell University held its annual meeting and banquet at Boothby's last Monday evening. Over fifty were present. A. J. Rowland, D. D., presided. The principal address was made by President Harris. Addresses were also made by Charles R. James, Esq., Joseph E. Sagebeer, Ph. D., George E. Rees, D. D., and Mary Moore Wolfe. M. D. The following officers were elected: A. J. Rowland, D. D., President; Bernard E. MacMakin, Secretary, and Clement B. Lowe, M. D., Treasurer.

Athletic Association Meeting.

The semi-annual meeting of the Athletic Association will be held Saturday morning at 10.00 in the Laboratory. Reports will be heard and the election of the regular officers of the Association take place. President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, two Members of Finance Committee, Executive Committees and the Foot Ball Manager for 1900 are to be elected.

All students in the University are eligible to membership on the payment to the Treasurer of $1.00 the annual dues of the Association.

Mr. Hoskins Retained.

The Orange and Blue is pleased to announce that Mr. G. W. Hoskins, who efficiently coached our football team this season, has been retained to take charge of the gymnasium for the next six months. Mr. Hoskins will begin his services on January 2. His chief work during his engagement will be in the gymnasium, and he will also be given general charge of all athletic sports.

Former Bucknellites Wed.

Miss Margaret Elizabeth Stoner and Mr. Ralph L. Melick, a graduate of the Academy, were married at Sunbury on Thursday night of last week. Mrs. Melick is a sister of Mrs. Wm. C. Gretzinger.

President Harris' Reception.

President Harris and wife tendered a reception to the Freshmen class and the Senior girls Friday evening. The evening was spent very pleasantly in a social way. The various members of the class who possess musical ability used it to entertain their fellows. Up until the present time the all-important question has been who hit "Billy" Patterson? All is changed now, for the question of import above all others is, who got away with the ice cream Friday night? For some person or persons, succeeded in getting away with the ice cream, and the Freshmen were forced to forego the pleasure of eating it.

The influence of ideals upon men's lives is a recognized fact. The truth of this fact is clearly illustrated in college life. A students idea of the aim and value of education, determines his attitude toward all that confronts him during his course. It is easy to distinguish some of the ideals which are active influences in the college atmosphere. It is evident that to some, education is nothing more than a mark of respectability and rank.

It is to be desired just as anything else is, which stamps one as up-to-date and highly respectable. To others, education represents the weapon, with which they expect to fight their way through life.

Education receives a premium in the struggle of competition, and therefore those who wish to stand a fair chance in the world, must be educated. It is a welcome sign that the age regards education so highly, but success or supremacy is not the end of education. Other ideals of education as power, culture and development play their part in determining the students aim in its pursuit. The true value of education is beyond all these. It may give culture and refinement; it may be a great advantage in gaining material welfare, but beyond these secondary benefits, its true value is found in its reaction in the man himself. Education is a development, an unfolding of the possibilities inherent in the man. It is not a commodity to be bestowed or bought. Its value can not be estimated in dollars and cents, but in characters and lives. The sooner men realize this fact, the sooner the State recognizes the bearings of this truth and acts upon them, the swifter will be the advance of civilization and the more assured will be the onward march of progress.

For sometime a movement has been on foot to organize a dramatic club. There is hardly a school in the country of any importance that does not have a dramatic club under some name or other, whether it be "Thespian," "Hasty Pudding" or "Masks and Wig." A club has at last been organized at Bucknell to promote and stimulate work along dramatic lines. The membership of the club is to be confined to Seniors and Juniors. The first entertainment of the club which will be given Thursday night ought to secure the support and encouragement of every student.

Senators Chandler and Hale certainly chose a novel means for calling the attention of the Senate to the growth of athletics at the government schools. The former introduced the bill, making large concessions to athletics, with Senator Hale probably in the secret, and during the discussion both gentlemen waxed facetions and at times sarcastic. They hoped by this method to check the growth of athletics at West Point.

The Alpha Literary Society had an interesting meeting on Friday evening. A special feature was introduced into the program. Almost the whole time time was devoted to a discussion of cultural vs. technical studies. This discussion was opened by Snyder, '02, on the affirmative and Robbins, '00, on the negative. A large number took part in the open discussion. The meeting was very interesting. At the next meeting, Dr. Perrine will deliver an address on "What constitutes an able debater."

Athletics in the Senate.

The routine proceedings of the senate were enlivened on Friday last by a colloquy between Mr. Chandler, of New Hampshire, and Mr. Hale, of Maine, over a bill introduced by the former to promote athletic sports at the military academy at West Point.

The title of the bill set forth its object to be "to increase the efficiency of the West Point Military academy and to qualify and stimulate the American youth for actual military service by suitable physical training instead of excessive mental education." It is provided that the course of instruction at the Academy should dispense with the study of higher mathematics and the foreign languages and substitute a course in athletics, to embrace especially golf, bicycling, football and baseball. The bill also provided for annual athletic contests at different cities and provided an appropriation for prizes.

Bucknell Dramatic Club's Performance

The Dramatic Club made its initial bow the public Thursday evening in the Opera House. Two farces were given "The Unexpected Always Happens" and "A Proposal Under Difficulties." Although the weather was not exactly propititious a considerable number braved the rain, so that by the time the curtain went up a fairly large audience had assembled.

The first farce produced was the "Unexpected Always Happens." The cast was as follows:

"Mick" Shreedy, a boxing professor, fresh from the Bowery.....Wm. E. Thompson.
Mrs. Hudson, a genial old lady, Steve's mother..... Emmons L. Peck.
Miss Hudson, an inquisitive, gushing maiden, sister to Steve.....Sam. C. Smith.

The scene was laid in a Harvard room. The farce centered around a visit which Mrs. Hudson and her daughter unexpectedly paid to her son's room. The play was full of funny situations and went of with a snap and vim. Sherwood as Ned Burleigh acted his part very well, while Wassell, Thompson and Meschler filled their parts in excellent style. Peck and Smith as Mrs. Hudson and daughter excited laughter by their make-ups and the grace and ease with which they assumed female parts.

The scene of the second farce "A Proposal Under Difficulties," was laid in a fashionable New York drawing room.

Jack Barlow } of Miss Andrews..... { Harry B. Wassel. { Jess. D. Evans.
Dorothy Andrews, a much beloved young lady....David A. Sausser.
Jennie, an Irish housemaid.....Emmons L. Peck.
Hicks, the irritable coachman.

Dave Sausser was to have taken the part of Dorothy Andrews but unfortunately he was taken ill with typhoid fever, and Sam. C. Smith kindly consented to assume the part. Wassell and Evans as rival suitors played their roles well, and caused laughter by their solicitation on Miss Andrews' behalf. Smith as Dorothy had a "get-up" that was a stunner, and although he had but two days to rehearse, he did very well. Peck was inimitable as the Irish housemaid. He had a brogue a foot thick, and his make-up was a thing of beauty.

The music under the direction of Brown Martin, Clarence Weymouth and E. P. Griffiths was excellent and the thanks of the Dramatic Club are due them.

Dr. Perrine delivered an address to the G. A. R., Thursday evening.

Theta Alpha Society.

Theta Alpha Hall was unusually crowded on Friday evening. An invitation to attend the meeting was accepted by Euepia Society, and when the meeting was called to order the three full rows of chairs placed round the room could not accomodate the audience. A special program was the feature of the meeting. The question, Resolved, that the United States should establish a school for the purpose of training men for the diplomatic and consular service, was dicussed affirmatively by Messrs. Trax and Rhodes, and negatively by Messrs. McCracken and Van Nostrand. After which Reed, '00, delivered an oration on "Civil Service Reform." The production was ably rendered, and in substance proved its author quite a thinker on political matters. Dr. Perrine occupied the next period with an address on "What constitutes an able debater." The Doctor more than satisfied the expectations of his hearers with the able discussion of his subject. In his introduction he recalled former visits to the O. A. In discussing the subject he said first it must be considered what a debater is called upon to do. A debate is a contest about opinions. A debater is constructive and destructive, and he has to do with the present or the immediate future. A debate is no set speech, a set speech is a recitation. A debate is not mere argumentation. There are three persons in a debate, speaker, opponent, audience. A debater knows only in a general way the position of his opponent, hence he must make his speech fit that of his opponent. A debater must both defend and attack, he must give as well as receive blows. A debater must be fully prepared for he is in a hostile camp. He must know his own side and that of his opponent. He must see the vital points in the question. A debater must ably deliver his arguments and attacks. Think strongly and quickly. He must be collected and passionate. He must be aglow and have proper words at his command so as to lose no time. He must use telling sentences. Must know when a point is made and when he has answered his opponent. He must take pains to recommend himself by all the arts of persuasion.

The work done in the society this term has been very satisfactory with but few exceptions every student assigned a place on the program has endeavored to fill it, and at no time has a good audience been wanting. The President has spared no effort to make the work a success. He has given special care to the private, unseen work of the society. It is to be hoped that the society will continue to flourish during the coming term and all the year.

Athletic Association Meeting.

The semi-annual meeting of the Bucknell Athletic Association was held in the Laboratory on Saturday morning. President Dewitt was in the chair. The attendance was considerably larger than heretofore at these meetings. The interest in the election was very keen during the past week. All the offices were warmly contested for. Football Manager Wassel, '00, handed in a very encouraging report of the finances of the last season which will be printed in full later. Treasurer of the association Kunkle, '01, gave his report for the year. This report shows an indebtedness of about $350.00 remaining over from last year. The executive committees for football, baseball, basketball and track athletics were reappointed with the exception of Prof. Fisk taking Prof. Kauffman's place on the football committee.

The elections in every case were close. The interest centered on the football management, Smith winning out by a margin of six.

The election resulted as follows :

Basket Ball.

Basketball now has the call. The glories of the gridiron are now but memories and energies are being directed toward making a winning basketball team. The many candidates for the team practice every afternoon in the gymnasium. Of last year's team, Wassell, Theis, Goodall, Sanford Davis, Weymouth and Elliott are out again trying for place. Besides these men there are Bevan, a player of known ability; Tom Morris, Shepherd, and although neither have been out, it is said that Kase and Carlin are both good basketball players. With abundant material the competition for place should be keen.

Manager Thompson has been busy arranging the preliminary matters, such as securing games, and has announced his schedule as follows :

Jan. 5.—Danville Y. M. C. A., at Lewisburg.
Jan. 19.—Bloomsburg State Normal School, at Bloomsburg.

The question of political reform is one that is agitating the people at the present time. The corrupt measures of politicians are arousing indignation among earnest, liberty-loving men. Frequently the mere reference to politics or politicians will call forth a smile. People are awakening to the sham in much that goes by the name of government. The result of this awakening will be action. Although the existing state of affairs may not be revolutionized in a day, a change is inevitable when American people once awaken to the fact that their liberty is menaced. The college man, as he goes out into the world, must assume some attitude toward this question. What shall his attitude be? We would naturally expect him, with his training and superior intelligence to lead in this movement. There appears, however, to be danger that he will find it easier to drift along with the crowd.

It can not be expected that he will emphatirally change his tactics on leaving college. The motives which prompted his actions there, will likely be the ones to guide his professional or political life.

Although in college elections the result is of little account, the form and principles involved are the same as in more important questions.

It could be reasonably expected that a college community would consist of men who knew their own minds and who had too much respect for themselves to allow others to make mere tools of them. On the other hand, what honor is there in holding an office unless it expresses the will of one's fellow-students? An election to any office ought to testify to the majority's confidence in one's ability to fill the office and to their willingness to bestow it.

The reply is often made to any remark about this state of affairs, that things have always been more or less as they are now, and probably will be until men outgrow such smallness as these practices imply.

This may be true, but college men ought now to be outgrowing such things. One thing is certain, if the college man refuses to assume his responsibilities and to use his power in righting the wrong, we can have very little hope for help from other quarters.

The Forum for this month has an interesting article on "The Fundamentals of Fiction" by Prof. Burton, of the University of Minnesota. Good novel making, viewed from the technical stand point, rests four—square upon invention (plot,) construction, description and characterization. Prof. Burton thinks that character ization is the most important of these. Compared with it he says: "Invention and construction are of secondary importance;" description and style, important as they may be in the abstract, are as naught. A novel without patient character drawing, whatever its merit in other directions, can never take high rank: it is almost certainly a failure foredoomed. Ability in this one direction or quality, he thinks, will insure success in the face of serious deficiency in other qualities, and this fact accounts for the hold some writers continue to hold upon the public. To prove his point Prof. Burton proceeds to name a list of authors like Dumas, Scott, Dickens, Thackeray, George Elliot and ascribes the success of their works to their skill in characterization.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOL. IV. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY JANUARY 9, 1900 No. 14

Dr. Harris' Address.

In pursuance of the usual custom Dr. Harris delivered an address to the student body in the chapel yesterday morning taking General Grant's life as the basis of his remarks. General Grant's life was utterly devoid of factitious advantages of birth. He rose into power and eminence not because of any advantage of birth or wealth, but because of sheer force of will and personal character. In the days when the country was rent by civil strife, it was necessary to have the support of the people, and this could only be gained by conduct which inspired the confidence of the people. Beside having the confidence of the people Grant had the confidence of his generals. Sherman, Hancock, Meade, Sedgwick, Sheridan, all these and others were commanded by Grant and in order to command men great as these, a commander must of necessity be great. These men were the siftings of a titanic struggle in which everything weak was crushed to the wall.

One of the characteristics which raised Grant above his fellows was his tenacity of purpose. He had a constitutional dislike of turning back, founded in a sublime faith. He was a kind of fatalist. Sherman regarded this as one of the greatest characteristics of the man.

Grant had great energy. Energy in warfare can be divided into two kinds, protensive and intensive. Grant's energy was of the intensive kind. He was a man of action, of great things. His method was like that of Frederick the Great.

Gen. Grant was not a scholar or a master of books, but he was a profound and original thinker. The Civil War was waged under new conditions. The army was composed of mechanics, and skilled workmen. Grant took advantage of this fact in building bridges, etc. Railroad facilities and telegraph lines had revolutionized warfare. Grant introduced more radical measures into the army than any great general who ever lived. He had a great, a comprehensive mind. 20,000 men behind breastworks could repulse an attack of 50,000 men. This was a fact proved by blood. Grant developed tactics to meet the occasion, and get the enemy out of the trenches. In his method of utilizing cavalry Grant was original, and he also introduced a looser order of formation into the army ranks. This made each man a unit; an army, a collection of thinking, intelligent units, not a mere fighting machine. This originality often made Grant misunderstood. Grant had great power of forecast. This was evidenced by his plans of campaign. He had the ability to visualize.

Prominent in Grant's moral characteristics were his justice and loyalty to subordinates. He never hesitated to bestow credit when and where due. He never appropriated or accepted credit for himself when it was due to others.

General Grant's magnanimity toward the foe was shown in the orders to his men not to cheer at the capture of Vicksburg and at Lee's surrender. He was a man of great purity of character. A man of whom the soldiers said, as was said of Hannibal of old, "We needed him in the day of battle."

Orange and Blue Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the O. & B. on Saturday Jan. 13, for the purpose of reorganization and election of an editorial staff. Let all members be present.

Basket Ball.

Friday Bucknell plays Danville in the gymnasium. Danville has a strong team, having been organized for some time, and the game promises to be close and exciting.

The Literary Societies.

The literary societies were largely attended Friday evening, and the election of officers was spirited. During last term the societies enjoyed an unusual degree of prosperity. The meetings were well attended and with few excentions every person assigned a part made a faithful attempt to fill it. It is a healthy sign when students take an interest in literary societies, and it is hoped that the interest will continue this term.

An effort is being made to organize a hockey team in college. There are some men in college who have had some experience tn the game. With this as a nucleus we should be able to have a good team.

Thursday evening, Dec. 21 the "Little Tycoon" was produced in Milton by local talent of that place under the direction of Miss Ellen M'Cormick and J. Brown Martin. The production was in every respect first class. Dr. Avair-agnet who witnessed the production was enthusiastic in his praise.

Bertha Watkins '99, visited some College friends on Tuesday while on her way to Chicago, where she is going to teach in the public schools of that city.

Varsity vs. Reserves.

The basketball season was ushered in on Saturday by a game between the varsity and reserves. The former had no trouble in winning, the final score being 30—8.

As several of the players are connected with the football team, little practice can be had during the first term, so that our season is late in starting; as a result the team does not reach its gait until late in the season and loses some of its earlier games because of a lack of practice. This lack of practice was noticeable on Saturday, when neither side played very fast ball; the first team, however, had the better of it in passing and locating the basket.

The game made one fact very evident, i. e.—that there is some very good basketball material in the school; since we also have a most excellent coach, there is but but one thing further needed to develop one of the fastest, if not the fastest team ever representing Bucknell—that is, hard practice and faithful training.

Several important games have been scheduled by Manager Thompson, which it would be a great credit to Bucknell to win; this can be done only by faithful practice, and it is to be hoped that all basketball men will come out and work hard for the team.

Saturday's line up was as follows:

Varsity.		Reserves.
Davis	R. Forward	Carlin.
Goodall	L. Forward	Morris.
Wassel	Center	Shorkley.
Beran	R. Back	Kase.
Elliot	L. Back	Stanton.

Gymnasium Work.

George Hoskins, Physical Director, has assumed charge of gymnasium work. Drill will be given daily. The schedule has been arranged as follows:

Tuesday, 3 P. M. to 5 P. M. all students.
4 P. M. to 5 P. M. Academy—required.
Wednesday, 3 P. M. to 5 P. M. Freshmen—required.
5 P. M. to 5.45 P. M. special work—boxing.
Thursday, 3 P. M. to 5 P. M. all students.
4 P. M. to 5 P. M. Academy—required.
Friday, 3 P. M. to 5 P. M. Soph's and Freshmen—required.
5 P. M. to 5.45 P. M.—Special work.
Saturday, 3 P. M. to 4 P. M.—All students.
4 P. M. to 5.45 P. M.—Wrestling.
Daily, 10.30 A. M. to 12. Physical Measurement.
Basket Ball practice Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 5 P. M. to 5.45 P. M.

The last dance of the series occurs Thursday evening in the Armory. Music will be furnished by the Watsontown orchestra.

Hockey.

A game which is becoming popular in the northern cities of the United States and other cities having artificial ice skating rinks is hockey. In learning more about this national winter game of Canada, however, we must first rid ourselves of the idea that it is our common game of "shinny," since the only resemblance seems to be in the shape of the stick used. It is played on an area of ice from one hundred and fifty to two hundred feet long and fifty to two hundred feet wide. A hockey team is composed of seven members whose main object is to shoot a circular rubber puck, about three inches in diameter and one inch thick, through the goal, composed of two uprights, four feet high and six feet apart. In this goal is a keeper who takes position a few inches in front of the posts and keeps the puck from going through, either by stopping with his feet, catching it or striking it with his stick. There are four forwards, one on each wing, and two center men who do all the advancing, and it is their team work which makes the game. The cover-point position is the most important and difficult. The player is both on the offensive and defensive. The point should be strong in checking an advance and in lifting the puck. This and the goal keeper's position are purely defensive and take their places in the order mentioned.

The rules are somewhat similar to those laid down in football, the principal one being that a player must always be "on side," i. e., never playing in advance of the punk: consequently he cannot take the puck on a pass from a player of his own side unless he be behind him when the pass is made; neither can he, in the same way, touch the puck when a "lift" or "shoot" has been made from the stick of a player on his own side. He is put "onside" immediately upon a player of the opposing team touching the puck.

With these general principles and a little coaching any good skater can soon learn the game. An attempt is now being made to organize a team here, and already the following candidates have been on the ice: English, Bertolette, Siegel, Carlin, Shorkley, Burrowes, Riemer and Wassell. All interested in the game and desiring to try for a team meet in the base ball cage Tuesday evening at 4 P. M.

Rev. Sam. R. Wood, a Bucknell man received a call from the North Baptist Church, Wilmington, Delaware. He lately returned from a wedding trip to Europe.

Charley Pearse, '00, has not been able to return to College to complete his last year. He will probably return next year to finish his course

The basket ball team is being coached by Instructor Hoskins.

The ORANGE AND BLUE wishes its readers a Happy New Year, and hopes that the new year will be rich in good things for every student. With this issue the present staff lays down the pen. Sometimes to the staff, news seemed as elusive as the proverbial will o' the wisp, but all is forgiven we hope.

Governor Roosevelt's message to the New York Legislature contains the following: Rough, vigorous pastimes are excellent things for the nation, for they promote manliness, being good in their effects not merely upon the body, but upon the character, which is far more important than the body. It is an admirable thing for any young man whose work is of a sedentary character to take part in a vigorous play, so long that it is not carried to excess, or allowed to interfere with his work. Every exercise that tends to develope bodily vigor, daring, endurance, resolution and self-command should be encouraged.

Governor Roosevelt himself as a boy indulged in manly sports and as a consequence he is a live, clear-headed specimen of American manhood. To the students of Bucknell the conditions are especially favorable at present for physical developement. Physical Director Hoskins is a man of large experience in physical training and every student would do well to devote some time at least to gymnasium work.

Random Jottings.

Well, the holidays are gone and once more we are back at work. Christmas joys, and New Year's resolutions are but a memory. Psychology and Mechanics trouble no more and the Senior feels himself well under way to the wire. As if to remind the Senior that the end of the eventful four years is fast approaching, a schedule notice demands the subject of the Commencement oration within two weeks. Just at this time the Senior grows reflective. He thinks of the many incidents, the rich memories that fill the past, and then, well then, he thinks that all will soon be over (Faculty so willing). The little unpleasantnesses which sprung up during the course are forgotten. Memory gilds the past, and it is the future only which causes concern.

With Germany placing the ban on American fruit, German authorities objecting to American pork, and the German language causing Freshmen so many sleepless nights, it would be small wonder if young America were to become prejudiced against everything German. There were fourteen Freshmen—by a process of elimination the number has become thirteen. O! unlucky thirteen when will you cease to hodoo mankind.

What's the matter? There doesn't seem to be as many "cases" this year. Last year the college man and "co-ed" to a number considerable "paired off." It may be that the year is not sufficiently advanced, or maybe this is Cupid's year off, however, it doesn't seem quite like the old place to find the main hall practically unoccupied by cooing couples.

In this age of war and brave deeds some women will even risk marrying a man to reform him.

The facetions one suggests that it might be advisable to induce Aguinaldo to drop all war like schemes and join Bucknell's track team squad. "Aggie" seems to be a "corker" on the sprint.

Come let us reason together. It takes one hundred years to make one century, doesn't it? To make nineteen centuries it will take nineteen hundred years. Therefore—but the point of our pencil is worn down and we must stop.

There is a big row at the Eastern Indiana normal university over the initiation of Clarence Deaton into the mysteries of class societies. Wagon axle grease was smeared all over his body after his clothing had been torn off in shreds. An electric battery was then applied. The shock was so great that his sense of hearing has been destroyed.

The University of Chicago has adopted a system of concessions calculated to draw students from foreign countries. So far it has been applied only to Japan. On the principle that one native tongue is as good as another, the university will accept a unit of study in Japanese for the same amount of work in English. Chinese, the classic for the Japanese, will be accepted in lieu of Greek.

Under the law which gave Cornell university a certain amount of government land, the university is obliged to give one free scholarship to each assembly district in the state every year. When this law was passed there were 128 assembly districts in the state, which meant that there were 512 free students in the university all the time, as each scholarship was for the entire four years.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Bucknell 29—Danville 12.

On Friday evening occurred one of the most pleasing basketball games ever played in the Tustin Gymnasium; pleasing for two reasons—primarily because of fine team work on the par of both teams, and secondarily because our team won.

The game started shortly after eight, with a good-sized audience in attendance. During the first half Danville clearly outplayed the home team, especially in the early part. Their passing and general team work was excellent: few foolish long shots were attempted by them, and their men were quick and active. Bucknell played a good defensive game, the individual players each looking carefully after his opponent. During the latter part of this half the home team came more nearly up to the standard they are capable of reaching, and by good playing ended the half in their favor and were never again headed.

The second half started fast and furious, and continued so throughout—had the score been closer it would have been intensely exciting. Danville continued her good work, but Bucknell played a beautiful game, passing fast and accurately and attempting few shots until a man was clear under the goal. As a result the goals began to drop with a pleasing frequency—so frequently in fact that Danville was soon "on the run" and became slightly rattled. By cool, heady team work at this point, Bucknell secured a safe lead and won out by a fine score. The entire second half was a fine exhibition of fast, heady play on the part of both teams, with Bucknell having the better of it.

In reviewing the game we wish to emphasize the necessity of team work, and the good results thereof, as illustrated on Friday night. Without team work Bucknell could not have won. The credit of a goal belongs not alone to the man who threw it, but also to those men assisting in the play. As shown by this game, also, long shots seldom make, and only by steady passing is it possible to score frequently. We have never seen a better game played on the home floor; this is true not because our team won, but because of its fine work. This game, being the first and being so signally successful, should remain as a standard for the entire season, to be improved upon as much as possible.

Dr. LeRoy Stephens also gave an appropriate and interesting talk. The meeting Jan. 16, will be a "Moody Memorial." Addresses will be given by students who have heard Moody in his various lines of work.

The following Editorial staff was elected: Ed. in chief, W. S. Holland, '00; Editorial, Miss Katharine Johnson, '01; Locals, A. S. Bechtel, '01; Athletics, Bevan, '01.

The editor-in-chief has appointed the following: Miss Pooley, reporter for the Institute, and Mr. Hedens for the Academy.

The Field and Track Team.

The first meeting in the interest of Field and Track athletics for the year was held in the Gymnasium last Thursday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. The attendance was much larger than had been hoped for—about seventy-five candidates presenting themselves. The object of the meeting was not for any decisive or active measures toward team organization, but rather it had in view the bringing out of all those who expect to take part in any of the events during the coming spring, and impressing upon them the necessity of an early start in training, in order to stand the harder work later on.

Coach Hoskins gave a very instructive and useful talk on practical training, and the best means for becoming physically capable for this particular line of work. He strongly urged all prospective candidates to attend the drills at the gymnasium, preliminary to taking up such special work as running, jumping, shot-putting, etc., since only by slowly and gradually working up can the body be brought into the full limit of its powers. All would do well to bear this in mind, as by this means only is one safe from undue strains and over-training.

Let all the candidates come to the gymnasium and take the drills at least three times a week, and get into condition for the special work which will begin in about two weeks. This is the coach's particular branch of athletics, and we should follow his advice, for he thoroughly understands the making of a Field and Track team.

Hitherto Bucknell has put out some very creditable teams, being especially strong in runners, while the Field events have shown a deplorable lack of coaching. The defeat at State College last year was not unexpected and, while the score was very much one-sided, yet Bucknell certainly got her share of experience. It was not because State had more or better material, but simply that they had a scientific coach for a few weeks. This year we have one of the best of coaches for the entire season, a well-equipped Gymnasium, and an abundance of promising athletic material, so let everyone work hard and faithfully, and resolve to make a team that will fight gamely for every point. That is the only way to win, and win we must.

The candidates for the Relay Team should begin training at once. This event requires not only speed, and the knowledge of how to use it, but also a great amount of endurance, and only hard work will give the results.

A cross-country run, open to all, will be given about the middle of March, and a silver cup and medals will be given to the winners. In addition to this, indoor contests in pole-vaulting, high-jumping and shot-putting, will be held every two weeks, and potato races are also scheduled, so that each can find some event for which he is suited. Team cups will be given to all those who attain a certain speed or distance in any of the events, and everyone who breaks a college record will receive a silver medal.

Never before has Bucknell had such a chance to distinguish herself in this line, so let us all come out and show our appreciation by doing our best for the college and for ourselves.

CAPTAIN.

Thursday's Dance.

The third and last of the series of informal dances, given by Manager Thompson, of the Basket Ball team, was held in the Armory last Thursday evening. Notwithstanding the stormy weather, a good crowd attended. Among the out-of-town people were Misses Watson and Bovee, of Williamsport; Miss Youngman, of Lock Haven, and the Misses Cadwallader, of Milton. "Balone" Rodgers, ex-Cad '99, was also on hand.

Although the proceeds of these dances have been somewhat smaller than expected, they have been otherwise very successful, and we owe the management a vote of thanks for the opportunity of furthering our social development.

The Junior's Ball.

Following the precedent laid down by former classes, the class of 1901 intend to give a ball in the near future. We understand that this ball is not to be a distinctively class affair in the sense that it was decided upon at a class meeting; it is entirely in charge of a number of interested Juniors who will be responsible for the function. Committees are now at work and these Juniors hope to outshine all other classes in the brilliancy of their ball.

Base Ball.

All candidates for the base ball team are requested to meet Tuesday at 4 P. M. in the Latin recitation room. The preliminary work will be outlined and plans for the season considered. Let every player be on hand and work to make the season a success.

Recently the State Medical Council passed a resolution requiring "four years actual medical study" by candidates for a state license. Dr. W. W. Keen, the president of the American Medical Association and professor in Jefferson Medical College, opposes this resolution because it "discriminates against the poor medical student" and is "distinctly illegal." Speaking of the present plan he continues:

"Let us see how it works in the Jefferson Medical College. A student of Princeton, Harvard, Bucknell, Brown and other colleges, of whom we have representatives at present in the college, is admitted to our second year, provided he has pursued certain studies given below. A college man then will have his four years of college education followed by three years of medical study. A non-graduate of a college will have his high-school course and four years in the Jefferson. I need hardly point out which man will be the better trained and better educated man when he graduates in medicine."

Some of the boys in W. W. enjoyed a very pleasant chicken feast on Thursday evening

During the present school year there has been a notable lack of interest in a branch of student activity that was formerly a strong one, we refer to musical organizations. A glee club exists, we are told—but, where? The Bucknell Band is fast becoming a thing of memory and the Mandolin Club is even less fortunate than the others in that it has neither leader nor manager.

Has Bucknell ceased to appreciate the good such organizations are among college students, or is it because these branches need some one to lead the effort? Surely there are men at Bucknell who sing at least as well as Bucknellites of yore, or can manipulate musical instruments as well as their predecessors. Why, then, is it that there is so little interest displayed? The winter term is a good time to build up these orgaizations. Strong musical clubs are just as essential as strong athletic teams.

To-day everybody who works looks forward to a holiday. In the age of our grandfathers, vacations were reserved for school-children. It was not so long ago that business men, students, professional men, in fact, all of mature years and settled life never thought of a cessation from labor, and would probably have smiled at the absurdity of such a need.

The necessity for such holidays is, to-day, considered imperative. Even long periods of rest are becoming actually necessary. Men, like tired horses, are turned out to pasture.

Overwork is the inevitable consequence of the pushing, active age in which we live. In all departments of life it is manifested, but perhaps in none more than in that of the student. Formerly the young man who had "overstudied" was a weak-minded youth, whose feeble brain could not stand the strain of even a commonplace educational course, easily surmounted by an average intellect. Now it is a usual thing to find young people complaining of a lack of interest in their work, impaired memory, broken sleep, and loss of self-control. Nor is there any occasion for surprise or wonder. Demands of all kinds meet the student on every side: social demands, religious demands, to say nothing—alas, too often nothing—of the intellectual side.

Personal ambition is also a great factor in the over-worked state of our youth. Life seems to be a great race for pre-eminence. Every energy is used, every nerve strained, in the struggle for leadership. "To the head" is the cry of the age.

The question to be decided by all of us is, can we afford it? Is the present gain, the slight pre-eminence, now, worth the loss of the future? The inevitable reckoning is coming, slowly perhaps, but surely.

The full exercise of the powers, mentally and bodily, is desirable and improves them. But beyond this is the danger line. When there is no reserve fund of energy to draw upon in emergencies, we have become physically bankrupt, and, as this is not a question in Ethics, "Nature knows nothing of extenuating circumstances."

"Steve" Reed, '00, Marts, '02, Ayers, '01, Robinson, '02, Rhodes, '03, Bresnehan, '03, Ulmer, '02, Williams, '03, Bartholomew, '03, Johnson, '01, and Bechtel, '01, spent Friday evening in a very pleasant manner, attending a social at the home of Mr. Weaver, near Chillisquaque. The evening was spent in playing various games and listening to some fine recitations and excellent music. The famous "Sky High" Quartette made its first appearance. Excellent refreshments were served, to which all the boys did ample justice.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Friday's Game.

The patrons of the basket ball games at Bloomsburg acknowledge Friday evening's game to be the fastest and most exciting contest played in the Normal gymnasium this year. The game was played in the evening, the attendance being very large. The game began in the midst of intense excitment on the part of the spectators.

Bucknell started in playing their usual clean and fast game while the Normal immediately began to assert themselves in their accustomed, inherited perhaps, famous manner of play. Bucknell recognized the position in which they were placed and then the game began in earnest. From a few minutes after the game began until its close, except when time was used in allowing throws on account of fouls (which by the way were many), the game could be identified with the word dash. The ball on account of forced conditions was fought for alike in bounds and out of bounds, Dumbbells and indian clubs hanging along the sides of the gymnasium managed to keep the players from defacing the brick walls. Indeed about the best word to define the game is the word "warm," and it was intensely so in its various phases. Williams was disqualified for striking Elliot who had secured the ball out bounds, and the umpires too had sufficient duty to perform that no time was allowed them to fall into a dream. Bloomsburg has not been defeated this year and the players have been practicing constantly since the opening of the fall term.

The game ended with the score, 15-5, in favor of Bloomsburg.

Bloomsburg.		Bucknell.
Isaacs	attack	Wassell (capt.)
Lewis	attack	Davis
Williams } Costello }	center	Elliot
Kilmer	guard	Stanton
Oplinger	guard	Bevan

Score: Bloomsburg 5 field goals, 5 baskets on fouls; total 15. B. U. 2 field goals, 1 goal on foul: total 5! Referee, Eyer, Bloomsburg. Umpires: Moore, Bloomsburg; Thompson. Bucknell.

The Pittston Game.

The game at Pittston was played on a smooth and very slippery floor. Good feeling among players and audience prevailed. Both teams received intense applause upon the performance of some neat and good play. The Pittston boys at the beginning showed gentlemanly manner of play and the fact was immediately recognized and appreciated by Bucknell. The game as a result was clean and honest throughout.

The beautiful long throws of Wassell and the dexterous throwing of Anthony caused vigorous applause. Davis on account of injury received at Bloomsburg could not accompany the team to Pittston and Kase was played. Elliot having an injured knee, Wassell was played at centre and Elliot forward. The game was under the direct auspices of the Pittston Y. M. C. A. and the reception prepared for the team was of the best. The Pittston team has been playing together almost as a unit for about five years and they have been practicing all winter and thus far have not lost a game.

Y. M. C. A.		Bucknell.
Anthony	attack	Kase
McDonald	attack	Elliot
Dodge	center	Wassell (capt.)
Sheetz (capt)	guard	Stanton
Trax	guard	Bevan

Score: Pittston, 10 field goals, 1 goal on foul; total, 21. B. U. 5 field goals, total, 10. Referee, Benfield Pittston, Umpire, Thompson, B. U.

Both games showed good team work and considering the team's short period of practice two very good and lively games were played. Perhaps at both places Bucknell had the more chances at the baskets. One failing appeared to be the inability to place the ball squarely into the basket. But practice will bring that part of the play up to a better standard.

Y. M. C. A.

At the Moody Memorial meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday evening the following topics were discussed: The early life of Moody, by L. E. Ayers; Moody as an Evangelist, by T. J. Morris; Moody as an Educator, by C. W. Harvey; Impressions of Moody, by Shields, Rielly, Kulp, Tiffany, Rowe and Alexander.

The Y. M. C. A. announces the following list of leaders for the remainder of the winter term: Jan. 23, Dr. Harris; Jan. 30, S. Reed; Feb. 6, missionary meeting; Feb. 13, E. C. Switzer; Feb. 20, Rev. Dunlap; Feb. 27, A. S. Bechtel; March 6, missionary meeting; March 13, D. A. Pitts; March 20, E. A. Sterling.

Intercollegiate Debate.

The time for the annual intercollegiate debate with Franklin & Marshall is February 22. Of the three contests held, Bucknell has won one and F. & M. two.

Smarting under these defeats, we enter the lists this year with renewed energy and determination.

The four debaters, from whom the final two are to be chosen, have all had considerable experience in the art and may be relied upon to render a good account of themselves.

The first preliminary is to be held under Instructor Fisk, on February 1, and on February 2 the question will be debated by the joint societies. The question for the debate is: "Resolved, That Great Britain was Justified in making War on the Transvaal."

L'Agenda Announcement.

The Manager of the 1901 L'Agenda would like all group pictures to be inserted in the annual, to be handed in before the end of the week. Effort is being made to issue this year's L'Agenda early in May.

"Bob" Powell, ex-'01, stopped off Tuesday evening to see some of his friends in town and college, on his way to New York City.

Athletic Association Finances.

The new Finance committee of the Athletic association met last week and organized by electing Yencer Weidensaul chairman and C. E. Goodall secretary. The other members present were Registrar Gretzinger and Messrs. J. W. Snyder and H. T. Harvey.

It was reported that the Association's debt amounted to $225.00, the greater portion of which is due to the Spalding Athletic Supply House, and the balance to a local dealer. There is still standing out in unpaid foot-ball subscriptions, $30.00, and in board at training table, $30.00. As soon as this money is paid in, it will be applied to the debt. The committee will develop, at its next meeting, a plan to liquidat the above debt the present school year. Part of this plan will be to arrange with the Dramatic Club for an entertainment this term, and to hold a festival in conjunction with the base-ball manager,—one-half the proceeds to go to base ball and the other half to the debt.

The committee is arranging to meet with the various team managers, one at a time, to discuss thoroughly financial plans for the approaching seasons. No manager will be permitted to contract any obligation or to incur any expense without the consent of the committee.

Important action may also be taken relative to complimentary tickets. The committee will meet again this week.

The following is a list of football subscriptions received to date from the College and Academy for the past season:—

Alexander, A. S. Bechtel, O. S. Marts, W. C. Roller, W. V. Gundy, C. H. Miller, T. L. Williams, C. W. Harvey, John Sherman, L. R. Rentz, Jesse D. Evans, J. V. Trampton.

Geo. E. Edgett gave $.25.

The prompt payment of all outstanding subscriptions would be appreciated in order that the season's accounts may be settled.

Day of Prayer.

Contrary to the usual custom Bucknell will not observe a Week of Prayer this year. The Day of Prayer, however will be observed as usual. The Rev. J. B. G. Pidge, D. D., of Philadelphia, will preach the sermon in the Baptist Church at 10.30. Other meetings will be held during the day. As announced in the catalague the Day of Prayer falls on Thursday, January 25.

Preparatory to the Thursday meetings, the Y. M. C. A. will hold their weekly meeting on Wednesday, at 4 o'clock. Dr. Harris will lead.

The importance of the Day of Prayer services is emphasized very strongly in another column—let every student attend the meetings.

The Athletic Team.

Trainer Hoskins has requested all candidates for the Athletic team to report in the Gymnasium three days a week as preliminary work to form a basis for training on the field. Some of the promising candidates of last year's team for the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes, are: Goodall, Pierson, Riemer, Morris and Shorkley. Of the other men, Glaspey, Tiffany, Weymouth, Sheppard, Stanton, Tufel, Wallauer and Trax, are doing good work. For half mile and mile runs there are ten candidates.

Bucknell, for the last year or two, has been very weak in field events. A half dozen men from the foot-ball team have reported for the 16-pound shot and hammer events. Gillis, Armour, Rowe and Taylor are working hard for these events. They are new men and have difficulty in learning the turn in the hammer and shot. There are about forty candidates trying for the Athletic team. Coach Hoskins and Captain Sherwood are making strong efforts to develop men for the high and low hurdles, and the high and broad jumps. Bucknell this year will miss Pearce. The principle work of the Track condidates in the Gymnasium consists of chest-weight exercise, development of legs and back muscles; also practicing starts with the pistol. The shot and hammer men are practicing shot-putting indoors, and are taking special instructions in dumbbell exercise.

Bucknell hopes to put out a very strong relay team this year for the annual races at Franklin Field. She also hopes to have a good team for the annual meet with Pennsylvania State College, in June, on the Bucknell Athtetic field.

The day of prayer for Colleges is but two days away. Again, the student is asked to stop in the busy rush of work and turn his attention to other than secular affairs. The importance of such a time in college life can hardly be overestimated. It is not the unconverted only, but the Christain as well, who needs this breathing space for thoughts of higher things, for the broadening of his own experience, and for work for others.

Let us remember that all over the land prayer is going up for our Colleges, that they may be worthy keepers of the trust given to them, that they may send forth men and women fitted to lead in the world, and to point others to higher standards and ways of living.

Let us not forget that with increased opportunities there comes to each one of us increasing responsibility. None of us can afford to lose this opportunity for spiritual growth and progress. College life has a tendency in some ways to make men selfish. Each individual is engrossed with his personal gain to the exclusion of the claims of others upon him. But here is an opportunity not only to win something for oneself, but to help someone else as well.

Much has been accomplished at Bucknell in the past, through the efforts of the students at this time. More can be brought about on that day if each member of the Institution will feel the personal responsibility resting upon him. Come to the meetings and be ready to take any part in them you can.

Mr. W. C. Purdy, '99, renewed some of his old acquaintances on the Hill on Saturday. He has secured a position as teacher of English and Mathematics in an Annapolis Preparatory school at Annapolis, Md. Purdy makes a fine appearance with a full beard and whiskers.

Base Ball.

About thirty-five base ball candidates assembled in room 3 Wednesday afternoon, January 17. Prof. Rockwood, in a few remarks, outlined the team's work for the coming season. He told of the expected big games, trips, and the prospects for a good team. Captain Mathewson also gave expression to a few sound statements relative to the necessity of winter practice and training. Daily practice has been begun, and the indications are that the Captain, with due assistance on the part of the candidates, will place an excellent team on the diamond.

News was received yesterday by cable to William G. Hopper, from Cairo, Egypt, that the Rev. Dr. George Dana Boardman was seriously ill there. As Dr. Boardman is in his 72d year, it is feared he may not live to return to this country. This intelligence was received with alarm by the members of his old congregation in the First Baptist Church. For thirty years Dr. Boardman was pastor of this church, Chestnut street, west of Eighteenth. He resigned his charge in 1894, but was made honorary pastor. He has been abroad for more than a year, and went to Egypt because of its warm winter climate.

Geo. W. English, '02, spent Sunday in Harrisburg.

Harvard's football receipts last year were $48,490.

Friend, '03, was called to his home in Philadelphia for several days during the past week.

A new punching bag has been placed in the gymnasium. This is much appreciated by the boys.

F. B. Gearhart, Lehigh 1901, has been elected captain of Lehigh's football team, for next season.

Mr. J. Brown Martin expects to go to New York City to pursue his studies on the violin, in the near future.

Dr. Lincoln Hulley has been engaged to take charge of the two courses of instruction, Hebrew and Biblical Literature, at the New York Chatauqua, on Lake Chatauqua, N. Y., during three weeks of the coming summer: July 28—Aug. 18.

J. Sanford Davis '02, was injured in the Bloomsburg game, and was unable to accompany the team to Pittston, but returned to Bucknell on Saturday. His injury, though not as serious as first suspected, may keep him out of the game for several days.

The third annual inter-collegiate debate between Dickinson and State Colleges will be held at State College early in March. The question is: Resolved, That previous to the present war England was justified in her actions toward the Transvaal Republic.

The question, "Resolved, That the House of Representatives Should Seat Brigham Roberts," was discussed in Theta Alpha, on Friday evening. A good attendance is desired next meeting, as an important question will be discussed.

Mr. Fegley, the news man of town, provided the members of the foot-ball team with tickets for the oyster supper, given in the Lutheran church, on Thursday evening. This supper had been promised to them for some time. The boys appreciate his kindness very much.

The day of prayer for Colleges is but two days away. Again, the student is asked to stop in the busy rush of work and turn his attention to other than secular affairs. The importance of such a time in college life can hardly be overestimated. It is not the unconverted only, but the Christain as well, who needs this breathing space for thoughts of higher things, for the broadening of his own experience, and for work for others.

Let us remember that all over the land prayer is going up for our Colleges, that they may be worthy keepers of the trust given to them, that they may send forth men and women fitted to lead in the world, and to point others to higher standards and ways of living.

Let us not forget that with increased opportunities there comes to each one of us increasing responsibility. None of us can afford to lose this opportunity for spiritual growth and progress. College life has a tendency in some ways to make men selfish. Each individual is engrossed with his personal gain to the exclusion of the claims of others upon him. But here is an opportunity not only to win something for oneself, but to help someone else as well.

Much has been accomplished at Bucknell in the past, through the efforts of the students at this time. More can be brought about on that day if each member of the Institution will feel the personal responsibility resting upon him. Come to the meetings and be ready to take any part in them you can.

Mr. W. C. Purdy, '99, renewed some of his old acquaintances on the Hill on Saturday. He has secured a position as teacher of English and Mathematics in an Annapolis Preparatory school at Annapolis, Md. Purdy makes a fine appearance with a full beard and whiskers.

Base Ball.

About thirty-five base ball candidates assembled in room 3 Wednesday afternoon, January 17. Prof. Rockwood, in a few remarks, outlined the team's work for the coming season. He told of the expected big games, trips, and the prospects for a good team. Captain Mathewson also gave expression to a few sound statements relative to the necessity of winter practice and training. Daily practice has been begun, and the indications are that the Captain, with due assistance on the part of the candidates, will place an excellent team on the diamond.

News was received yesterday by cable to William G. Hopper, from Cairo, Egypt, that the Rev. Dr. George Dana Boardman was seriously ill there. As Dr. Boardman is in his 72d year, it is feared he may not live to return to this country. This intelligence was received with alarm by the members of his old congregation in the First Baptist Church. For thirty years Dr. Boardman was pastor of this church, Chestnut street, west of Eighteenth. He resigned his charge in 1894, but was made honorary pastor. He has been abroad for more than a year, and went to Egypt because of its warm winter climate.

Geo. W. English, '02, spent Sunday in Harrisburg.

Harvard's football receipts last year were $48,490.

Friend, '02, was called to his home in Philadelphia for several days during the past week.

A new punching bag has been placed in the gymnasium. This is much appreciated by the boys.

F. B. Gearhart, Lehigh 1901, has been elected captain of Lehigh's football team, for next season.

Mr. J. Brown Martin expects to go to New York City to pursue his studies on the violin, in the near future.

Dr. Lincoln Hulley has been engaged to take charge of the two courses of instruction, Hebrew and Biblical Literature, at the New York Chatauqua, on Lake Chatauqua, N. Y., during three weeks of the coming summer: July 28—Aug. 18.

J. Sanford Davis '02, was injured in the Bloomsburg game, and was unable to accompany the team to Pittston, but returned to Bucknell on Saturday. His injury, though not as serious as first suspected, may keep him out of the game for several days.

The third annual inter-collegiate debate between Dickinson and State Colleges will be held at State College early in March. The question is: Resolved, That previous to the present war England was justified in her actions toward the Transvaal Republic.

The question, "Resolved, That the House of Representatives Should Seat Brigham Roberts," was discussed in Theta Alpha, on Friday evening. A good attendance is desired next meeting, as an important question will be discussed.

Mr. Fegley, the news man of town, provided the members of the foot-ball team with tickets for the oyster supper, given in the Lutheran church, on Thursday evening. This supper had been promised to them for some time. The boys appreciate his kindness very much.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

The Day of Prayer Services.

The services of the Day of Prayer for Colleges on Thursday were well attended by the students and it is hoped will result in the purpose for which they were held: the quickening of the spiritual life of the student body. Preparatory services were held on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons at four o'clock, led by Dr. Harris, and seperate meetings on Wednesday evening for the different college classes at seven o'clock.

On Thursday morning at eight o'clock, Prof. Hamblin addressed a meeting in Bucknell Hall and opportunity was given for general testimony. On account of a misunderstanding in regard to date Dr. Pidge was unable to be present at the services in the Baptist Church at 10:30, and Dr. Harris delivered the sermon. This misunderstanding seemed providential, for on account of it the students were allowed to hear two grand sermons instead of one. Dr. Hulley led a meeting on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock and at seven-thirty in the evening, Dr. Pidge gave his sermon in Bucknell Hall. The sermons of President Harris and Dr. Pidge will be reported more fully elsewhere in the paper.

Dr. Harris' Sermon.

On account of the inability of Dr. Pidge to reach Lewisburg in time to preach the sermon at the Baptist church on Thursday morning, as had been announced, Dr. Harris took his place, and preached a sermon that was edifying indeed.

After Shelley's anthem, "Hark, Hark, my Soul," Dr. Harris read the Scripture from Hebrews 12.

The theme was the "Patient Endurance of Jesus as an Example to Ourselves" and the text Hebrews 12:2, considering Him as a model in patient endurance, we examine His obstacles. "Therefore have I set my face like a flint." There was no stoniness in his heart, yet there was a firmness and strength that must not be forgotten. He set aside temptations to power, popularity—none of these things moved him. His goal was before him, his eye was on the end. He fought against the allurements of power, the persuasion of friends. Men without patient endurance count not with men of progress, count not in God's Kingdom.

The kingliest of men, the tenderest of sons overcame even the obstacles of family because he grasped larger relationships.

The unworthiness of the object was no obstacle. He came unto his own and his own received him not. Notwithstanding their taunts He prayed: "Father forgive them, they know not what they do." Undisturbed He went right to death for the sake of the very ones who were crucifying him. "Socrates died like a philosopher, Jesus Christ died like a God." His death was the supreme test of his life. Deserted, He had to tread the winepress of God's wrath alone. He was spiritually isolated, but still persevered in that loneliness to the end.

As tested by what he suffered he was superior to his obstacles. In all his suffering he voluntarily accepted his course. A man without decision and choice, tossed by the wind will not be a moral force that can be reckoned on for righteousness; to be steadfast and immovable requires effort. Such a one meets obstacles and discouragements. Measure what you have to endure by what He endured.

Consider the strength through which he conquered. He went on his course with the strength that comes from a pure heart. A lie is a confession of weakness, it is weakness and so is all other sin. There is power in truth; there is might in integrity. A man who lacks sincerity is all the time weak. Jesus went forth to his work with purity and frankness. He seemed to have been defeated, but the virtuous man is never overthrown. No work against righteousness can permanently prosper. All enterprise must be based on right. The man who directs his acts with righteousness is putting his actions in the general line of the movement of things. The transgressor walks across the general current of things. Strength of purpose is given the righteous man, because he is one with God. Christ was in line with the purpose of Jehovah; He looks toward the same goal, so endured; He had the strength of a pure heart, that comes from the motive of love. Civil society is founded on this principle of love more and more in proportion as it is politically developed.

Christ's might was a might of love. How weak one's efforts against the strength of a man impelled by the mad fury of love! With this passion of love Christ was urged on to that great object he had in view. To have power a man must have a noble object—it will ennoble him and lift him higher; it will make him more serious, more earnest; his life will be a strenuous life.

Christ went forth in the power of the living God—He was the revealer of God. He was God incarnate, but his purpose was to reveal, not to conceal God. Hence he has become partaker of divine character with God. To be "heirs of God, joint heirs with Christ" is to be heir of highest character of God and Christ. He is not absorbed or swallowed up in God but exists in an eternity of true Godlike chacacter.

Susquehanna University's Good Fortune.

The student body, Faculty and friends of Susquehanna University at Selinsgrove, Pa., are rejoicing over the fact that an adequate endowment is in sight for a gymnasium, girls' dormitory and a preparatory annex. It is stated that the donor of the fund, about $150,000, does not want his name made public until all is completed, and has imposed several conditions which must first be met.

H. F. Cook, '99, visited his brother and renewed some old acquaintances in college on Thursday. He stopped off on his way to an Academy near Washington, D. C., where he will teach Bookkeeping, Latin and some English branches.

Bucknell—Dickinson.

The first intercollegiate basketball game ever played in Dickinson Gymnasium was the one played Saturday evening, Bucknell and Dickinson being the contesting teams. The audience was of fair size and very appreciative. The first half began with Dickinson playing quite spiritedly, Bucknell assuming rather a defensive position. Gillespie in this half called two fouls on Dickinson, and these together with a double foul in the second half comprised the total fouls called. Wassell succeeded in throwing the basket on the first foul. The first half closed six to one in Dickinson's favor.

During the intermission the Bucknell boys met in the ante room and talked matters over, and all expressed themselves as feeling confident that they would win out in the second half.

Bucknell having become somewhat accustomed to the slippery floor and other unfavorable conditions which a team is likely to meet in a strange gymnasium, entered the second half with considerable vim, manifesting a determination to win if it were possible. The game from the beginning of the second half on was rather up hill work, but a pretty long throw of Wassell, followed immediately afterwards by a similar one from Elliot, not only greatly encouraged Bucknell and spurred them on, but brought a combination of sighs and applause from the onlookers. After the above good beginning on the part of Bucknell, the ball was in quick succession landed into the coveted place. In this half three baskets were made by Dickinson and seven by Bucknell, the final score being 12-15 in Bucknell's favor.

This game showed great improvement in Bucknell's team work and also of more accurate goal throwing.

The Glee, Mandolin and Guitar Clubs.

The first concerts of the season were given at Northumberland and Berwick on Friday and Saturday evenings.

By the energy of the leader, George E. Schilling, '00, the clubs are in good shape and were most heartily received, although the audience at Northumberland was disappointingly small.

On Saturday evening a violin solo, by Mr. Brown Martin was substituted for the cornet solo.

Rev. C. G. Langford, '92, who has been preaching at Pittston, Pa., has received a call to the Baptist Church at Auburn, N. Y.

Dr. Pidge's Sermon.

The evening services in Bucknell Hall on Thursday last were in charge of the Rev. J. B. G. Pidge, D. D., of Philadelphia. He chose as his text Christ's counter question to Pilate, found in John, 18: 34. Pilate asked the question of questions of the only one qualified to answer it. But Christ did not answer. Did Pilate's question spring from jest, curiosity: or did it come from his heart's need? Christ evidently considered that it was borrowed, for if the question had come from Pilate's own heart, Christ would have spent his last hours in answering it. How splendidly he replies to the Samaritan woman: "God is a spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." We must come to Christ with a question that we have made our own, one that expresses a heart need. Christ's counter question suggests the valuelessness of borrowed interrogations; it shows, also, the value of what is one's own, whether it be doubt or not. Doubt may be a credit, if it is the legitimate outcome of honest thought. Thomas was an honest doubter. Doubt is a note of the soul when it is unstrung; it is a condition of mind in a diseased state.

So also we have borrowed opinions, habits, etc. If these borrowed acquirements were stripped off, how little would be left! If in our soul there is bravery or cowardice, truth or falsehood, in a crisis we discover it—we come down to the real primitive principles in the hour of peril. Crises reveal what is real in us.

How poor some souls will be with only their own belongings, how rich others! And there will come a day when all borrowed things drop off. What we want in all our life is to be ourself.

This sermon closed the services of the Day of Prayer.

The Finance Committee of the Athletic Association has announced that there is outstanding in football subscriptions, $21.85 and in board at the training table $17—a total of $38.85. A number of pressing bills remain unpaid by the association and can not be settled until those who owe money pay in what is due by them. Do you owe any of this money? If so, make an effort to pay at once and thus aid the association to clear away its debts.

Habits, we all know, are deciding forces in our lives. The student comes to college, thinking to enter upon a new, a broader and freer sphere of action, fitted to prepare him for his life-work. In his former life he has had some special friends, a little circle of companions, the only persons whom he really knew and understood.

He comes to college to broaden himself, to develope all his faculties, to be educated in the fullest sense of the word; and presto, a few congenial people are found, a little circle is formed and all his college life is soon comprised within the narrow limits of his "sets."

It is undoubtedly true that some people are more congenial than others. Yet no one who is in earnest about his preparation for life will take the work that is easy for him to the exclusion of everything else. He will rather broaden and extend his studies as far as possible. But is the development of the intellect all that is meant by education? If we do not meet them on their own ground, recognising their peculiar characteristics and dealing with them accordingly, then we are not fitted for our life-work, no matter what it may be. We can no more afford to specialize in our friends than we can in our studies.

There is no place more adapted to the study of character than the college. Here all classes of men, all grades of society meet on common grounds. There are few negative men and women among college students. Character study in the midst of such fulness should be not only a duty but a pleasure.

Moreover, every student needs the help of the intellect of every other student. Not to have this is to be deprived of one more means of broadening and strengthening oneself. But is it not true that one's congenial friends are those who agree with one in essentials at least?

The student who has the interests of his Alma Mater at heart will remember also that the college is a great clique in the broadest sense of the word. The scattering of the spirit that should belong to it as a whole among lesser cliques is disastrous to any general movement, Literary, Social or whatever it may be. If we really care for the preservation of college life in all its fullness, let us strive, not for the individual, but for the general interest.

"Doc." Roller visited friends in Shamrock over Sunday.

John Davis, '02, entertained his sister, Miss Davis, of Nanticoke, on Tuesday.

O. S. Marts, '02, Business Manager of the Mirror visited Milton last week in the interests of the Mirror.

Prof. Hamblin led the chapel exercises on Thursday morning and gave a short talk to the boys after the exercises.

The college was well represented at the concert given by the Slayton Jubilee Singers on Tuesday evening. The Singers were greeted with the Bucknell yell when the curtain rose.

The Demosthenian Society at a recent meeting elected the following officers: President, E. C. Switzer, 1900; Secretary and Treasurer, McCracken, 1902. Two new members were elected: H. A. Trax, '01, and J. W. Snyder, '02.

The different organizations of the college had their pictures taken for the L'Agenda during the past week. The Board is pushing the work on the L'Agenda and expects to have it out at an early date in the spring term.

Walker, '01, who has been suffering from illness bordering on nervous prostration, returned to his home in Wilmington, Del., last Monday a week. He will remain home until he fully recovers. Mr. Walker has the sympathy of students and kindest wishes for an early recovery.

BUNCH OF FRESHNESS AT
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

When in the life of a verdant youth he first becomes a college man, as a rule he is about the freshest thing under the sun, and the present bunch of greenness at Bucknell University is no exception.

Therefore, as it becomes necessary that the Freshman Class should have some mental food to feed upon in order that they may outgrow the callowness, gawkiness, inexperience and general audacity which afflicts them on their entrance to college, and that they may get along without a nurse—out of the depths of our compassionate hearts, with but a single desire to help afflicted humanity, we do hereby propound commandments for the guidance of the unfortunate youths who are thrown out upon the mercy of the cold, cold world.

Since it is our belief that where persuasion fails, force must then be resorted to, we do advise and strongly urge that the following commandments be given all heed to by that bunch of freshness known as the Babes of 1905:

I. Remember thy superiors in the days of thy youth, when the evil days come not and before the anger of the Sophomore waxeth strong.

II. Remember that a mustache upon the face of a measley Freshman is an eye-sore to all Sophomores. Therefore Daniels beware, act wisely! Get thee hence to a barber-shop with all haste, or else thou shalt surely find thyself in a second Lion's den.

III. Thou shalt not disturb other students by running through the halls in the morning and express-

IV. Remember that thy position is at the foot of the classes, and that thou shalt suffer thyself to be dictated to and commanded by the Sophomores.

V. Thou shalt eat Freshman Breakfast Food. The following is the recipe: One ton of Mellon's food to a ton of milk—the more milk the better—therein mix an abundance of ancient eggs, together with a pound of discretion, a car load of reverence for 1904, and a gallon of Paris Green—freshman green preferred. Sweeten with a seminary smile. Do very little talking while eating, as loud-mouthed freshmen disturb other people at the table.

VI. Remember, if thou must give vent to thy animal spirits, this effervescence must come off by singing the National anthem of Babyland:

How green we are,
How green we are,
Everybody knows
How green we are.

VII. Remember that in as much as an unyielding law of nature says that an object of a certain color cannot be seen on an object of the same color, Freshmen are forbidden to trample on nature's verdant garb, as the other classes, like most parents, are fond of their babies and wish them to be seen, (not heard).

VIII. Remember that in as much as several Freshmen have been making themselves conspicuous on the streets with the ladies, we hereby notify them that this must cease immediately. Ladies are for upper classmen.

IX. Remember that the Freshmen, on account of their effeminate make-up must absent themselves from social fuuctions at the Seminary, until such qualities shall have disappeared.

X. Remember thou, that top much of a good thing is good for no one, the same with too much of a big head, and thy head is swelled beyond the allotted size. Therefore thou shalt reduce it.

N. B. Thou shalt bear in mind the above commandments, as they are imperative.

Your superiors,

Dickinson—Bucknell.

Thursday evening Dickinson College suffered a second defeat at the hands of Bucknell. An interesting fact concerning the two games is that at the conclusion of both games the score stood 12—15 in favor of Bucknell. The audience was perhaps as large as any which has as yet assembled in Tustin gymnasium to witness an intercollegiate contest. On this account it is rather disappointing because the game, especially in the first half, was rather uninteresting, Bucknell playing in a more or less careless manner, exhibiting no team work worthy of mention. These facts, together with unsuccessful goal throwing, gave Dickinson the lead, which they held throughout the first half. McGuffie, who, no doubt, is the very life of the Dickinson team, and who has an enviable reputation as a basket ball player, with the support of his men succeeded in throwing some very pretty baskets. The first half closed with a score of 12—11 in Dickinson's favor.

With the call of time at the beginning of the second half conditions appeared to have changed somewhat. Bucknell immediately began to play an attacking or offensive game. They played with a spirit of dash and life which was likely to send dismay to the hearts of the Dickinson aggregation. The sun had gone down on Dickinson's glory at the end of the first half. During the second half they were unsuccessful in throwing even one basket and their chances were also few. In this half Bucknell succeeded in throwing two goals, thus scoring four points, the total scoring during the second half, and bringing the score at the close of the game to 12—15, Bucknell victorious.

The second half clearly showed that Bucknell did not play the game characteristic of her usual manner of play and that earnest, faithful practice is necessary to bring about the desired improvement and raise the team to a higher standard.

The new catalogue is out and copies can be had at the Registrar's office Students having friends who expect to go away to school should leave their names at the office and catalogues and other university literature will be mailed them. The new catalogue shows a total enrollment of 487 students of which number 315 are in college. The Senior class numbers 55 and the Freshman class 91. The number of young women enrolled is 73, besides 9 who are taking the course leading to the Master's degree. From the catalogue we learn that the new dormitory will be ready for use Sept. 20, 1900 and that it will be known as "The West College."

Gilbert's Meetings.

Mr. Gilbert, the secy. of the student volunteers in U. S., spoke to quite a large number of the College and Academy boys in Bucknell Hall on Saturday afternoon at 1.30. His address was very direct and interesting. He spoke in a very convincing manner. The address was practical and spiritual.

Mr. Gilbert started out by saying that he did not come to lead men to become volunteers for missions, but to bring men face to face with the problem of their life work. If possible, to bring men to consult with God concerning their work for life, to bring it to Him in prayer. You can pass through life but once, hence if you can or wish to do any good thing, do it now.

It is important to decide your life work now so that you may,—1, Be able to prepare yourself better for your life work and, 2. Have a purpose in life. A life without a purpose is of not much avail. Man must have a purpose and strive to accomplish that purpose. If you have a purpose in life you can multiply your life.

Among the hindrances in deciding for life's work what God would have you do are: 1. Selfish ambition. As long as this is in the heart God cannot have his way. 2. Flattery and discouragement of friends. This has hindered many a man from following God's wishes. 3. Indifference. 4. Indecision. 5. Ignorance. 6. Disobedience. Many are too indifferent in regard to their future so that they have no desire to find out God's wishes concerning their lives. Many are too ignorant of the needs of the world. There is no excuse whatever for this. And many directly disobey God's commands when they know them. Perhaps the greatest hindrance of all is lack of complete surrender to God. This is necessary if we wish our life work to be the best possible.

Mr. Gilbert also spoke Sunday afternoon at four o'clock to College, Academy and Institute students. Despite the very inclement weather there was a good attendance of students to hear him speak again. At this meeting Mr. Gilbert made a direct appeal to men and women to take up this work of foreign missions. He read a letter received from John R. Mott telling of his successful work at Cornell University during the last few days. Mr. Gilbert stated that his appeal was not made because the Volunteer movement needed men. Men are plenty, the movement is world wide.

A strong appeal comes from the groups of men and women in heathen lands who have been converted. These people are eager to know Christ. A stronger appeal comes from the masses in darkness in these heathen lands. They need our help physically, mentally and most of all spiritually. They die without any hope. The strongest appeal is that of Christ himself. He wants men to carry his word to foreign countries. If Christ is our leader why do we not follow him. We should ask the question "Why should I not go," instead of "Why should I go?" We should put before ourselves the following questions, "Where can I be the most useful?" "What work will call forth my best energies?" "Where can I make the most sacrifice to God?"

In the evening at 6.30 Mr. Gilbert spoke at the Christian Endeavor Society meeting on "The Evangelization of the World in this Generation." In all his talks Gilbert was characterized by an earnestness and directness that won him many friends and admirers, and best of all his words impressed all his hearers. He left yesterday afternoon for State College, from whence he intends to visit F. & M.

Joint Society Meeting.

A joint meeting of the two Literary societies was held in Theta Alpha Hall on Friday evening. The object of the meeting was to discuss the question chosen for the debate which was to have been held with Franklin & Marshall. The President of each society had chosen two members from his society outside of the four chosen for the debating team. Sherman, '00, and McCracken, '02, represented Theta Alpha, and Timlin, '01, and Bidelspacher, '01, Eucpia.

The question discussed was "Resolved, That Great Britain is justified in making war on the South African Republic."

Each speaker was allowed ten minutes for his first speech and five minutes for his second speech. The Judges, Profs. Hamblin, Perrine and Edwards, decided in favor of the negative on the ground that the affirmative had not fully established their side of the question, admitting, however, that from the point of mere debating, the affirmative excelled. The affirmative had all the burden of proof upon them.

Dr. Perrine gave a few suggestions as to debating.

It is very encouraging to see the interest which was taken in this debate. The attendance was very good.

It would probably be a good thing to have more of these debates as it would doubtless stir up more interest in debating and in society work.

Finance Committee's Encouraging Report.

The Finance Committee of the Athletic Association reports that the debt has been reduced to $196.31, of which amount $161.31 is due an athletic supply house and $35.00 to a local merchant. By the assistance of the Dramatic Club the committee hopes to reduce the debt this term by $50.00 at least. In conjunction with the baseball manager the committee will hold a festival next term. There is still outstanding $20.25 in football subscriptions and $5.00 in board.

Recently the 'Ladies' Home Journal offered prizes for photographs showing the interior of the most conveniently arranged kitchens. Among the winners was Prof. W. G. Owens, a reproduction of the photograph being given in the February number. Prof. Owens won the fourth prize.

The Intercollegiate Debate.

The annual debate with Franklin and Marshall, scheduled to take place at Lancaster on February 22nd has been cancelled by Bucknell. It is to be regretted that such is the case. The new plan by which the debaters were chosen proved to be insufficient to meet the emergency. It so happened that those originally chosen were prevented from taking up the work and as no other material was developed the only alternative was to cancel the debate. Had the plan of preceding years been followed, the interest of the student body would have been kept up and undoubtedly a strong team would have been sent to meet the team at Lancaster.

The Centre Hall Reporter has the following concerning the lecture delivered by Dr. Perrine at the Centre Hall Teachers' Institute recently: "The lecture of Dr. Perrine, in Arcadia Hall, subject, "Proverbs—Not Solomon's," was a gem that delighted a crowded audience, and received favorable comment from all for several days after. Besides being instructive in showing the fallacy of modern proverbs the speaker's application of the superstitious notions attaching to them, was highly amusing."

Annual Relay Races.

The sixth annual relay meeting given by the University of Pennsylvania will be held on April 28 on Franklin Field. Already many inquiries concerning the games have been made and the interest seems greater than ever. The schools invited are more numerous than in previous years, while several additional colleges have applied for admission. The championship college contests promise to be the best in the history of American sport. Besides the Yale, Chicago, Georgetown and Pennsylvania teams, which are practically assured, Cornell, Michigan and Notre Dame have signified their intention of sending one or more teams for these contests. Princeton is also reported as intending to enter two teams. With such important and representative entries these races should be about the best ever held in America.

The management has been compelled, owing to the great number of the teams desiring to compete, to place six colleges and six schools in each group. This should guarantee close races in every event. Great care has been given to the classifications of the different teams.

The eligibility rules are the same as last year—for the college teams, the rules of the Intercollegiate Association: for schools a certificate stating that the boys who compose the respective teams have been regular students since the beginning of the new year. As in previous years, no entrance fee is required. The prizes will be the same as last year, except that, because increased number of teams in each group, three sets of prizes instead of two will be given.

In previous years the athletic events besides the relay races have been closed to University of Pennsylvania men. Because of the numerous requests, and in harmony with the policy of development pursued by the managers of these games, these events will this year be thrown open to all college men, graduate or undergraduate.

The following will be the open events, all scratch: 100 yards, high jump, broad jump, shot-put, pole vault and discus throw. Entries for these events can be sent in at any time. It is expected that the best men of the country will be competitors in these contests.

Intercollegiate.

A lecture course in banking and investments has been established at Cornell. The services of some of the most prominent financiers in the country have been secured.

For a forfeit of $1000 a side Mr. H. G. Rush, secretary and treasurer of the Lancaster Chemical Company, has issued a challenge that he will prove to the scientific world that the famous law of Newton and Kepler, that heavenly bodies move in elliptical orbits, is fallacious.

At Princeton, Minnesota, Beloit, and Wisconsin Universities, the students pay a fee of one dollar per half year, in addition to the regular tuition fee, for athletic purposes.

During the months of January and February a class in gymnastics will will be conducted at Yale for members of the faculty only.

An institution similar to the Yale Mission has been started at Princeton with an endowment of $1,000. Professor W. A. Wyckoff, author of "The Workers," will have charge of it.

Saturday's Gymnasium Contest.

A contest in the twelve pounds shot was held in the gymnasium on Saturday, February 3, at 3.30 P. M. The following men took part in the contest: Armour, Gillis, Prichard, Moran and Taylor. Prichard won the event by four inches—actual put, 36 feet, 6 inches. Gillis was second, 36 feet, 1½ inches. Armour, third, 35 feet 4 inches. This was the first of the weekly contests that are to be held in the gymnasium during the winter term. The next contest will take place next Friday or Saturday; it will be a contest in the eighteen pound shot. It is probable that there will also be a potato race for short distance runners. As soon as weather permits training out-of-doors, the Physical Instructor will offer a silver cup for the victor in a three mile cross country run open to all students of the university. The men are requested to report for exercise in the gymnasium three times a week to get in condition.

Reno, '00, was visited by his brother over Sunday.

The Senior class held a business meeting last Saturday morning.

Rev. J. H. Haslam, '90, and wife, of Williamsport, were in town Monday.

The Chemical and Physical Society held no meeting last week. Its Thursday meeting was postponed until Thursday of this week.

Manager Thompson has secured a basket-ball game with the Cornell University team, the game to be played in our gymnasium, Feb. 15, at 8 o'clock, P. M. This will be the next local game. The team plays Penna. State College next Saturday at State.

Commencement Music.

Manager James A. Bell, of the Citizens' Band of Steelton, was at Harrisburg yesterday and met William C. Gretzinger, Registrar of Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., and made a contract with him for the services of the band at the annual commencement exercises to be held the third week of June. The band will play at the University June 18 to 20, inclusive. The main feature of the band's visit to that noted institution will be the twilight concerts to be given on the evenings of June 18 and 19. These concerts will be attended by several thousand people. On June 19, at 3 p. m., the band will furnish music for the dedicatory exercises of the new hall. The commencement exercises will be held on the 20th, and the band will play from 9 to 12 o'clock.—Harrisburg Independent.

The Steelton band although not well known in Lewisburg, is one of the best organizations in the state. It is classed with the Ringgold, Germania, Third Brigade, Municipal and other well-known Pennsylvania bands. The band consists of thirty-two pieces, and will arrive in Lewisburg, 1:45 P. M., on Monday, June 18.'

Not since the organization of the band, ten years ago, has it been sought after so much as in the last six months.

From the Harrisburg Patriot we learn the following:

On March 30 the band will go to Philadelphia to fill an engagement with the Young Men's Christian Association. This will be the seventh annual visit of the organization to this institution, and for the occasion one of the most complete programs ever played in the history of the band is being prepared. On May 21 they will accompany the Allegheny City commandery, Knights Templar, to the state conclave at Wilkesbarre. On this engagement the band will remain in Wilkesbarre several days. Well has it been said that this band ranks alongside of the first in the state and that it holds a place among musical organizations peculiarly its own is not to be disputed.

Y. M. C. A. Convention.

A rare opportunity will be presented the men of Bucknell to attend the annual State Convention of the Y. M. C. A. at Williamsport, Feb. 22—25. John R. Mott, Secretary of the World's Christian Student Federation and the most widely-known man in the college world, will make the opening address on Thursday evening. Dr. Pierson will speak daily throughout the convention. Maxwell again leads the singing. Williamsport is planning to entertain a thousand men. Those who expect to attend should hand in their names to Harvey, 1900, at once.

J. Frank Singiser, '03, returned on Friday from Harrisburg where he had been visiting relatives during the week. He also attended the banquet of the sophomore class of Muhlenberg College, of Allentown, which was held at the Hotel Bolton, Harrisburg, on Friday evening, last.

State 11-Bucknell 6.

In the armory at State College the first game between State College and Bucknell was played Saturday evening last. As the score indicates, the game was exceedingly close and it was anybody's game until the whistle blew. Throughout the play was fast and clean and the few fouls were in a manner excusable. Both teams began with an evident determination to win and for about seven minutes neither side scored, playing continuously and covering each other. A goal by Ruble from a Bucknell foul was the first score and shortly after this the score was tied by Davis throwing a goal from a foul on State. Once more the ball began to pass back and forward and from a dribble down the floor Wassell landed a basket which was not allowed, as Umpire claimed both hands were used twice. Bucknell now spurted on a series of passes and Wassell threw a goal from under a basket. With this encouragement the visitors played with renewed vigor and the scored remained 3 to 1 until a few minutes before time was called when Stewart in an ungarded moment threw two goals, one after another ending the half State, 5; Bucknell, 3.

The second half was somewhat rougher than the first and the game was even more exciting. Many good opportunities on both sides were spoilt by the quick work of the guards. Early in the half Stewart added two more points to State's score. Bucknells' tally was increased by a goal from foul by Wassell and soon after by a difficult goal by Davis who was apparently covered at the time. Score State, 7; Bucknell, 6. Another foul on Bucknell for running resulted in a goal by Pierce and State was two points to the good. The interest was now intense and so every move of the ball was closely followed. Carlin took Stanton's place at guard upon the latter slightly twisting his wrist and the game continued with a dash. A free throw from foul added one more point for State and Neilsen who was substituted for Wilson of State early in the second half seized an opportunity and hit the basket. This ended the scoring and when the whistle blew with victory won the rooters let loose the yells which were tied up all evening by the suspense of the deciding fate. Score State, 11; Bucknell, 6.

State.		Bucknell.
Pierce	attack	Wassell
Ruble (Capt)	attack	Davis
Stewart	center	Weymouth
Wilson (Neil'n)	guard	Stan'n (Carlin)
Ruble, J.,	guard	Elliott

Referees: Hoskins and Atherton. Umpire, Thompson. Time 20 minutes halves.

The play has scored a tremendous hit wherever produced, and is too well known to need any further comment. Doors will be opened at 7.30 o'clock, proceeds for benefit of Bucknell Athletics. Reserved seat chart will be announced later. The local company has been practicing for several weeks, the cast being as follows:

Chemical and Physical Society.

The meeting of the society on Thursday last was well attended and an interesting program was presented. Prof. Owens spoke on "The Work of Weather Bureau." Through the Bureau, property is protected and at the same time the conditions of the atmosphere are studied; its object may be said to be twofold. Daily reports of atmospheric conditions are sent to Washington by a special telegraphic code from one hundred and fifty-eight stations throughout the country and the West Indies. From these the weather maps are made out. Prof. Owens described these maps. Monthly reports are also sent in by voluntary observers, which are published in State and National reports. The cost of sustaining the bureau is about one and a half million dollars, but the life and property saved in a single storm more than repays the expense.

After his talk Prof. Owens showed and explained a number of maps, charts and tables of statistics to the society.

Dr. Hulley lectured at Bloomsburg State Normal School, Monday evening of last week. Dr. Hulley has also started a series of Saturday lectures on Parliamentary Law in Williamsport.

B. U. at the U. of C.

On Monday of last week Miss Watkins, now teaching in East Chicago, and Meeker, of Moody Institute, came to the University to spend the day. They found their way to No. 132 South Divinity, "Bucknell Headquarters," where they were greeted by Phillips, Calvin, Hazen, Kunkle, Snow and Douglas. Schube, Firth, McNaul and Finn were unable to join the party on account of family ties.

After an "old time visit" and lunch a number of the company called on Miss Harris in Foster Hall. The remaining part of the day was spent in looking through the halls, laboratories, libraries and museum. The first one visited, however, was Haskell Museum—the Divinity Recitation Hall—where Meeker failed to "scent heresy" and says he will enter the university himself ere long. A pleasant hour was also spent in the South Divinity Parlors, where after songs and another prolonged visit, the party broke up with elaborate plans for a "Bucknell Alumni Banquet" in the near future.

Gymnasium Contests.

The second weekly contest in putting the 12 lb. and 16 lb. shot was held on Friday at 4 P. M., in the gymnasium. Seven men entered each event. Prichard, '02, won the 12 lb. put with 36 ft. 6¾ inches. Gillis was second with 36 ft. ½ inch and Rowe, '01, third with 34 ft. 6¾ inches.

Armour, '00, won the 16 lb put with 31 ft. 7 inches. Gillis was second with 31 ft. ½ inch, and Taylor third with 30 ft. 3 inches.

In the 60 yd. Dumb-bell and Indian club race Shepard, Goodall, Sterling and Lesher qualified for the final race which will be run off some time this week.

Shakspere Club.

A number of the Freshmen have organized a Shakspere Club. The following officers have been elected: President—Weaver, Vice-President—Dunlap, Secretary—Bond, Treasurer—Eisenmenger.

The first meeting of the club will be held in Room 5, next Thursday evening at seven o'clock. Dr. Perrine will address the club and any Freshmen who desire to join are invited to be present.

Keystone—Bucknell Club.

On last Friday evening the students now in college who have entered from Keystone Academy, met in the Institute for the purpose of forming a Keystone—Bucknell Club. The purpose of the club will be to have some kind of literary programme and a social, following once a month. The following officers were elected: Pres. C. E Bunnell, '00; Vice Pres., L. E. Ayers, '01; Sec. Miss Paterson, '03; Treas., E. O. Sterling, '03.

The Band is meeting twice a week for practice and is making steady progress. They have received several new pieces during the week.

To be a success a college journal should receive the co-operation of the entire student body. Even if time would allow the editorial staff to do all of the work, the paper would not be representative of the institution.—Ex. This is true of the ORANGE AND BLUE; our staff cannot keep in touch with every organization or every man in our college. Yet the aim of the paper is to be representative of every interest in the institution. We of the editorial staff are the servants of the entire student body, because every student shares in the responsibility for the paper's success. The paper belongs to no organization or club, but to the whole school. If anything escapes the attention of an editor and so does not appear in our columns, the fault is yours, not ours.

Let every student who knows of any interesting event not fail to notify one of the staff in order that the paper may represent as many phases of college life as possible.

It is neither our province nor our desire to find fault with or to criticise any one in particular, either the student or the member of the faculty. Nor is it in any such spirit that we would write.

There is one evil, however, which not only affects us all, but, as it is so easily remedied, is perhaps the fault of all. We refer to the poor ventilation of the classrooms.

It is certainly not necessary to point out the ill effects of breathing over and over again the vitiated air that has served a hundred students before us. The drowsiness and headaches that result from such a course are well known to most of us. And the trouble does not end there.

The mere neglecting to open the windows between classes seems at first so slight a matter that it appears to be hardly worth mentioning. But the positive discomfort that many of us have to endure coming from a brisk walk in the open air, or, worse still, leaving one badly-ventilated classroom for another, is decidedly worthy of our serious attention.

What if the room does become a little chilly? Plenty of oxygen will soon warm and enervate the whole body. Better wear warmer clothing to class than shrink and shiver at slight draught when some thoughtful person opens up the room a little. No matter how cold the day, let us see to it that the windows are thrown wide open a few minutes every hour.

At Other Colleges.

President Hadley, of Yale, has announced that a new dormitory to cost $100,000, will be erected on the Yale campus. It will be called the Fayerweather Hall and will be erected out of a portion of the fund received from the Fayerweather estate.

He was a graduate of Bucknell and The University of Pennsylvania, and practiced here about eighteen years. He was a member of Shamokin Lodge, No. 255, F. and A. M., a Knight Templar, an Elk and a School Director from the First ward. He is survived by a widow and one child.

Dr. Kennedy was formerly well known at Bucknell. For several years he offered prizes for proficiency in certain lines of work in Dr. Perrine's department.

A Night Off.

Thursday, Washington's Birthday, is the date for "A Night Off, or a Page from Balzac," the famous German comedy, translated by Augustin Daly and first presented by him in New York city, where it had an unprecedented run. The play abounds in mirthful situations and faithfully depicts the various phases of domestic happiness that are familiar scenes in every household.

The Lewisburg Dramatic Club, which comprises the best talent of town and University, will produce this bright and clever four-act comedy for the benefit of Bucknell athletics. It is proposed to make this the grandest athletic benefit of the season, and for this reason alone it should be liberally patronized by every student who is enrolled under the Orange and Blue banner.

Admission, 50, 35 and 25c. Doors open at 7.30, performance at 8 o'clock. The reserved seat chart will be opened promptly at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at Baker's drug store and those holding advance sale tickets will be given preference in choice of seats.

The members of the cast (which we gave last week) have devoted much time to rehearsals and expect to make the performance a great success.

The following ladies, from their interest in the play and in Bucknell Athletics will act as patronesses: Mrs. J. T. Baker, Mrs. Catherine Blair, Mrs. J. C. Bucher, Miss Ellen R. Bucher, Mrs. J. F. Duncan, Mrs. T. E. Edwards, Mrs. W. C. Gretzinger, Mrs. G. C. Kelly, Mrs. A. A. Lelser, Mrs. Wm. Leiser, Mrs. J. M. Linn, Mrs. G. S. Matluck, Mrs. H. M. McClure, Mrs. T. S. Norton, Mrs. P. E. Rockwood, Mrs. Carl Seiler, Miss E. J. Stanton, Mrs. W. C. Walls, Mrs. Geo. Weymouth, Mrs. H. C. Wolfe.

Alumnæ Club.

The meeting of the Bucknell Alumnæ Club on Tuesday evening, February 13th, was one of unusual interest. The musical part of the program consisted of a vocal solo by Miss Emma Siler and a piano solo by Miss Gertrude Stephens. The subject for the evening's discussion was, "The Young." Mrs. Larison presented many interesting facts and suggestions relating to "Primary, Secondary, and Higher Education." Miss Hanna reported on "Clubs and Christian Associations." Miss McLaughlin described the "George Junior Republic." At the close of the formal meeting the president announced that the remainder of the evening would be spent in a social way in honor of Mrs. Larison.

Y. M. C. A.

A special service in the interests of the State Y. M. C. A. convention at Williamsport will be held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 9 o'clock Tuesday evening. It is very important that all delegates be present to receive credentials and learn full particulars.

Cornell 10—Bucknell 29.

Thursday evening, Cornell Basket Ball team was defeated by Bucknell's team by a score of 29 to 10. The game was delayed somewhat because of the fact that the Cornell boys failed to make train connections at Elmira, but nevertheless the onlookers were well repaid for their patient waiting. The game proved to be very exciting and a pretty contest, although the score would lead us to judge otherwise. The game was especially interesting when Cornell appeared to brace up and by neat passing kept the ball dancing dangerously around Bucknell's basket. Throughout the game many amusing incidents occurred which kept the audience in a pleasant mood.

This is the second defeat Cornell has met at the hands of Bucknell in basket ball, the first game having been played during the school year of '97-'98.

It took but a short time after the beginning of the first half for Bucknell to begin scoring. The goal throwing of Cornell was rather unaimed, low and perhaps somewhat reckless at first, but they soon saw their errors and only by the excellent guard duty of each Bucknell player was Cornell kept from running a higher score.

The second half was begun with even more spirit and dash than the first. However for a short period Cornell seemed to have matters her way, but on account of her rather weak goal tossing she was unable to score but a few points. Bucknell realized this and then began the prettiest playing of the evening. As a unit the team began to work together and close watch on the ball, quick and effective passing, fair goal throwing were exhibited by Bucknell. The game continued in this way until the close.

The manner in which Wassell tossed difficult goals and the number which he threw during the evening attracted the attention of all present. Wassell earned the enviable record in this game of throwing twelve goals in one contest.

The game was the most satisfactory yet played here. That vast improvement has been made in the team was clearly shown by this game.

The positions played are as follows:

Bucknell.		Cornell.
Davis	attack	Ellis
Wassell, capt.	attack	Steele
Weymouth	center	Bodell (Bevan) (Stone)
Elliot (Armour)	guard	Thompson
Stanton	guard	Ludwig (capt.)

Referee, Thompson: Umpire, Coach Hoskins: Timekeeper, Kunkle. Time of halves, 20 minutes. Bucknell 29, Cornell 10.

Sterling, '02, a member of the "Keystone Club of Bucknell," entertained his fellow members of the club with a large number of views taken at Bucknell, Long Island, and around Keystone. He threw the views on a large canvass in the lecture room of the Laboratory. The club and several invited friends were present.

Bertolette, '03, entertained his mother several days last week.

College Girls' Reception.

If smiling faces, flashing eyes, and a general air of enjoyment be a criterion by which to judge the success of a college social function then, unquestionably, the College Girls' Reception on Friday evening was a decided success. Faculty, town and gown were represented. The Freshman, whose knowledge of the wonderful land of the Institute has been confined heretofore, solely to the "At Home," the Saturday evening call, or the catalogue, had an excellent opportunity to glean additional information at the Reception, and nobly did he take advantage of it. The Senior, whose race is nearly run, mindful of the fact that by the time the next Reception comes 'round he shall have gone forth from Bucknell's halls to the sterner things of life, he, like the Freshman, availed himself of his opportunity. The Sophomore, whose wisdom is as superior as was Solomon's in his day, and the Junior, who is just about to make the step from the third to the fourth round of the ladder, both understood their mission to the Reception. The misogynist, if he had ventured from his lair, and had brushed aside the cob-webs of prejudice which hinder his vision, and had peeped in upon the scene, for the moment at least, would have been less poignant in his antipathy to coeducation.

The Reception was held in the Institute parlors, with the school-room on the left as an aide, and for a truth can it be said that the rooms never presented a more attractive appearance with their festoons of color.

The conventional black of the men's attire, lighted up and contrasted by the bright evening gowns of the college girls, made a pleasing picture with its back-ground of college colors. The smaller parlor was a symphony in color. Alluring tete-a-tetes, and curtained nooks occupied the corners. The Bucknell admirers of Princeton had made one corner resplendent in the Orange and Black of the tiger, while Yale adherents had raised another corner from the ranks of the bourgeois, and made it stately in noble blue. Pillows in profusion were banked around, while a chic Gibson here and there on the walls made the ensemble most charming and artistic. The school-room had lost all trace of gauntness and common-placeness in its cheerful garb of bright color scheme, and its light mellowed by tinted shades Not a semblence of cube root, or Latin phrase remained: the magic touch of the college girls had transformed a prosy class-room into a veritable elland.

Refreshments were served in the dining room. The table, gracefully decorated with twining smilax and blushing carnations, and a setting of happy faces gathered around the board, made a scene from which Care was ostracized.

During the evening social pleasures were interspersed with pleasing musical selections, vocal and instrumental, and then, when everybody had forgotten that Chronos still reigned, the end came and good-nights were said, and congratulations tendered to the college girls upon the success of their function.

Freshman Shakspeare Club.

Dr. Perrine delivered an address at the newly organized Shaksperian Club on Thursday evening, the substance of which is as follows: The study of Literature will brighten lives. Shakspeare is one of the best authors because he comes closest to human life of any of the English poets. He wrote for all time not for an age. His source was real life. Work stops with death. Shakspeare is not a reflective poet.

Three divisions of Shakspeare, tragedy, comedy, history. Do not read tragedies—they do not appeal now, read comedies because of fun. "As you Like it" best for young people.

How to read. Best work done in small groups. Aim of reading is to make the meaning clear. Method: Get the plot, read quickly, read at one sitting. Have notes to Shakspeare and a good dictionary. In preparation get words, clauses, plot, style, etc. Let the characters alone as they are too intricate.

A False Report.

Mr. Wagenseller, of Selinsgrove, was in this place Friday of last week. He reports that there is no truth in the report that some one had donated $150,000 to Susquehanna University. Susquehanna University will erect a handsome ladies' dormitory, the plans for which were made by our townsman and architect, John F. Stetler.—Middleburg Post.

[Mr. Warner, field agent of Susquehanna, was a caller last week at the Registrar's office. While here he also stated that the above report originated in the visionary brain of a newspaper man. He also stated that a ladies' dormitory, costing about $10,000 would be erected this summer, and that the money for this object had not yet all been raised—EDITOR.]

Gymnasium Contest.

The first contest in the running high jump was held on Saturday at 4 o'clock. Theis, '02, won at 5 feet 3 inches; Glaspey, '03, was second at 4 feet 8½ inches: Tiffany, '03, and Mitchell, '03; tied at 4 feet 6½ inches. Theis, '02, won the pole vault at 8 feet 6 inches; Tiffany, '03, was second at 7 feet 1 inch: Mitchell, 03, and Dershimer, '03, tied at 6 feet 6 inches.

Dr. Lincoln Hulley, at the request of the Finance Committee of the Athletic association, has consented to give some of Dooley's sketches, for the benefit of the debt. The date has not yet been determined. Dr. Hulley's readings have proved very popular, and a large house should greet him here.

Rev. Calvin A. Hare, field agent for the new building, was in town this week.

Bucknell has many ardent supporters in Lewisburg, not alone in an admiring sense, but what is more to the point. in' a financial way. Every one of our readers is familiar with the fact that the Lewisburg dramatic club gives an entertainment for the benefit of Bucknell Athletics on Feb'y 22nd, the night of Washington's Birthday. When the cast has given so much time and no little expense to the preparation of this play, is it not as little as we can do to patronize it? The evening will be one of delightful enjoyment from first to last act; and the proceeds are for the benefit of one of the most important branches of college life. In view of these facts, let every student be present; at least purchase one or more tickets. If we are not sufficiently interested to patronize our own benefits, what can we expect of down town friends?

Physical culture is as essential in the development of manhood and womanhood as mental culture. Mind and body react upon each other.

The student who delves away at his book and takes scarcely any exercise is no longer looked upon as a hard worker but rather as a foolish person who is toiling to no purpose. What profit is it for a man or woman to enter upon his life-work with a mind stored with knowledge and a worn-out body?

True mental culture means the development of every faculty, of every part of the intellect. True physical culture implies the training of every muscle and every part of the body.

This all-round development cannot be the result, as most of us seem to think, of the usual out-of-door exercises, such as walking, running, wheeling and skating. These things are very good in themselves, but even their combination will hardly effect that good health and symmetry of form which should be our aim.

Many of us fail to understand that half-an-hour's daily work in the gymnasium would give in the end more and better results than hours of the pursuit of the out-of-door exercises.

Thoughtless persons will not take gymnastics because they see no immediate results yet, if at the end of a year careful measurements revealed a moderate all-round development, that would surely be preferable to the abnormal growth of some muscles to the exclusion of all others. At least take special gymnasium work for those muscles and parts of the body which are not developed by ordinary exercise.

This is but one of the many advantages College life offers us. We would do well to think before we leave it go unheeded.

The Preps Play Basket Ball.

In the Armory at Milton the first game of basket ball ever seen in that town was played between Milton Y. M. C. A. and Bucknell Academy, resulting in the defeat of Milton by a score of 12-5.

Both teams seemed determined to win and clean playing was a feature of the game, only three fouls being called. Within two minutes after the game was called, Carlin made a goal and keeping up his good work, threw three others before time was called. Savadge and Little did the rest of the scoring. In this half the ball was kept entirely in Milton's territory. At the end of the half the score stood Acad. 12—Milton—0.

The second half was somewnat rougher than the first and more exciting. Many good opportunities were spoiled by the quick work of the guards of both sides.

Early in the half Teufel threw two goals making the score—Acad. 12, Milton, 4. Teufel afterward threw a foul on Johnson, increasing Milton's score to 5 points. This ended the scoring.

Milton.		Academy.
Teufel (capt.)	attack	Shepard.
Hitchler	attack	Carlin.
Komp	center	Little (capt.)
Hankel	guard	Wallauer
Reimensnyder	guard	Savadge. (Johnson.)

Referee Hoskins B. A. Umpire. Thompson, Milton Y. M. C. A.

The Juniors' Ball.

The great event of the Junior Class, in fact the event of the year, came off Friday evening when the Juniors gave their ball. This was the fifth annual Junior Ball and we can safely say it was among the most successful of them all. The committee in charge spared neither labor nor money in making it a success and they received the hearty commendation of all present.

The attendance was large and never a hitch marred the pleasures of the ball.

The music was furnished by the Reitmeyer Orchestra and was of an exceptionally high grade and more than satisfied the most sanguine expectations. It was thoroughly appreciated by all.

The armory hall was tastefully decorated. The side walls were studded with decorations of red, white and blue, as well as orange and blue, bunting and small American and college flags. A handsome cozy corner draped with bunting added materially to the appearance of the hall and afforded opportunity for pleasant conversations to those not dancing. A large American flag was draped across the main entrance and the purple class numerals on a field of white adorned the opposite wall. Numerous Japanese lanterns dangled from the ceiling; and cushions, scattered around on the benches at the sides of the hall, added to the attractiveness of the armory. A large bank of ferns, palms and potted plants surrounded the orchestra platform, almost concealing the musicians, yet allowing the sweet strains of the dreamy waltz and merry twostep to reach the ears of the whirling dancers.

The carriages began to arrive at the armory about eight o'clock and the guests were received by the reception committee, after which they were looked after by the patronesses. Dancing began at nine and lasted until 11.45, when several colored waiters appeared and served tempting refreshments. After an intermission of 30 minutes dancing was resumed and continued until shortly after 3 A. M. This ended one of the best social events held in Lewisburg for years.

Among those present from out of town were: Miss McDonnel, Miss Stoner, Mr. W. H. Engle, '99, Sunbury; Miss Gable, Mr. R. S. Koser, Williamsport; Messrs. Fred A. Godcharles, S. W. Chamberlain, Milton; Miss Edith McCain, Miss Gentry, Phila.; Miss McClelland, Pittsburgh; Miss Mary Barber, Baltimore; Mr. Samuel Wittenmyer, Middleburg; Miss Lena Burke, Northumberland; Mr. J. Randolph, York; Mr. Ed. Lewis, Franklin.

The patronesses were: Mrs. J. T. Baker, Mrs. J. C. Bucher, Mrs. J. F. Duncan, Mrs. A. A. Leiser, Mrs. Wm. Leiser, Mrs. G. W. Goodman, Mrs. T. S. Norton, Mrs. T. C. Thornton, Mrs. W. C. Walls, Mrs. C. J. Wolfe, Mrs. J. T. Hyatt.

The committee in charge of the ball was composed of the following members of the class of 1901: A. B. Beechtel, C. F. Bidelspacher, T. P. Evans, G. L. Freudenderger, L. M. Goodman, W. V. Gundy, L. V. Hottenstein, H. L. Maize, H. B. C. Riemer, S. C. Smith, W. E. Thompson, H. A. Trax.

The Sophomore Banquet.

A merrier party was never found than were the Sophomores when they gathered for their banquet at Hotel Haag, last Wednesday evening; even the pelting rain could not dampen the ardor of their enjoyment.

The party was taken to Milton in hacks and assembled in the hotel parlors about nine o'clock; the early part of the evening was very delightfully spent in games, music and social intercourse.

During the evening pleasant entertainment was furnished by the phonograph, which under the management of Mr. Livezey reproduced music, song, or "Josh Billings" as desired.

.....Milton Davis.
Our Olympian Heroes, ...
.....C. E. Goodall.

MUSIC.

Les Petites Filles de 1902, ...
....Wilson Snyder.
Les Grand Fils de 1902, ...
....Miss Sarah Judd.

Where Are We At? .....J. M. Davis.

.....E. A. Sterling.

CLASS SONG.

Die strumpfen Füsse (The Stocking feet) .....Eli Peter Heckert.

MUSIC.

The Class Poem, ..Miss Francis Race.
What Our Class Stands For, ...
.....J. W. McCracken.
Auld Lang Syne.

The responses to the toasts were given with the characteristic wit and humor of 1902; class jokes and brilliant hits being abundant.

The admirable class poem testified that no mistake was made in the selection of the class poet. Messrs. Goodall and J. M. Davis showed the high standing of the class in all the interests of the college. The toasts of Mr. Sterling and Mr. Heckert were illustrated by original comic lantern slides.

The appreciation of the humor of the various speeches was shown by the peals of laughter which rang again and again through the room. A class song, written for the occasion, by the class poet, was enjoyed by all and most heartily sung. At the completion of the toasts a number of interesting pictures were thrown upon the screen. During the banquet the class yell was given with cheers for the President and the chaperones.

All were sorry when the hacks were announced, but the early hour made a return to Lewisburg compulsory. The laughter and song on the way home gave evidence that the fun was kept up during the ride to Bucknell. The committee on arrangements are to be congratulated on the pronounced success of their plans.

The banquet will ever remain a delightful memory to all who participated, to be recalled with pleasure in after years, and will help to cement the bonds of class fellowship, and endear their hearts to our Alma Mater.

The Bloomsburg Game.

On Washington's blithday about 110 admirers of athletics assembled at the gymnasium to see the Bloomsburg Normal basket ball team try to play the 'Varsity. The Normal team, which had not lost a game in two years, was accompanied by a large force of tin horn rooters, who confidently expected to see their pets win. Their cheers were in vain, however, although the umpire, whom they brought along, rendered efficient aid by calling numerous fouls on Bucknell. With his valuable assistance Bloomsburg scored three points, which together with one lone field goal, made a total of five.

The game was rather rough at times but as the visitors began this style of play, and the Bucknell players seemed to enjoy it, no protest is coming.

The first half was exceedingly exciting. Both teams began play with a strong determination to win. Bloomsburg scored one field goal and received two points on fouls, while Bucknell threw four field goals, bringing the first half to a close with a score of 8 to 4 in Bucknell's favor.

The first half was exciting but the second still more so. The manner in which Bucknell outplayed the Normal in every way apparently filled the sympathizers of Bucknell with delightful satisfaction. The Normal passed the ball well in their own territory, but when they began to approach the desired place their good attempts were generally frustrated by the ever present and ever vigilant Bucknell boys. Bucknell dropped ball after ball into the basket, scoring 17 points in the second half, while the Normal secured one point on a foul. The game closed with a final score of 25 to 5, Bucknell victorious. While the score seems one-sided, every point had to be won by hard playing. All our team showed up well. Mathewson deserves special praise for his goal throwing, having tossed in seven. The rest of the scoring was done by Wassell, Davis and Elliot, Wussell throwing three baskets and one goal on foul.

"A Night Off" Proves a Marvelous Success.

On last Thursday evening a large and fashionable audience filled the local opera house, the occasion being the presentation of Augustin Daly's four act comedy entitled "A Night Off, or A Page from Balzac," adapted from the German of the Schonthan brothers. The play was reproduced by the Lewisburg Dramatic Club, composed of young men and young women from the best families in town, and several young men from the college. It was magnificiently staged and the remarkable success with which it was presented was due to the untiring efforts of Messrs. S. C. Smith, Philip B. Linn and W. C. Roller. For nearly two months the members of the club have been at work on the play, and the result of their efforts was the presentation of the finest piece of amateur acting seen in Lewisburg for a long time. It was all due to constant and faithful rehearsing, the most of which was done at the home of Mrs. G. S. Matlack, who generously gave the entire third floor of her spacious home for the purpose.

The scene of the play is laid in a college town; this made it all the more enjoyable to the house. The play was presented with much dramatic skill, and there was not a hitch anywhere. Mr. S. C. Smith, as Justinian Babbitt, professor of Ancient History in the Camptown University, by his clever acting and excellent make-up, made the hit of the evening. Miss Emma Seiler, as Mrs. Babbitt, took the part of the professor's wife in superb style, and as a mother-in-law she can scarcely be surpassed. Miss Nelle Barber, as Susan, the house maid, had the house with her from the start. Miss Mary Matlack, in the character of Angelicia, the eldest daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Babbitt, made a magnificent appearance and rendered her part in fine style. Miss Caroline Kelly, as Maria, made an excellent servant. Mr. A. J. Sherwood, by his fine appearance, tall presence and clear tone of voice, took Dr. Harry Damask in typical form. Mr. C. A. Weymouth, in that easy and graceful way in which he does everything, made an excellent Jack Mulberry, the wayward son of Lord Mulberry. Miss Frances Baker, as Nisbe, the youngest daughter of Prof. Babbitt, with whom Jack Mulberry is desperately in love, which love, on the stage, of course, is reciprocated, played her part with great ease. Mr. A. A. Leiser, as Prowl, deserves special mention. Mr. A. W. Blair, as Marcus Brutus Snap, shares honors with Messrs. Smith and Weymouth for fine acting. Mr. Blair's make-up as a theatrical manager was intensely unique, and his costume in the Roman tragedy, written by Prof. Babbitt, was simply striking. Mr. Philip B. Linn, in his usual cool and precise manner, made an excellent Lord Mulberry. To Mr. Will Thomas credit is due for the excellent manner in which the various characters were made up.

The music was excellent and was under the direction of Mr. J. Brown Mar-

Tuesday, February 27, 1900.

The basketball game with State College next Saturday evening, promises to be a contest that will please lovers of basketball and athletic sports of any kind. State has been working hard to gain the victory and the championship, for she won the last game. What Bucknell has been doing can be learned by comparing the scores of the two Bloomsburg games. A good game is therefore assured—let all come out and cheer the team to victory. Make the last game of the season a success financially, as well as otherwise. Come and persuade others to be present and you will be amply repaid.

It is with pleasure that we notice the formation of a few new organizations among the students.

No college can have too many of them, whether they are formed for study, religious work, or any other commendable purpose. The gain to the student, aside from the direct end in view, can hardly be estimated.

Here are brought together a few who are socially and intellectually congenial. The contact of mind with mind has a quickening and developing effect. Moreover, the best intellects of the college meet here on common ground or break new paths together. It is not the indolent who voluntarily set themselves tasks.

Dr. Arnold has said of his college life that it was spent with a few congenial spirits, some of them determined to become the great men of the age, with whom he worked and argued, while his mind broadened and developed. In such a company all the strength and pleasure of unity can be experienced.

One has only to contrast the student who takes an active part in such organizations with the one who intentionally or thoughtlessly shuts himself out from them, to note the superior development from every standpoint of the former.

Indirectly, moreover, college organizations foster college spirit and should be encouraged, if for no other reason than that of love for Alma Mater.

In the indoor contests on Saturday, the following were the events: Putting the twelve pound shot, won by Gillis, 38 feet, 2 inches; second, Taylor. Gillis broke the indoor record by one foot, seven inches. Putting the sixteen pound shot, won by Gillis, 33 feet, 8¼ inches; second, Taylor. Gillis broke the indoor record by one foot, eleven inches. This is Bucknell's first year in indoor shot putting, and all records have been made this winter. Prichard made the record for the twelve and Armour for the sixteen pound shots earlier in the term.

Y. M. C. A. Convention.

The Thirty-Second Annual Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association held in Williamsport last week closed on Sunday night. Those were four days of unusual power and blessing; and the influence of that convention will be felt throughout the entire state. The opening session was held on Thursday afternoon at which time Mr. Walter C. Douglass, of Philadelphia, was chosen chairman; to this choice was due much of the power of the convention. The program was one peculiarly adapted to the occasion. The singing was led by H. L. Maxwell, of Greencastle, Ind., and was soul-stirring. Mr. John R. Mott was present and made two strong addresses on "Evangelistic" phase of the work of the young men of the country. The greatest blessings of the gathering came through Dr. Arthur T. Pierson, of Brooklyn. He spoke powerfully on "The Supremacy of the Word." "The Work of the Son," "The Work of the Spirit," and "Holiness and Service," besides giving a closing word on Sunday night. Those present were inspired by his words and were greatly blessed because of having come in contact with such a man of God. In those few days new life was put into the 578 delegates present and great things are expected. Williamsport will reap a harvest, because, on Sunday afternoon at the men's meeting, which crowded the Opera House, scores of men accepted Christ, and at the boys' meeting there was the same result.

Of the 121 delegates from the schools and colleges of our State nearly forty were from Bucknell, and they have been greatly urged on to Christian work and Christian living. Dr. Pierson testified that of the many conventions he had attended at home and abroad, never had he been present where the power of the Holy Spirit was so manifest. Our own delegates have felt His power.

To-night in the Y. M. C. A. Hall a convention rally will be held. Every man who can possibly attend should do so.

Sam. Wittenmeyer, a former Bucknell man, called on friends in town on Friday and Saturday.

Hiram Purdy, '98, came up from Sunbury to see the Bucknell-Bloomsburg game on Thursday.

Lehigh University won the annual indoor winter meet with Lafayette on Thursday by a score of 60 to 70.

C. A. Weymouth, '00, entertained his father and mother on Thursday. They witnessed the basket ball game.

Dr. Hulley delivered a lecture at the local institute held at Curwensville on Friday evening. Koch, '98, is the Principal of the Curwensville schools.

Dr. Perrine, Instructor Fisk and Dewitt, '00, were the judges at a debate between the Sunbury High School and Shamokin High School, held at Shamokin on Friday evening.

Mr. F. E. Brown, through Mr. John Rilling, generously donated $15.00 to the athletic association on account of success of the football team in winning last fall from State College.

Dr. Lincoln Hulley will give Dooley readings in Bucknell Hall, Thursday evening, March 8th, for the benefit of the athletic association. A silver collection will be taken at the door.

Dr. Hulley's Address.

On Washington's Birthday, as is the custom, the regular college exercises were dispensed with, and immediately after chapel, at 8.15 a. m., Dr. Hulley delivered the oration of the occasion, in Bucknell Hall. He announced as his subject, "An Estimate of Washington's Character, Based on the Facts of his Life." McMaster says, "Gen. Washington is known to us, Pres. Washington is known to us, but George Washington is unknown." This is because Washington has been so revered that mythmakers have been at work, some at the expense of his character and heart; others distorting the facts of his life, so that he is presented to us as the cold, silent, forbidding man of the marble heart. We are unable to see him on the side of his humanity. Washington has also suffered from detractors.

Washington was a methodical and exacting, but not cold or forbidding. It is true that he was reserved. The dignity of his character allowed no undue familiarity with him. There was no hilarity, no debaucheries in his campaigns. He was filled with a sense of the worthiness of the cause and the dignity of his office. On his southern plantation he was kind, courteous, gracious, generous to a fault.

Dr. Hulley then considered in order his generosity, his magnanimity, his justice, his frankness, his patriotism, his tenderness, and crowning all, his religious character. Each quality was discussed in detail and with a wealth of historical illustration, which characterized the whole address.

No one would deny that Washington was a man of strong passions. A man of his tremendous frame could not help be. And he had strong provocations to passion.

He was a man of great mind. His character is sometimes elevated at the expense of his intellect. He was conservative, he never made up his mind in a hurry, but was willing to stand by his conclusions. He was characterized by breadth of grasp and by a sanity of mind. Unlike other great men he never overestimated himself, he was self poised.

His chief greatness was his greatness of will. Throughout all his career, he manifested a steadiness of will, of purpose. Another quality was his energy of will and character. He was a man of self control, he governed himself as well as his country.

In conclusion Dr. Hulley stated that lessons from Washington's character would serve us all our days.

The play was a financial success. The heavy expenses, necessarily contingent upon the reproduction of a play of this kind, and a big charge for royalty, made heavy drains upon the receipts. As advertised, the play was presented for the benefit of college athletics. On Saturday Mr. Linn handed the Registrar a check for $33.39 representing the proceeds from the play. The latter at once paid the same over to a merchant to whom a bill for $34.00 was owing from the athletic association. The merchant very considerately closed the account. This is the last local bill on the old debt. There is still due the Spalding supply house about $165, which the finance committee hopes to wipe out before June.

The finance committee of the Athletic Association desires the ORANGE AND BLUE to express its thanks to the Lewisburg Dramatic Club for its interest in athletics and at the same time to felicitate the members upon the success of their maiden efforts in amateur acting.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

Bucknell, 19; State College, 6.

The games between Penna. State College and Bucknell in all branches of athletics are looked forward to with exceedingly great interest by students of both institutions. Saturday evening's game proved to be no exception to the rule. Both main floor and gallery were crowded to their fullest extent; the largest crowd of the season was in attendance, expecting to see a "battle royal" and no one was disappointed in the least.

Excitement reigned supreme from start to finish, and the fierceness of the play, and closeness of the score did not tend to decrease this. Horns and bells were much in evidence, while college yells constantly added to the din. At every successful throw the noise became deafening, both teams being generously applauded for each good play. One very pleasing feature of the game was the gentlemanly conduct of both players and spectators; and the game, though fast, was clean throughout. That the game was won on merit alone, is not the least pleasing point about the contest.

Like the Dickinson and Cornell games, the State game was remarkable for the playing of Bucknell in the second half. The play throughout the entire first half was very even, neither side scoring, with the exception of Bucknell's one point made on a free throw from foul. Naturally this half was breezy—but if the first half was breezy, the second was of whirlwind order.

Both teams appeared to be working very largely to outdo each other but their efforts in the matter of throwing goals came to naught. The entire half was noteworthy for its fine passing, quick shooting and general good team work.

In fuller detail the first half was as follows: When the whistle blew calling the teams together, a look of determination was seen on each face, which foretold a sharp, interesting and close contest. Bucknell being on her own floor naturally played a more aggressive game than State, but the latter's defense was magnificent. Each man stuck to his opponent like a leach so that, no matter which side had the ball, it was almost impossible to throw for a goal. Few shots were attempted and even few of those attempted came anywhere near the basket. For ten minutes the contest surged up and down the floor, neither side being able to score. Then a foul was called on State and Wassel dropped the ball fairly in the basket making Bucknell's first score. Horns, bells, throats, all let loose and the noise became terrific, but it succeeded only in making the game hotter, if that were a possibility, State playing desperately to prevent further scoring, and Bucknell to add more points to that one lone tally. But although the latter played her best, played fast—played brilliantly—the Blue and White was never a second behind. The noise gave way to quiet, an almost breathless quiet, so intense was the excitement. Not once during that half was there opportunity for the crowd to vent its enthusiasm in noise, for as the half began so it ended, every man with his man.

The intermission between the halves was used by the spectators in discussing the play, and evidently Coach Hoskins made use of it in exactly the same way, but no doubt, with a different tone of voice. At any rate the second half was a revelation, it reminded one of the first half of the game played last November, at Williamsport—but, according to Kipling, "That's another story." However, Bucknell's "long suit" is this aggressive second half—as the captain once remarked, "We play them to death in the first half, and run up the score in the next half." Any how, all our home games seem to prove this, and the State game was no exception.

The second half opened fast and furious—for a few minutes no one scored, then Mathewson broke the charm by tossing, in a surprisingly neat fashion, perhaps one of the prettiest goals of the evening and the crowd once more gave vent to its feelings and kept it up, too, the rest of the game. Bucknell began to lose State—here and there was a man uncovered; the ball flew up and down the floor, and tho vigorously fought for, generally in Bucknell hands. And presently the ball once more tumbled into the white net, and a little later it occurred again. Evidently State was "up in air," for a minute later the same thing occurred again—but right here something happened—Ruble scored for State—and presently he repeated the trick, and people began to feel uneasy—probably the seats were not comfortable. However, excepting a pair of pretty goals from foul, made by the same gentleman, State did not score again. And when Elliot had made a pair of beautiful tallies from the back field, and "Wey" his accustomed basket or two, together with Wassell's little one-handed goals, the crowd felt relieved, evidently they forgot about the hard seats. Then the whistle blew shortly, and all was over; the Bucknell yell tore holes in the atmosphere, and the crowd filed slowly away—the most good natured company we have ever seen.

We don't like to see any one overlooked, and perhaps our genial score keeper will pardon us when we say that it was a very pleasing thing to see him run over to the board every two minutes and "score up."

In summing up the game, we wish to once more call attention to that very essential factor—team work. Bucknell won because of superior term work. Bucknell failed to score in the first half because of a lack of team work. We wish to extend to our team our hearty congratulations for their faithful work during the season, their well deserved successes, and their closing victory over our honored rivals. We can safely call this the most successful season that any Bucknell basketball team has ever had.

Institute Seniors' Reception.

It was a representative college gathering which thronged the Institute parlors Friday evening, the occasion of the Institute Seniors' reception. The Seniors simply surpassed themselves in their endeavor to render attractive and pleasing the reception rooms. To say that the rooms never looked prettier encroaches upon the stereotyped and conventional, but nevertheless it was a verdict universal. A novel and decidedly pleasing feature was the introduction of an orchestra, which rendered excellent music during the course of the evening.

The receiving line, composed of Senior girls, assisted by Mrs. Larison and Miss Stanton, stood just within the entrance to the main parlor, and with pleasant greeting and hand grasp, made the guests welcome.

The decorations evidenced much labor and sense of the artistic on the part of the Senior girls. The smaller parlor was an arabesque of college and class colors, while a wealth of downy pillows strewn around with artistic carelessness allowed one to revel in comfort. Orange and blue woven and interwoven made a cornet seat siren-like with its big, soft pillows. A Turkish kiosk with its curtained sides gave an exclusiveness and seclusion that was distinctly oriental. Seated in its depths and partially hidden from view, a Pianissimo strain from the orchestra floated in clear and soft as a Muezzin's call to prayer. Concealed by a row of palms in the school room the orchestra sweetly discoursed music which made the proverbial reception "stiffness" disappear like the morning mist before the sun's dissipating rays. Pillowed divans, and happily placed nooks protected by friendly screens were in profusion, while mingling in harmony the fraternity-emblems graced one corner. Lamps which stood 'round with rays not glimmering and cold, but brilliant and soft, "such light as lovely maids look loveliest in," caused the school room to deny its identity and insist on an alias more euphonious and care free. Conversation abounded in antiphonies of wit and wisdom, and had any jokes somewhat decayed from age been introduced they would have lost their senility under the orchestra's rejuvenating spell.

The reception room down stairs, which in the days of "auld lang syne" did the Saturday evening honors unassisted by the parlors, was utilized to serve refreshments in, and its walls' ears caught many a bon mot which the happy scene prompted.

The Senior girls' reception will go down in local college annals as one of the most successful affairs in Bucknell's history.

Beidelspacher, '01, visited his home on Saturday and Sunday. He was not at home last week as was reported in the ORANGE AND BLUE.

E. L. Richardson, '03, has been confined to his home at Bridgeton, N. J., for a number of days. Mr. Richardson was able to return to Bucknell on Saturday, however.

Dr. Hulley on "Dooley."

Dr. Hulley will give his famous "Dooley" readings next Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock, in Bucknell Hall, for athletics. A silver offering will be lifted at the door. Dr. Hulley has given these readings in a number of places and they have everywhere been enthusiastically received. It was only after persistent effort on the part of the finance committee that Dr. Hulley consented to favor them with a night with "Dooley", on account of many pressing engagements.

Dr. Hulley's readings of humorous authors, both prose and poetry, are well known and justly so. It has been quite a while since we at Bucknell have listened to one of his readings, hence we should all come out. The purpose for which the reading is to be given should be kept well in mind, too—let everyone make an effort to make the proceeds as great as possible. The finance committee has been making strong efforts to reduce the athletic debt and are worthy of your encouragement.

Chemical and Physical Society.

At the meeting on Thursday afternoon Mr. Sterling described the manufacture of maple sugar.

He described the tree, its habitat, environment and value aside from producing sap. The primitive methods of making maple sugar were then given and the development of the means now employed.

At present, special pails are used for collecting the sap so that it will not be contaminated by the tree, insects and small animals. The sap is stored in coal tanks. It is boiled in an evaporator having an automatic regulator. A thermometer is used for testing the syrup. At 219 degrees F. it yields 11 lbs. of sugar per gallon.

The industry is confined to the Middle Atlantic and New England states. From 150,000 to 200,000 tons are produced yearly.

One of the many advantages afforded by college life, and too often thoughtlessly neglected, is that of the literary society. Lack of time, too much regular work, all kinds of excuses are made for non-attendance upon it; anything in fact, but the real reasons, which are usually either a non-appreciation of its benefits, or deliberate neglect, too often arising from indolence.

It is scarcely necessary to enumerate the benefits derived from these organizations. The very fact of their existence and of their continued support by the best class of students should be sufficient argument for attendance upon them. It is not probable that busy people would set themselves useless tasks.

That the literary society stands for real development, that it has given the needed training for hundreds of students, in bringing out their latent, unsuspected powers, is a fact that countless grateful testimonies go to prove. The broadening effect of the subjects taken up in debate and discussion, keenness and quickness of thought, originality, readiness in impromptu speaking, are but a few results which are surely worth the striving for. Respect for the talents of others and a better appreciation of their varied gifts, beside the social value of such gatherings, are also worth our consideration. In short, the literary society is only another name for Opportunity. It remains with us to decide as to its use.

affectionate for his companion from State and under no consideration would he leave him alone in Bucknell's territory. Two trusted guards did Davis and Elliot prove to be. To Weymouth's bright record of four year's play on the 'Varsity team is added a codicil, for his good work in his last intercollegiate basketball game. Wassell in his usual manner succeeded in scoring some pretty goals.

Bucknell.		State College.
Weymouth	attack.	McCleary
Wassell (capt)	attack	Pearce
Matthewson	center.	Stuart
Davis	guard	Ruble (capt)
Elliot	guard	Elder

Referee, Hoskins. Umpire, Thompson and Lundy. Twenty minute halves. Score: Bucknell 19, State 6.

Sterling, '02, made a business trip to Williamsport on Wednesday.

"Jim" Davis, '02, was initiated into the fraternity of K Σ last week.

We are glad to note that "Jigger" Frampton, '03, is again able to be out after his illness of last week.

The last Y. M. C. A. meeting was well attended and the spiritual interest manifested was encouraging. At this meeting the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Pres., Alexander; Vice Pres., Goodall; Cor. Sec., Caleb Ayars; Rec. Sec., Eisenmenger; Treas., Myers.

The Basket Ball manager announces a series of interclass games. The first of these will occur on Wednesday at 4 P. M., and will be played between the Juniors and Freshmen; the second between Seniors and Sophomores, Saturday at 3 o'clock and a third to decide the class championship between the winners of these contests on Thursday, March 15, at 8 o'clock. The admission fee to each game will be 10 cents.

Intercollegiate.

President Eliot, of Harvard, announces in his last annual report that half of the graduates of that University are taking, or can take, its A. B. degree in three years.

The annual contest of the Pennsylvania Oratorical Union will be held on the evening of March 9, in the auditorium of Ursinus College. The colleges participating are Lehigh, Muhlenberg, Ursinus, Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg, Swarthmore, and Lafayette.

A track and cycle meet has been arranged to take place in April between Cornell and Columbia.

From the tone of a rather strong editorial in the February Haverfordian it appears that Colchester, Roberts & Co. whose advertisements occasionally reach Bucknell students, have been distributing circulars among Haverford men. The firm sells essays, orations, and debates ready made.

Dr. Hulley on "Dooley."

A large sized audience of college and town people, mostly the latter, greeted Dr. Hulley as he stepped upon the platform in Bucknell Hall on Thursday evening, to give his famous reading of the "Dooley" writings. The author of these Dooley writings is Mr. Finley Peter Dunn, of Chicago, born in 1868, and now aged thirty-two years. Mr. Dunn received his education in the Chicago High School and then began working on Chicago newspapers and is now Managing Editor of the Chicago Journal. Mr. Dunn is not, as we might judge from his writings, a big red-headed son of "Erin" carrying his indispensable clay pipe, but a clean-shaven and alert business-like man. Mr. Dunn always had kindly feeling for funny things and wrote funny articles for the newspapers.

He had an aptness for writing up athletics and ward politics in an amusing manner and was detailed for this kind of work. Mr. Dunn one time heard his near neighbor a Mr. McGarrick read an account of the death of Jay Gould, with some of his own Irish comments. Mr. Dunn wrote this up making Mr. McGarrick do the talking. McGarrick felt offended and Mr. Dunn changed the name to Dooley and has kept the name ever since.

Dr. Hulley interspersed his extracts from "Dooley" with some of his choice Irish jokes and stories, which he gave in his own excellent manner, creating much laughter.

Mr. "Dooley" writes on different subjects. He was much interested in our late scrap with Spain and wrote among other things on "McKinley's Diplomacy," "His Cousin Admiral George Dewey," "Mr. Dooley in Peace Before the War," "Mr. Dooley in Peace After the War." Dr. Hulley read a number of extracts from some of Dooleys writings during the war. They were very humorous, yet contained a great deal of truth. Dooley has much respect for his cousin George and has written an account of how he was so active in his campaign that he could not hear McKinley calling him home.

Mr. Dooley has his opinions concerning the value of mules in war and recommends that the mules be armed and sent out in platoons and companies. They would soon end the war since 340,000 pounds of gun cotton would be required to kill a single mule.

Among other things Dooley has valuable knowledge of McKinley's method of appointing army and navy officers and reveals this knowledge in a most interesting manner showing as the first requirement for an officer's position, a knowledge of golf.

Mr. Dooley relieves himself of a few of his ideas concerning the famous "Strategy Board." "A strategian," he says "is a champion checker player."

Dr. Hulley gave a number of extracts from "Mr. Dooley in Peace." These writings are chiefly on politics which he thinks is distinctly a man's game.

Demosthenian Club Banquet.

The Demosthenian Club held its annual banquet at the Hotel Haag, Milton, last Friday night. This was the second banquet in the history of the organization and owing to the complete success of the event, its members are reassured that the club is no longer an experiment but a well-grounded and most permanent organization.

The Demosthenians left Lewisburg in Horam's big 'bus early in the evening. Two alumni members were among the number: George A. Grim, Principal of the Huntingdon Mills High School and C. F. Shipman, '99, who is reading law with Hon. S. P. Wolverton at Sunbury.

The programme for the night was crowded with varied enjoyments and contained several special features. On arriving at Milton the boys first went to the Opera House to witness the production of Faust. The committee on arrangements had early in the week secured a row of seats well to the front and from this vantage ground a more intimate acquaintance could be formed with Mephisto. After the play the comfortable parlors of the Haag afforded an excellent retreat for the story-teller,—both amateur and professional,—and the good old stories of Lincoln were told in the same apt manner that one could imagine the lanky western lawyer himself relating them. Meanwhile the musical members added to the enjoyment by playing on the piano.

The large banquet hall, decorated for the occasion, was a fit place for the continuation of mirth and several hours were spent around the festive board. Landlord Bibby's well-earned reputation for courteous and efficient service was sustained by the excellent menu served on this occasion.

Since the prime object of the club is to train its members in speaking, much time was given to the toasts. Eugene C. Switzer, president of the club, was the toastmaster. Every member responded in heartiest manner. Following is a list of the toasts and the names of those who responded:

We regret to announce the death of Roy Stephens, son of Dr. Leroy Stephens, of the Board of Trustees, and brother of John Stephens, '01, and of the Misses Stevens, who are students in the institution. A. W. Stephens, '96, of Ithaca, N. Y., another brother was called home to Lewisburg on Saturday on account of his brother's death. THE ORANGE AND BLUE on behalf of the student body extends its heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family.

Juniors 8, Freshmen 0.

The annual class games of basket ball began Wednesday afternoon; the Freshmen and Juniors taking the initiative. The game exceeded all expectations. To the rooters who represented their classes the first half was exceedingly exciting. The play had proceeded for about ten minutes when Bevan succeeded in tossing a goal for the Juniors. No more scoring was done the first half. All the players welcomed the sound of the whistle in order to secure a well earned rest as it was very evident all had been playing the game of their lives.

The intermission allowed the class sympathisers time for consultation and prediction as to the outcome of the second half. All were filled with anxiety and considerable life was manifested at the outset of the second half. The Juniors appeared to have matters their way but the Freshmen fought bravely at every stage of the game. It was certainly "nip and tuck" from beginning to end. The ball was bouncing now around this basket and now around the opposite one. It was plain from each man's playing that he felt obliged to play his best to uphold the fair name of his class. During the second half Evans, Pierson and Bevan each threw goals for the Juniors, thus bringing the score at the end of the game 8-0, the Juniors winning.

Sophomores Dejected.

Saturday afternoon the second of the series of class games was played, the Seniors and Sophomores being the participants. This game was looked forward to with much interest by all the students of the University and especially by the members and friends of the contesting classes. All kinds of prophecies were announced and all kinds of results predicted; a battle royal was the expectation of all.

The Sophomores appeared on the floor first. Among their number were noticed many familiar players, many of them having played on the regular University team and upon their faces was stamped the impression of confidence. Then appeared the Seniors, six in number all tall and well built fellows.

The game began amidst the deafening yells of the two classes. The play had gone on for some time without any scoring being done when the Seniors succeeded in scoring one point on a foul. Then the Sophs followed with two points and from then on to the close of the half the Seniors and Sophomores alternately succeeded in throwing baskets making the game as a consequence exceedingly exciting and bringing the first half to a close

It is sometimes good for us to stop a moment and count our "marcies," on the other hand it is well to consider our shortcomings. Both of these might be classed under our use and abuse of the College Library.

It is scarcely necessary to state what advantage a proper use of the Library may be to us. The pity of it is that many of us use it so little. It is an actual fact that many students seldom look over the papers and weekly reviews, to say nothing of neglecting the opportunities for other reading. This however, is a matter which affects only ourselves as individuals. When our abuse of the Library extends to others, it is indeed time to stop and consider.

Perhaps the worst of our faults, and one to which nearly all of us must plead guilty is that of retaining books and magazines over the time limit. We all know how exasperating it is to hunt through the Index for a certain article, only to find that magazine out, and no immediate prospect of its return. Let us not suppose that this is a merely arbitrary rule and that the Librarians take special pleasure in posting lists of "books to be returned."

Again the Library is used also as a study hall. It is true that a good student should be able to concentrate his attention in the midst of all kinds of noise. Yet the study-hall should not require the display of this accomplishment. Not to talk above a whisper, is an unwritten rule of the Library.

A little consideration for others would easily solve any difficulties of this sort. All that is needed is a feeling of our personal responsibility to our neighbors.

George Grim, 1900, who is at present teaching at Huntingdon Mills, Pa., visited friends in college on Saturday and Sunday.

peace. He has a few ideas on our refined and effeminate game of college football. Dooley played football years ago, "under the old regime," and contrasts that game with the modern game where the player has "Mattresses on his legs, a pillow on his back, a mask on his nose, and a bushel of hair on his head" He even has some knowledge of the more polite game of golf which he says, "is old as the hills, and is good to play in a hammock when tired from social duties." Last but not least he knows a thing or two about our popular and genteel sport, commonly known as a prize-fight. He wrote on the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight which he claims illustrates the "Power of Love," since Mrs. Fitzsimmons' love for her husband made him win the fight.

Mr. Dooley evidently knows how to deal with the new woman. Although Mr. Dooley sees the funny side of things he has had his troubles, and not the least among these was his experience with the "Grip," which he says is caused by bugs, known in France as Parisites (parasites), in Germany as germs, and in Ireland as Mike robes (microbes). Mr. Dooley describes the peculiar sensations of the Grip in a very amusing manner.

Dr. Hulley closed by giving Mr. Dooley's views on the "Dreyfus Trial." Dr. Hulley gave all these different extracts in a very interesting and attractive manner and elicited much applause. He well deserves all the praise which his Dooley readings are receiving where they have been given. He is a master of them. He deserves special thanks for being kind enough to give them and thus help reducing the Athletic Association debt.

with the Sophomores in the lead the score being 8-7.

The first half was very evenly contested and was by far the prettiest and most exciting part of the game.

After the play of the second half had been in operation for about five minutes the excellent team work of the Seniors and pretty passing of Wassell and Weymouth began to work admirably. The Sophomores appeared to have become discouraged and lost spirit and the Seniors added score to score bringing the game to a close with the Seniors victorious, 25-12.

The work of Mathewson in the first half was brilliant and was the feature of the Soph's team.

The Musicale.

Among the many attractions offered to the students on Friday evening, the Musicale in Bucknell Hall was not the least pleasant. This was the Musicale given annually in the winter term by the pupils of Dr. Aviragnet, and as usual succeeded in attracting quite a large audience.

We have neither the desire nor the ability to criticize in detail the individual performers; in general we have but words of praise and commendation. The vocal solos were pleasing and well rendered and the solos on the piano and violin were fine. The selections by the Girls' Glee Club were of exceptional character.

Miss Mabel Hancock deserves special mention—her voice is one of remarkable sweetness and her rendering of "The Violet" was so filled with feeling that the audience was charmed.

All present were extremely well pleased with the entertainment and went away loud in their praises of the students of the School of Music and of Prof. Aviragnet and his assistant to whose faithful labors the success of the Musicale was, in great part, due.

The program follows:

1. Two Part Song, 'Onward Bonny Boat, Glee Club.
2. Spanish Dance Mozkowski piano duett, Kress and Goddard.
3. Fields in May, by Coombs. Sung by Miss Mary Crandell.
4. Polish Dance by Scharwenka. Arranged for violin and piano played by Miss Louise Lawshe.

Sig. Ramirez to Leave Bucknell.

TO MY FRIENDS:

After remaining in Bucknell University about four months, I return home to Merida, capital of Yucatan, State of Mexico; and do this because my duties call me. The University at Lewisburg has for me very pleasant remembrances. During so short a time I have learned the English needful in my business, but this has only been owing to the practical method which my teachers used. Thus I make public my gratefulness towards Professors T. A. Edwards, R. L. Rentz and H. C. Fithian of the Academy. I am very grateful also to many families and friends who have helped me much by their kindness.

ANTONIO PEREZ RAMIREZ.

The ladies of the Sophomore class had a contest in narration on Thursday evening last. The selection recited by the class was Hawthorne's "Ambitious Guest." Mrs. Leroy Stevens, Prof. Hamblin and Miss Annie VanGundy were judges. The work of the young ladies was of high grade, and showed the result of the careful training of their instructor, Mr. Fisk.

Junior Debate.

The second preliminary Junior Debate was held in Bucknell Hall on Thursday evening. The weather was very disagreeable and doubtless kept many away, yet a good sized audience was present to hear the Juniors discuss the question, "Resolved that the government should own and control the Railroad." There were seven speakers and the debate was very evenly contested. Each speaker acquitted himself in an excellent manner. The judges, Prof. Helm, Judge McClure and Mr. Kremer selected the following to appear in the final debate: H. A. Trax, J. F. Snyder, C. F. Beidelspacher and F. E. Burpee.

We give below a short outline of each of the speeches of those chosen for the final:—

AFFIRMATIVE—BURPEE.

I.

(1.) Railroads perform a public function.

(2.) Public dependent upon the railroad.

II. Abuses of private system.

(1.) By competition.

(2.) By railroad monopoly.

III. Advantage of government system.

(1.) Uniform and low rates.

(2.) Economic saving.

(a) Concentration and uniformity of management.

(b) Cost of paralell lines.

(c) Lawyers fees saved.

(d) Cost of railroad legislation.

(3.) Government preserves safety and life of passengers.

Conclusion.

(1.) Result of government system in Prussia.

(2.) Result of government system in Belgium.

H. A. TRAX—AFFIRMATIVE.

There are three general systems of railway ownership and control. These are (1) the competitive system, (2) the monopoly system and (3) the system of government ownership and control.

II. Competition in the case of railroads has proven a failure. It is attended with the evils of (1) fluctuation in rates, (2) waste and (3) discrimination.

II. Without competition we must have some form of monopoly, private or government. Complete private monopoly would endanger (1) our economic liberty, (2) our political liberty, (3) would not prevent discrimination, (4) government regulation has failed.

III. Government ownership and control is the only alternative. It would avoid (1) the evils of discrimination and (2) the dangers of monopoly. (3) It would be advantageous and practicable.

MR. BEIDELSPACHER—NEGATIVE.

I. Private corporations most satisfactorily solved the perplexing question of appropriating and fixing transportation charges. Different governments have many different times attempted to apportion rates on the principle of "cost of service." These attempts were always unsatisfactory in

The Seniors Are Champions.

The last inter-class game of the series and also the final game of basket ball for this season was played Saturday afternoon between the Juniors and Seniors in the presence of a rather small but appreciative audience. The class rooters were present, occupying opposite sides of the running track, and it goes without saying that they made their presence known. The class colors waved in profusion. The game proved to be more of an exciting contest than was expected. It was very evident that the Juniors were to fight at great odds, nevertheless they showed a determination that if the Seniors cared to claim the championship they must work for it. This determination on the part of the Juniors was manifested from the beginning to the close of the game, and this fact the Seniors readily recognized, which statement receives its proof from the manner in which the Seniors played.

The Juniors, both players and rooters, undoubtedly received much encouragement from the fact that not more than a few seconds after play began one of the prettiest baskets of the game was thrown by one of their number. The Seniors, however, soon began to assert themselves and succeeded in throwing six neat goals during the first half while the Juniors at intervals succeeded in throwing three more goals during the same time. The first half closed 12-8, the Seniors having the lead.

The second half was played with as much dash as was manifested in the first. But the Seniors with their experience soon began to exhibit that good passing of which they are very capable and orders were sent out along the Juniors' lines that every player was expected to perform perform perpetual guard duty. But the Seniors understood basketball tactics too well and succeeded in scoring during the second half fifteen points, while the Juniors scored six points. The game closed with the Seniors the winners by a score of 27-14.

As a result of the inter-class games it will be seen that the Seniors have won the championship of the college by a good margin. A number of Juniors claim that next in the scale come the Juniors, followed by the Sophomores, with the Freshmen contentedly bringing up the rear. Probably the Sophomores will be inclined to doubt the last statement, however.

Eupelia Literary Society held its regular election of officers on Friday evening and elected the following officers for the spring term: Pres.—Bidelspacher, '01; V. Pres.—Woodard, '02; Sec.—Dunlap, '03; Critic—Sweitzer 1900; Treas.—John Stephens, '01; Serg.-at-Arms—Kester, '03.

The Indoor Contest.

On Friday afternoon occurred an exceedingly interesting athletic event—the gymnasium contest. An indoor exhibition in the gymnasium work of the winter term is an annual affair at Bucknell, but never before has the exhibition included so many or so varied events. The contest clearly showed what excellent work Bucknell has been doing since the advent of a regular athletic trainer.

A report of the events follows:—

The first event on the program was the 15 yd. dash in which there were eleven entries. The men were run in three divisions the winning men from each division being Riemer, Weymouth and Pierson. The second place men ran a deciding heat the winner to compete with the first place men. Mitchell won. The final heat was won by Pierson, Mitchell second, time 2 4-5 seconds.

Event No. 2.—Pole climbing contest. Won by Ley with Hottenstein taking second place. Time 9 4-5 seconds. Former record 11 1-4 seconds.

Event No. 3.—16 lb. shot put. Won by Gillis—33 ft. 11½ in., Taylor second—33 ft. 2½ in., Moran third—30 ft 9 in. Former record—33 ft. 6 in.

Event No. 4.—Running High Jump. Won by Theis—5 ft. 1 9-10 inches, Weymouth second—5 ft., Sherwood third—4 ft. 9 inches.

Event No. 5. proved to be one of the most interesting numbers on the program. It was a boxing exhibition between William Bartol and Norman Gardner. It is an evidence that the young people have been receiving recognition in their gymnasium work.

Event No. 6. The parallel bar exhibition participated in by Thompson, Hottenstein, Ley and Hoskins was a revelation to some of the onlookers. Many could not imagine of so many difficult feats being performed upon this piece of apparatus. All received intense applause, but it is quite probable that Ley receives the popular vote for excellence.

Event No. 7. College Obstacle Race. This is a race in which the participants are forced to hurdlings, diving under bars a few inches above the floor, carrying numerous dumb bells and Indian clubs seperately to the starting point and performing many difficult wand movements and the one completing all of this and having his square neatly arranged with the Indian clubs standing erect in the shortest time is declared to be the winner. This race was won by Goodal with A. M. Smith taking second place.

Events Nos. 8 and 13. Boxing exhibitions between Davis and Robbins, Mathewson and Gray were both exceedingly interesting. They elicited much praise for the manner in which they portrayed the art of self defense.

Event No. 10.—12 lb. shot put. Won by Gillis—40 ft. 1 inch. Second, Taylor—38 ft. 11 in. Third, Moran—35 ft. 7½ in. Former record—39 ft. ½ in.

Bucknell at Chicago.

On Friday night, March 16th the alumni of Bucknell attending the University of Chicago and others in the vicinity held an annual dinner at Hotel Del Prado, Chicago. Among those present from outside the city were Dr. T. M. Shanafelt, '61, of South Dakota and Dr. Mary Bartol, '94, of Rockford, Ill. Dr. Shanafelt is one of the two members of the only alumni club west of the Mississippi. The other member is Mrs. Shanafelt, Institute, '65. Dr. Shanafelt is president of the club and Mrs. Shanafelt secretary and treasurer. The club holds regular meetings." All were glad to welcome Dr. Mary Bartol, who came from Rockford, to attend the banquet. Prof. C. F. Castle, of the University of Chicago, was present. He is not an alumnus of Bucknell, but by his connection with it as professor of Greek he became so interested in the school that he always enjoys being considered a Bucknell man.

Auld Lang Syne..T. M. Shanafelt, '61,
Bucknell at Chicago.....Dr. Castle,
Reminiscences of College Life
.....Ralph R. Snow, '94,
College Athletics.....Otto Schub, '99,
The Faculty .....Mary B. Bartol, '94,
"Co-eds" .....W. C. McNaul, '90,
Bucknell's Future..Llew. Phillips, '92.

The others present were Miss Mary B. Harris, '94, Mrs. Schub, Shepardson College, '95, Miss Bertha Watkins, '99, A. E. Duglas, '96, J. E. Calvin, '99, J. C. Hazen, '99.

A permanent organization was effected of which Rev. A. R. E. Wyant was elected president and J. C. Hazen secretary and treasurer. A committee consisting of Miss Mary Bartol, Ralph R. Snow and Llew. Phillips was appointed to draw up a constitution and report at the next regular meeting of the club.

Bucknell alumni at Chicago have the spirit found in a Bucknell graduate wherever he may be. They recognize their debt to their Alma Mater: they realize that the institution has a competent faculty; they have confidence in the moral, intellectual and executive power of the president; they know that these together will accomplish the purpose for which the institution was founded. This feeling of gratitude for the past and confidence in the present and future are the elements of the true alumni spirit that was manifested at the gathering of the Bucknell club of the University of Chicago, and which make of the alumni one body and bind them inseparably to their Alma Mater.

The ORANGE AND BLUE Board had a meeting on Saturday at 10:15 and elected the following staff: W. S. Holland, 1900, was re-elected Ed-in-Chief; McCracken, '02, was elected editorial writer, and A. S. Bechtel, '01, was re-elected local editor. The position of athletic editor will be filled at an early meeting next term as it is desirable to have a member of the baseball team fill that position.

In Memoriam.

Whereas, our classmates, the Misses Anna and Alif Stephens, have been afflicted by the death of their brother, LeRoy Stephens,

Therefore be it resolved that we, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Three, extend to our classmates our sympathy in their sorrow, and trust that they may be comforted by the thought that their loss is his gain.

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to call away the brother of our brothers, A. W. Stephens '96, and J. S. Stephens '01 and

Whereas, we realize the grief felt in losing one whom we love, therefore be it

Resolved, that we the Delta Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta do hereby tender our heartfelt sympathy to our brothers and be it further

Resolved, that these resolutions be entered on the minutes of the chapter and that copies be sent to our brothers and that a copy be published in the ORANGE AND BLUE.

H. B. C. REIMER,
J. S. DAVIS.

It is with feelings of deep sorrow that we, the members of Beta Delta Pi Fraternity, record the death of Mrs. James B. Forrest, the beloved mother of our sister, Miss Helen Forrest. Words cannot convey the sense of the personal loss each one of us has sustained in the passing away of this dear lady. We shall miss the deep interest and friendship which she ever manifested in the individual members of our Order. We do not understand the wisdom of God in thus bereaving our dear sister, but yet we recognize that in his infinite wisdom, for some wise purpose, he has removed her from companionship with her husband and daughter and friends, to the enjoyment of a better life in the great beyond.

It is our desire that this slight expression of our sorrow and sympathy be spread upon the minutes of our Order, that a copy be presented to our orphaned sister, and that the same be published in THE ORANGE AND BLUE.

their results. Railroad companies apportion charges or "value of service," or charging "what the traffic will bear."

II. Government officials are not able to apportion charges according to this the recognized best principle, because they have not at hand the means which railroad companies may use to decide what the traffic will bear. Examples to prove this.

III. Evils of discriminations greatly exaggerated. Discriminations would not cease with government ownership. New evils would arise under government ownership.

SNYDER—NEGATIVE

I. The effect of the change would be uncertain.

II. Private management has been successful.

1' Our roads are equal in efficiency to any in the world.

1' In speed, 2' In safety, 3' In convenience 4' In cheapness.

2' Discriminations are not inseparable from private management: government ownership would not be a remedy.

3' Our roads do not charge more than a fair profit on capital invested.

IV It has been successful abroad.

HECHTEL—AFFIRMATIVE.

I. Government ownership will prevent the abuses resulting from political corruption, fraudulent management, and competition, which are unjust discriminations and higher rates. Interstate commerce commission is utterly useless to prevent these, hence government must take roads.

II. It would be a great economic advantage. It would reduce expenses by cutting down number of general offices, depots and yards, in lawyers' salaries, by diverting traffic to its natural routes, in the cost of operating roads and in running expenses. Australian government roads more economic. Remove power over money market from the hands of a few.

The Indoor Contest.

Participants:—Theis, Sherwood, Lesher and Mitchell. Won by Sherwood—4 ft. 3½ inches. Theis second—4 ft 2½ inches. Lesher third—4 ft. 2 inches.

Event No. 12.—Exhibition on horse and buck. Shepard, Hottenstein, Bunnell, Shorkley and Ley participating. The head and hand springs and high dives of these men were performed in a remarkably artistic manner.

Event No. 14.—Basket ball throwing. This contest had ten entries and was noticeable on account of the fact that those who tossed the fewest goals were men who as regular players on the 'Varsity team had distinguished themselves in games by tossing many and difficult goals. Much amusement was the result especially among the regular players. Goodall won throwing 7 out of 10, while Armour takes second place 6 out of 10.

Event No. 15.—Pole vault. Lesher and Bunnell were tie for second place and as it was growing dark these two agreed to decide who should receive the second place medal at some future date. Theis won at 9 ft. It is very probable that he could have bettered this record had not growing darkness made further effort impossible.

The officials of the contest were:—Judges, Profs. Rockwood, Hamblin and Stewart. Announcer, Mr. Fisk. Starter, Director Hoskins.

Dr. Hulley delivered an address at the anniversary meeting of the Franklin Y. M. C. A., at Franklin, Pa., on Friday evening.

A. Cunningham, '02, has been removed to the infirmary. His mother is nursing him. The doctor does not fear any very serious illness.

The Σ A E's gave a pleasant smoker in their Chapter House on the evening of Thursday, March 8, it being the forty-fourth anniversary of the founding of the fraternity.

E. P. Heckert, '02, spent last Wednesday at his home attending the golden wedding of his father and mother. The affair was a very joyous one. Eli is the baby of the family.

What might have proved a disastrous fire was luckily averted on fourth floor East Wing on Tuesday morning. The window frame in room 32 caught fire and was burning rapidly when discovered. It was promptly extinguished.

One thing especially noticeable at the Senior-Junior game Saturday was the absence of the feminine members of the classes residing in the Institute, which was undoubtedly not owing to their lack of interest and desire to attend. Coeducation should be coeducation in all directions and not in a narrow sense. There is a time for study and a time for recreation, and "dissipation" can hardly result from attending an "Indoor Meet" and a basket-ball game in two days.

Musical Soiree.

On Wednesday evening the members of the College Glee Mandolin and Guitar Club entertained a number of their friends by a very pleasing musicale. Both college and seminary were well represented, and all present were greatly pleased by the charming programme.

The entertainment consisted of two parts, of 7 numbers each, all well chosen and well adapted to each performer, the programme being pleasingly varied by solos, duets, trios, quartetes, together with selections by the entire club.

This organization is an exceedingly well-balanced one, and their playing reflects great credit upon the careful training of Dr. Aviragnet. Especially noticeable features of their playing are their excellent time, unison, and expression. Each individual performer executed well the part assigned her, and the various solos, duets, etc., were very nicely rendered.

We have nothing but praise for the entire club, and only regret that the privilege is given to hear them so seldom.

The short interval between the two parts was well occupied in a social way, the shortness of the intermission being the only thing to regret.

1900 Basket Ball Record.

By defeating State College, March 3, Bucknell unquestionably earned the championship of Central Pennsylvania since Danville, Dickinson, Cornell and Bloomsburg have also gone down before the Lewisburg boys during the season. Although Bucknell was defeated at Bloomsburg and State College, yet the decisive victories at Lewisburg over both teams on the return games justify Bucknell's claim to the championship. The season just closed has been the most successful in the history of the game at Bucknell. Several new players have developed and the competition was very strong. The record stands as follows:

Danville 12, Bucknell 29; Bloomsburg 15, Bucknell 5; Dickinson 12, Bucknell 15; Dickinson 12, Bucknell 15; State 11, Bucknell 8; Cornell 10, Bucknell 29; Bloomsburg 5, Bucknell 25; State College 6, Bucknell 19.

Total points Bucknell 145, opponents 83.

VOL. IV. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 3, 1900. No. 25

Y. M. C. A. Greeting.

To the Members of the Y. M. C. A. and the Students of the University:

The President of the Young Men's Christian Association takes this opportunity, at the opening of the term, to call your attention to the work of our organization. You will find below the committees as appointed to serve under the new administration. We desire that you enter into the work as much as possible and make your share count. All can be and should be interested, not for the sake of the organization alone, but for their own sake.

We are sorry to see so many students who evidently have no thought for spiritual things during the week, not even as much as will take them to our prayer meeting for an hour on Tuesday nights. Such a condition would not be surprising if they were any better off by that indifference: but they cannot show us that they are, besides, when a person does not take time for spiritual things during the week, he doesn't usually have time on Sunday, the world controls him then.

We hope that many more of the students will find time to attend our meetings each week. Come and help, and you will be helped. We all need spiritual encouragement. Let us start the term right. If you have any objections to coming, come anyway and bring your objections with you: we have a box for you to put them in.

Now a word as to our membership: It is not as large as it should be; perhaps it is our fault: we may have missed asking you—if so, we beg your pardon. Anyone can belong. The membership consists of members of any evangelical church, as active members, and any others as associate members, so there is room for each one somewhere. The fee is only seventy-five cents per term. Isn't that low enough? Another thing, however, (and we supposet that is the reason why we cannot make a large showing as to numbers), we drop names if the dues are not paid. Can you blame us for that, isn't it business? Would you be a member of your club or society if you did not pay up? God's business is worthy of as good attention as anything else in which you are interested. Hear then the "conclusion of the whole matter": Come to our prayer meeting, you are always welcome; join our organization and feel that you have a part in the Christian work in our institution.

The committees are as follows:

A Notable Event.

The 80th birthday of the Rev. Dr. Henry G. Weston, president for a quarter of a century of Crozer Theological Seminary, at Upland, is to be appropriately celebrated next September. A committee, consisting of Rev. Elias Johnson, of the seminary faculty, Rev. F. C. Woods, pastor of Upland Baptist Church; Rev. J. G. Walker, Rev. A. J. Rowland, Rev. J. W. Lyell, have been appointed to take suitable action.

Dr. Weston is known all over the country as the "Grand Old Man" of the Baptist denomination.

He has been connected with Crozer Seminary since its inception. It was he who organized the faculty and put it on a solid foundation, and he was unanimously chosen its president.

Besides holding this office, he has the chair of preaching and pastoral work at the seminary. He is a lecturer of ability. He was a personal friend of the late D. L. Moody, and preached his funeral sermon.

The intercollegiate debating committee at Princeton University announced recently that it has chosen the following question for the annual debate with Yale, which will be held at Princeton on May 8: "Resolved, That the Hay-Pauncefote treaty should be ratified as originally submitted to the Senate (it being understood that any change in the treaty or any action of the Senate affecting the treaty shall not be germane to the question at issue)."

We are pleased to see Mr. Milligan, special, back again this term.

Timlin, '01, has not returned this term, he is engaged in teaching at his home in Punxsutawney, Pa.

Cunningham, '02, who has been sick for some time is improving and expects to be able to go home soon.

Yencer Weidensaul, '02, our genial Business Manager, spent the vacation week in Ashland visiting a brother there. He is back again, however, and is looking for those who have not yet paid their subscriptions for the ORANGE AND BLUE—look out for him.

Baseball Prospects.

The baseball candidates are taking advantage of the opportunities afforded by the agreeable weather and are engaged every afternoon in getting the kinks out of their arms and learning the rudiments of the great national game. Of last year's team there are at present five men left. This means that from new material there must be developed at least six men to represent the Orange and Blue on the diamond. The change in the home base will give the pitcher some anxiety at first, but that position will be ably filled by Prichard, Mathewson and Carlin. Of the three, Carlin is the only new man. He has fair curves, good control and with a little more speed he will be a valuable aquisition to the team. For first base, Edwards is a promising applicant. He is of ideal height for that position, and with proper coaching in stopping ground balls he should make a strong player. Second base will likely be filled by Davis, who played short stop in '99. He batted very strongly at the close of last season and his friends expect to see him do even better this year. Tufel at short stop is showing up in fine style and is batting like a veteran. Milligan will probably be given a thorough trial at third, and as soon as his arm gets in shape he should establish himself at that corner of the diamond. For the out field there are a hosts of candidates. Weidensaul the hard hitting centre fielder of last year will occupy his old position. He covers a vast amount of territory and is a sure, steady fielder. It is impossible to determine so early in the season who will fill the other out field positions. Kase, Kalp, Coon, Carlin, Walkinshaw, Sigel and English are men of whom little is known and from these must be selected at least one outfielder, and probaly one substitute. Sweet, Weymouth and Tufel are all candidates for a position behind the bat and that position is also undecided as yet. On the whole the indications are very encouraging, and Bucknell will undoubtedly hold her own in the college baseball world.

Manager Weymouth announces a very excellent schedule which we append:—

April 7, Syracuse Univ. at Lewisburg.

In another column we give an account of those men who are likely to develop into baseball players this season, and we also furnish you the schedule which manager Weymouth has prepared. On the whole we cannot but feel that indications are very encouraging for a successful season.

But the fact that we have a good manager, a hard working captain and men anxious to excel at their positoins does not entirely assure Bucknell that the season will be as successful as present conditions would lead us to hope. One thing is yet needed and that is an enthusiastic body of student supporters for all the games. We may have a good, earnest baseball team, but if the players feel that they do not have the college back of them, they will lack inspiration and, instead of developing into an aggregation that will carry the ORANGE AND BLUE into glory, the end of the season will find them a shiftless and good for nothing lot, suffering defeat everywhere. A large number of games will be played on the campus this year and every student should make it a point to witness these games and cheer the team to victory. As a pledge of your wish that we have a good team let a large number of rooters come out next Saturday and help our men defeat Syracuse.

It is pleasing to notice the increasing interest taken in the literary society work and studies of a similar nature. The two societies are at present well attended and excellent programs rendered. An exceptionally large number of students have also elected the work in English Oratory under Dr. Perrine. These facts indicate that there is a strong desire among the students for work of this kind. Every effort made by the faculty to stimulate this desire and to train in work of this character is surely appreciated by the student body.

However, we have been wondering why Bucknell is not represented in the Pennsylvania Oratorical Union. The contest of this union is held annually and honors awarded. This year it was held March 9, in the auditorium of Ursinus College. Lehigh, Muhlenberg, Ursinus, Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg, Swarthmore and Lafayette, all participate in these contests; but Bucknell looks on in silence. We do not know of any reason why this should be the case, although such reason may exist. It cannot be because Bucknell is too high for this class of colleges, for there is Lafayette whose standing we do not question. There is also Franklin and Marshal with whom we have our annual debates. It can not be that we are too low in standing, for there are some colleges represented that are much below us.

Is it on account of the expense? This is not very high, and our students are loyal enough to raise the money by individual contributions. Our department of English will compare favorably with that of any of the colleges represented, hence we do not lack instruction and drill. There are two hundred and seventy three students in our collegiate department, hence it is not for want of material.

Surely it would be an incentive, to have our college represented in this union. We spend much time and money on our athletics, which is perfectly proper; but we should not neglect those contests which represent the scholarship of our university.

The Sermon to the Christian Associations.

On Sunday morning the annual sermon to the Christian Associations of the institution was preached in the Baptist church. Pres. Alexander, of the College Association, read the lesson from II Timothy, 2nd chapter, and Rev. Judd led in prayer. After a solo by Miss Mabel Hancock, the Rev. Bartlett, of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia, was introduced.

The speaker said in opening that he came not as a patriarch loaded with old world wisdom, but rather as an elder brother. Throughout, the sermon was practical and was filled with a store of experience not to be found in text books. As an elder brother he sought to impress on his listeners the importance of the highest success. He spoke in part as follows:

Every man has his own definition of success, and there is a definition accepted by the world which few of us can attain, yet we may all be successful. "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." Young men and women should aim to put away a wrong idea of what constitutes success. What a calamity to come to a time when you will exclaim like another, "Behold all is vanity and vexation of spirit." All want to begin life right; time is so short that there is no room for mistakes. True, we learn by mistakes, but mistakes do not make a life righteous: one makes mistakes enough at their best.

What is it to succeed? Has anyone succeeded? Most certainly. Men and women whose influence does not die with them, who are blessing people whom they shall see for the first time before the throne of God—they have succeeded. Perhaps the world with its short, sharp, unsentimental verdict, "failure," may deny that their lives accomplish much. Compared with the worldly successful how do they stand? The lasting quality of the services that men perform makes them great, makes them potent. To which are men the more indebted, Paul or Napoleon? To the one who has contributed most to human progress clearly. Paul was then the greatest. The preacher considered for a time the mountain peaks of virtue in the character of Paul, mentioning those elements of character that stood out in his life, rare as they were in his time, far too rare in ours.

Paul's personal righteousness was spoken of first, because it is the prime structure on which a noble character can be built. Righteousness has to do with what a man is; it is the spirit that controls him. Paul in his life was willing to undergo suffering, but his character was in his own keeping. He kept "a conscience void of offence toward God." Let this be your motto; be righteous, be clean. They who think wrong thoughts cherish wrong motives.

A righteous soul is a morally fearless soul. Paul was fearless, but not bold in the sense of insolent; he was always courteous; he hated sin, but loved the sinner. Not a trace of compromise was there in his character,

The Phi Psi Dance.

The annual dance of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity was held Friday evening, Apr. 6th, in the Armory, which was very tastefully decorated for the occasion. Large festoons of pink and lavender were suspended from the sides of the building: huge streamers of the same colors stretched from window to window. The patronesses' corner was a study in green, the background of pines and evergreens harmonizing splendidly with furniture of a verdant hue. The main entrance to the Armory was draped with a mammoth American flag, behind which several very secluded, hence inviting, benches were "built for two." Directly across from the platform on which Stopper and Fisk's full orchestra, almost hidden from view by an abundance of green and fraternity colors, dispersed perfect music, was another retreat, draped on either side with heavy curtains and fitted with most luxurious looking cushions. This corner was exceedingly well patronized all evening in spite of a large, suggestive spoon that was suspended from the ceiling over the heads of the young "coo-ers." Mention should be made of the Greek letters Φ K Ψ, massive in appearance, on a background of pink and lavender, surrounded by a wreath of spruce. These were first to greet the eye as one entered the hall. At 11.30 o'clock delicious refreshments were served, after which the members of the stronger sex enjoyed the cigars and cigarettes that had been provided.

Altogether, the affair was a most successful one, about 150 people being entertained. The names of some of the guests from a distance are Misses Mann, Umberger, Armstrong, Messrs. Griffith, Lynch and Hayes, of Lock Haven; Misses Rockwell, Mr. Mulkie, of Union City; Miss Brewster, Messrs, Kelly, Packer, Engle, Purdy and Eichholtz, of Sunbury; Miss Wittenmyer, Middleburg; Miss Greene, Mr. Ed. Greene, of Lewistown; Miss McCain, Mr. Robb, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Creswell, Bloomsburg; Miss Watson, Mr. Ransom, Williamsport; Miss Shorkley, Oakland, Cal., Miss Beaver, Danville; Messrs. Godcharles and Chamberlain, Milton; Mr. Zimmerman, Pittsburg; Mr. Foster, State College.

The patronesses were Mrs. Grant Dreisbach, Mrs. James Halfpenny, Mrs. G. C. Kelly, Mrs. A. A. Leiser, Mrs. Wm Leiser, Mrs. Samuel Orwig, Mrs. W. C. Packer, Mrs. Geo. Weymouth, Mrs. W. E. Woodyear.

The ORANGE AND BLUE last week contained a number of typographical errors which escaped the proofreader's attention until too late for correction. In the Y. M. C. A. greeting the dues of the Y. M. C. A. were stated as seventy-five cents per term instead of twenty-five cents. Under College Notes Colleges of Liberal Acts were spoken of, instead of Colleges of Liberal Arts.

Syracuse 4, Bucknell 3.

When Bucknell lined up against the boys from Syracuse on Saturday, few of our own rooters looked for so close a score and fewer still for a Bucknell victory; in the latter point they were not disappointed, but in the former, a pleasing surprise was in store for them.

Judging from appearances the Bucknell team had few chances of victory, having practiced together less than a week, and having been greatly weakened by the loss of Stanton and Mathewson, in addition, Prichard, the only available pitcher, had a very sore arm. Syracuse, on the other hand, has had considerable practice and was in the best of condition. However, Bucknell pluckily went up against the odds and came within an ace of tieing the score. The defeat is no disgrace, while the plucky game is deserving of great credit. The first game is an indication of what the team is capable and should greatly encourage each player. We have no individual comments to make, but wish to once more emphasize the necessity of team work. To the boys on the hillside we wish to say, get in your rooting sooner. The team braced up in the ninth inning because of the encouragement from the rooters, and what happened once will happen again. If you want games won, make it manifest by your sympathetic cheering. There is no inspiration in playing for an indifferent crowd. Let the remainder of the season see an improvement in this line.

The game began shortly after 2:30 p. m. Bucknell went first to the bat, but drew a blank for their half of the inning, while Syracuse scored one.

The next inning was a blank, while in the fourth Bucknell "went up in the air" temporarily, and Syracuse tallied three. A fine brace on part of B. U. kept Syracuse from scoring again during the game, while Bucknell scored in the fourth and added one in the eighth and one in the ninth, barely missing a chance to tie the score.

Syracuse played fine ball, showing plainly the effect of practice. Bucknell played scarcely less well, but showed a lack of practice at critical points.

Death at Milton.

Edward C. Caldwell, son of Major John M. Caldwell, of Milton, died from Bright's disease on Tuesday of last week at the age of 22 years. He was a student at Cornell but home on Easter vacation. He was a former student at Bucknell in the class of 1901, and was well known in town and has a large number of friends who mourn his early departure. Ned was bright, active and in the vigor of young manhood. He was an only son and child and his death is a sad blow to his father and mother who have the deepest sympathy of the ORANGE AND BLUE in this hour of their affliction.

The following resolutions of sympathy and respect were passed by the Kappa Chapter of Sigma Chi, of which the deceased was a member:—

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty God to remove from this life our dearly beloved brother Edward C. Caldwell; and

WHEREAS, the Kappa Chapter of the Sigma Chi Fraternity deems it proper to pay a tribute to our departed brother and to place on record a testimonial of our esteem and of his loyal services to the Fraternity: be it

Resolved, That in our sincere grief and regard for our beloved brother, we will ever cherish his memory, his noble and manly character: and be it

Resolved, That we extend our most sincere sympathy to the bereaved parents: and be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his bereaved parents: that they be published in the Sigma Chi QUARTERLY and the college papers and that they be spread upon the minutes of the chapter.

Senior Meeting.

On Saturday morning the class of 1900 held one of the most important meetings of their history, and one that reminded its members that but few days remain to them to spend at good old Bucknell. The class discussed several very important plans for Class Day and the following committee on Class Day was appointed by Pres. Bell: Peck (chairman), Sherwood, Evans, Simons and Miss Zierden. Other committees were appointed; one on invitations and programs, consisting of Bunnell (chairman), De Witt and Carringer; another on class banquet, with Wassel (chairman), Deppen Switzer and Holland as members, and one on class pictures, composed of Simons (chairman), Rohrback and Miss Kline. The class decided to wear their caps and gowns at the customary college functions, viz: Pres Harris' reception and to the "At Homes," as well as during the regular exercises in commencement week. The class elected Mr. Shorkley captain of the 1900 athletic team which will enter in the exercises of Field Day.

Shipman, '99, came up from Sunbury on Sunday to visit friends.

It would contribute much to the general advantage and comfort of the student body if each individual would keep in mind what are virtually unwritten rules of the college. These are such as thoughtfulness for others and the sanction of custom naturally suggest.

To start in good time, let us take the Chapel exercises. Every one knows that the close of the first hymn ends the time for entering chapel. Yet almost any morning the exercises are interrupted by the noisy entrance of those who have come late. Rainy mornings, especially, bring matters to a climax.

It is quite true that some one is sure to be late to chapel nearly every day. Sometimes there are good and sufficient reasons for this. Sometimes there is no cause but that of pure indolence. There is no reason however, for tardy people inflicting discomfort on those who have made an effort to be in their places on time. All that is necessary, if one reaches the hall after the close of the first hymn, is to find the individual who marks for your row and apprise him of your presence in the hall. Surely, so small an amount of trouble is preferable to the disgraceful racket that is heard too often.

Another somewhat similar annoyance is that of entering class late. Here one not only loses part of the work himself, a matter which seems to affect many of us very slightly, but interrupts the recitation as well. We repeat that there are often good reasons for such tardiness, but needless loitering in the halls and long promenades on the walks could surely be reserved for some better time.

We are all accustomed by this time to the innocent suffering with the guilty. It is only when the suffering devolves entirely upon the innocent, as it does in both these cases, that we feel like making a slight protest.

Lehigh's Misfortune.

Our sympathy is extended to Lehigh University in her recent misfortune. The loss of her laboratory is one that can scarcely be estimated. It is considered that two hundred thousand dollars would cover the actual destruction of property, but many books, records and collections can never be replaced. The laboratory was one of the finest in the country. They intend to rebuild immediately, but this will cause them much financial embarrassment. Students can not be too careful in avoiding accidents of this kind.

We were pleased to notice the noble efforts of our faculty and students to prevent the destruction of property in the recent fire in town. Wearers of the Orange and Blue could be seen through the smoke on almost every roof struggling heroically against the approaching flames. When the engine arrived, people noticed that it was drawn by a noble band of Bucknellites, they having arrived at the engine house ahead of the firemen. Many also handled the hose, while others were removing the movable property that was in danger.

Though disinterested so far as personal loss was concerned, they worked with much spirit and courage. This was a commendable action, and no doubt was appreciated by the town people.

The Sermon to the Christian Associations.

even though that trait involved imprisonment, stoning or the loss of friends. On the Damascus road Paul met all rebuffs with the question :—"Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" The one who does not ask this question is enlisting in the army of cowards. The righteous soul will be an unselfish soul. Selfishness is the root of all evil. It was selfishness that caused Adam and Eve to fall : in the last analysis it was selfishness that nailed Christ to the cross. Christianity is the religion of unselfishness. Paul's life was a success because it was not dominated by worldly egotism and self-glorification. Rev. Bartlett then gave an estimate of the unselfish character of Christ.

In conclusion the speaker appealed quite strongly to the congregation. You have been endowed with certain capabilities and powers : what will you do with them ? God gave them to you to be used for him, which means for your highest good. He wants you to live noble, sweet lives: to be fisher of men, not seekers after self, but self-givers, God-receivers. The great temptation is to seek the wrong goal. It is better to make a straight path now when sin has not yet made deep scratches on the young character than to seek to make it right in later years with an accompaniment of tears and remorse. Dr. Bartlett did not counsel to despise honors, but to comprehend first of all the true end in life.

Bucknell Defeated.

The Bucknell baseball team was easily defeated by the team of Dickinson College at Carlisle on Saturday. The wearers of the Orange and Blue were outplayed in every department, and the home team had no difficulty in rolling up a big score.

The chances that Bucknell had for winning the game seemed good before the contest and a person who did not witness the game will wonder that Manager Weymouth's players could have been so easily defeated. But when everything is taken in consideration the result is not much to be wondered at. To begin with, the weather was better adapted to a football contest than a baseball game. A cold wind swept over the ball park and chilled the players to the bone. It must also have effected the ardor of our boys for their playing was listless from beginning. Unfortunately for Bucknell, the wind did not have the same effect on the Dickinson boys, for they acted like a lot of frisky colts. The Dickinson team, besides, was favored with all the luck. The element of luck was particularly prominent in the batting of the teams. The Bucknell team hit the horsehide almost as hard as their opponents, but they seemed unable to knock it into safe territory. The strong wind which blew over the park favored the home team, while the same element was disastrous for our boys. An instance of this was given in the seventh inning. There were three men on bases and two hands out, when Lauer came to the bat. He hit the ball in the direction of right field. Burkett, who was playing in right, started for the ball, and it looked like an easy out, until the ball was caught by the wind and carried far out of the fielder's reach. Three men scored and Lauer landed on third. In Bucknell's half of the same inning, with one man on base, Prichard hit the ball toward left field. It had the earmarks of a double, but the wind caught it and blew it into foul territory. Prichard returned to bat and hit the ball a vicious smash. The leather went on a dead line to the third baseman, who quickly threw up his gloved hand and struck the ball. The ball bounded into the air, and the baseman caught it when it came down. These are a few of the many disheartening incidents which Bucknell had to contend with. The umpiring of Prof. Landis was decidedly off-color, and both sides suffered through his mistakes, which, in justice to the professor, it must be said, were errors of judgement. The Bucknell boys got much the worst of his decisions, but they were compelled to "grin and bear it."

While the playing of our boys was far from perfect, they braced up at times and played good ball. Teufel at short captured nearly everything that came his way, and his throwing was first-class. Davis covered the initial sack in good shape, accepting fourteen of fifteen chances, many of them being very difficult. He and Wallauer figured in a pretty double play, each throwing ball across the diamond and catching a runner. Captain Weidensaul covered considerable territory in center field, and Graham, behind the bat, had a good record. The latter's hitting was also first-class. In four trials he had two singles and was robbed of a third by the fast fielding of the opposing fielders. Prichard, while he was in the box, filled his position well. He handled two bunts in fine shape. In one case he fell down in getting the ball and threw the runner out at first while lying on his back.

Dickinson has a good ball team as the Bucknell players will willing attest. They hit the ball at opportune times, and their fielding was all that could be desired. Hunt and Brown both pitched well, using a slow ball that proved quite difficult for the Bucknellites to hit. The game between the same teams, scheduled for this place, on Saturday, May 5th, is anxiously looked forward to by our boys, and the wearers of the Red and White may look for a tougher proposition that they had at Carlisle on Saturday.

Northfield Meeting.

Tuesday evening, April 17, at 7.00 o'clock, there will be held in Bucknell Hall an especially interesting meeting of the Y. M. C. A. of the college. It is the occasion of the Northfield Rally. Different members of the Association who have attended Mr. Moody's Y. M. C. A. students' conference during the past few summers will speak of the general and special phases of the work and life at Northfield, and its effect upon the lives of the men and upon the home association. Every one in the town, and the University are cordially invited to attend.

Bucknell Alumnae Club.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bucknell Alumnae Club was held Tuesday evening, Mrs. Matlack, the Vice-President, presiding. The subject for the evening was Sanitation. The first number on the program was a finely rendered violin solo by Brown Martin. Then followed a paper on Sanitary Legislation by Miss Stanton, who made a plea for the purity of the inland water supply, the enforced isolation of cases of measles, chicken-pox and similar contagious diseases and discussed the advisability of public crematories. Miss Iza Martin read a paper on "The Dairy, Farm and Water Supply," and Miss Mary Wilson one on "The Sanitation of Public and Private Buildings." The program was concluded with a pleasing vocal solo by Miss Hancock.

There will be a special meeting of the club next Thursday evening, at which Mrs. Campbell, of Wayne, President of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, will give an address.

Fun for Everybody.

The annual stag dance for the benefit of track athletics will be held in the Armory Hall on Friday evening, April 20th.

This annual affair has proved interesting and amusing in past years and strong efforts are being made to bring this year's dance fully up to the standard. Good music will be furnished by the town orchestra. A handsome prize will be offered to the one wearing the best original costume. A great deal of ingenuity has been shown in former years in the make-up of costumes and we may look for some entirely new designs this year. Let all who love fun and pleasure put on their thinking caps and begin to look around for some rich, fantastic costume and attend this, the dance of dances. Do not forget the date, Friday evening, April 20th. Admission 25 cents. This gives you the privilege of dancing all evening. Tell your friends, and bring them along.

Big Meeting for Bucknell.

"College Day" at the Philadelphia Ministers' Conference was an important meeting for Bucknell. The meeting took place two weeks ago and was referred to, in a local way, in our columns at that time. President Harris was one of the speakers. The subject of the meeting was in reality a discussion of the work now being done at the Baptist state seat of learning, Bucknell University. The raising of $75,000 for building and endowment purposes was fully discussed. It was reported that Mr. John D. Rockefeller gave a pledge that he would give $15,000 to the university provided $60,000 is raised within a given time. Of the whole amount $25,000 is to go into the endowment, and $50,000 toward building and improvements. Of the $60,000, about $25,000 is still needed.

Addresses were also made by A. J. Rowland, D. D., Henry G. Weston, D. D., and Rev. C. A. Hare.

Resolutions.

To the Lewisburg Fire Department, to the citizens of the borough generally, and to the students of Bucknell University:

The council wishes to express its deep gratitude for services rendered on the occasion of the big fire at the Central Electric and Foundry Co., on April 6, 1900, when by reason of a high wind prevailing, destruction of a part of the town seemed imminent.

The fire department is to be commended for the quickness with which it went into service and for the heroic efforts made to save the town, or a part of it from destruction.

The citizens and students are to be congratulated upon the noble efforts they exerted in extinguishing the various blazes that sprung up during the early part of the fire, on many buildings in the path of the wind. The "bucket brigade" speedily organized for the occasion did valiant work.

It is now "papa Helm" and our Professor of Economics is being congratulated by town and gown upon the advent of a new member of the Bucknell Faculty, who arrived early last week. The name of this clever youth is Edward Fielding Helm.

Dr. Hulley has been invited to deliver a course of ten lectures and teach Bible at the Beatrice Chataqua Assembly, Beatrice, Nebraska, from June 22 to July 2. He has also been appointed to the headship of the Hebrew and Bible departments at this Chataqua.

Prof. Owens described Hydraulic Cements before the Chemical and Physical Society on Thursday afternoon. A number of the members of the Society were absent. The meetings have been poorly attended lately. More should turn out, and by their presence express their appreciation of the efforts of those who work to make the programs successful.

Professors on the faculties of the University of Chicago are on record emphatically in favor of college athletics. At a meeting of the congregation recently held especially to discuss athletics, a resolution declaring that the "increasing interest in athletics in the university is undesirable," was voted down and a strong measure in favor of athletics was adopted in its place.

Miss Anna Belle Gray, a distinguished elocutionist from Washington, D. C., will give an entertainment in Bucknell Hall Monday evening, April 23. Miss Gray is a graduate of Ralston University, Washington, D. C., and is highly recommended as an artist in her profession. She has been engaged for instruction in elocution and for two entertainments at the Chautauqua Assembly at Mt. Gretna this coming season. Admission will be 25 cents. "From the Athenian democracy down, a favorite proceedure of the demagogue has been argument by epithet. When hard put for a principle he produces an insinuation disguised as an adjective." Nowhere does this kind of argument win more admirably than in the elections of our various college organizations. It should be said to the credit of the student body, there is a very strong sentiment against anything that has the appearance of a "clique." If a candidate is known to be on a slate he is very apt to be defeated if an independent man is nominated against him. No one is quicker to take advantage of such a sentiment than the demagogogue or ward politician. For this purpose he uses skillfully his argument by epithet; and the honest but unthinking student is apt to be mislead by him.

Facts will bear out the statement that a slate made out a full year ahead may win with a handsome majority simply by shooting, "political ring" at the other candidates.

This of course is a dishonorable way of getting an office and robs the various positions of the honor they would otherwise possess, but there always has been a few unscrupulous men seeking for every honor.

It has also been shown that this evil cannot prevail among us without having the appearance of good. It also teaches us that we should not be too hasty in listening to the stories usually afloat before an election: that we should sift the thing to the very bottom and act as reason and conscience dictate. Usually when a man asks you to vote for another for the purpose of "busting a ring" a very little bit of thought will convince you that there must be too rings in the field. The skilled politician uses this plan only to catch the honest voter; the dishonest man he can get for a mere song. Sometimes his vote is secured with money, sometimes by a place upon the ticket, and sometimes by a mere promise of future honors.

But little need be said upon the evils resulting from such a course. They are manifold. There are none in the great social circle of humanity whom they do not affect more or less. It the first place they injure the man upon whom the honors should have fallen. He is robbed as truly as if his money had been taken. But this injury is slight in camparison to that received by the man who secured the office and those who worked for him. He has been robbed of his character, which is beyond estimation. And, lastly, the state and society are injured. As the college is the trainer of the leaders of men, this will give us unscrupulous leaders in the state; and society is robbed just to the extent that men are robbed of character. In this matter, then, we should act not for ourselves alone, but act for all mankind.

Academy 9,-C. P. C. 0.

Bucknell Academy team won the opening game of the season against the Central Pennsylvania College team. The game proved to be an exciting one, the Academy playing poor ball the first three innings but afterwards pulled together and played elegant ball. At the end of the seventh inning the score was four to three in favor of C. P. C., and then realizing that the Academy would be victorious, instead of allowing defeat to overtake them they played the baby act and said they could not play any longer and so took their "play things," and went home. The umpire forfeited the game to the Academy. Score 9 to 0.

The boys did good work all around. The fine pitching of Little deserves special mention. The college men should take more interest in the welfare of the Preps and attend their games as the Preps do the college games.

Baseball Game.

The third game of the season was played on the home grounds last Saturday, Susquehanna University being our opponents. The day which began so auspiciously, clouded up about noon and rain begun to fall before the game was half finished; seven innings, however, were played, after which it was impossible to proceed, the ball becoming slippery and the field very muddy. During the early part of the contest Bucknell seemed to have an easy thing of it, but a slump in the fifth nearly lost us the game; to say the least, Susquehanna made things decidedly interesting and only by the most careful playing was the game finally won. However, we are glad to record a victory for Bucknell and hope that it is but the first of many. We are also glad to note that the undergraduate body took enough interest in the contest to get up and root at a critical moment. Keep up the good work, only begin a trifle sooner next time.

The game opened with Bucknell at the bat; our boys at once opened up on Moran and succeeded in scoring two runs in the first inning, while Susquehanna drew a goose egg. The second was blank all around. In the third Bucknell scored two, while Susquehanna duplicated the feat in the fourth. It was not until the fifth inning that the contest became really interesting, but then it became at once a "heart disease" game. Bucknell took her turn at bat and added three to her score, just by way of clinching things, and everyone settled down to watch the Selinsgrove lads be retired, but, as usual, the unexpected happened and Susquehanna was not to be denied—five runs and a tie score were the results of their efforts before the fifth inning closed. Our friend Rawlins, Susquehanna's 2d baseman, must be a pupil of W. J. Bryan—at any rate one would think so judging from his volubility; when it comes to gestures his stock in trade would do credit to an itinerant Jew. This fluency seemed to worry Bucknell considerably for after Weaver had filled the bases, no one seemed to know how to handle the first batted ball, and for a few minutes Bucknell showed unmistakable signs of being "rattled." However, the inning ended at last, and our boys steadied down greatly, playing a careful, sure game. Susquehanna got a dose of their own medicene, for it was right here that the rooters swarmed on the side lines and made things decidedly warm for Moran. One run in the sixth and one in the seventh ended Bucknells scoring, while Susquehanna did not tally again after the fifth, the final score being 9 to 7.

It is doubtful if Saturday's game was as well played as the Syracuse game. The boys batted fairly, but the base running was wretched, while several inexcusable errors were made in the field. Practice ought to eradicate every one of these faults. There is in the school material for a winning team; everyone is interested in seeing such a team: the majority of the Relay Preliminaries.

Immediately after the baseball game on Saturday the preliminaries were run off to pick the men for the relay team.

Eight men ran, in groups of two each, as follows: Shorkley vs Riemer, Morris vs Pierson, Glaspey vs Tiffany, and Goodall vs Young. The men were placed according to their time, and Goodall, Shorkley and Riemer are each sure of a place. The time of Pierson, Tiffany and Young was so nearly the same that these three will be given another trial next week, to pick the fourth and fifth men.

The track was heavy, and the weather exceedingly unpropitious, yet the time made was most encouraging—faster in fact than at any previous preliminaries. Coach Hoskins refuses to give out the official figures, but there is no doubt that the winning time was quite low.

Perhaps some may wonder at the small number of contestants, since in former years there has been a large number of men to try the prelims; this is due, not to any lack of men, but to the coach's method of dropping from time to time, the most unlikely men in the squad. The advantages of this system are obvious—the coach is enabled to give more time to the individual men, and the pick of the squad is secured, thus making the time very fast. Should Bucknell win her race next Saturday, she is entitled to the greatest credit. The entire season has been one long struggle against numerous disadvantages. Comparatively little interest is taken in track work at Bucknell, and but little support given in any way.

Consequently there has often been a lack of necessary material; in addition the track has been in the worst shape, having undergone repairs. At present however, it is nearly completed and bids fair to be a fast light track in a short time.

After Saturday's showing we feel much encouraged at the prospects of winning next Saturday. The time made was certainly excellent and the coming week should cut down the time of each man a second or two.

The relay men have worked most faithfully and are deserving of much sympathy and good support. If you are interested in the success of the team, manifest that interest in a substantial manner, when approached by those collecting funds for the team.

The senior class held a meeting on Saturday morning and discussed plans as to the exercises of class day. The feeling of the class seemed opposed to having Mantle Exercises this year and it is likely that the precident laid down by '99, will not be followed this year. Ivy exercises will, however, be given a place in class day.

Stag Dance.

The idea of this dance is to have the college men costumed, the spectators voting to decide who has the best costume and the fortunate masquerader receiving a prize. This custom was inaugurated by Manager Peck last year, and entered into largely by all the students. So successful was the dance that it was decided to make it an annual affair.

The dance on Friday was fairly attended, many of the townspeople as well as college men being present, and all having a very enjoyable time.

About nine o'clock the Lewisburg orchestra arrived and furnished music for the rest of the evening. The affair was very informal and ended at an early hour.

We are sorry to note that only one or two of the college men appeared in costume, and fewer were present than there should have been. Such events are among the most pleasant of our college life and each one should do his best to make them highly enjoyable. It is to be hoped that next year's stag dance will see a greater number of the students present, fittingly costumed.

Miss Anna Belle Gray.

The ORANGE AND BLUE went to press last evening too early to include a report of the recitations and entertainment given in Bucknell Hall under the auspices of the Northfield Fund Committee of the Y. M. C. A.

We are safe, however, in saying that all who attended the entertainment came away feeling satisfied and pleased. Miss Gray is a graduate and teacher in the Martyn College of Oratory, Washington, D. C., and is well thought of everywhere. Her attractive personality, her grace of movement, her splendid articulation and modulation of voice and her charm of manner impress every audience before which she has appeared and has won her many an admirer. The Northfield committee received many recommendations from Miss Gray's friends which came as voluntary expressions of the ability of this well known reader. The committee is to be congratulated for its efforts and success in giving Bucknellites an evening with an artist of Miss Gray's power. The readings were to have been pleasingly varied by music, rendered by some of Dr. Aviragnet's pupils.

The next game of collegiate baseball will take place next Friday afternoon on our campus, when Bucknell will play the strong team from Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg. A good game is assured—let all turn out.

"Johnny" Sinton, a member of '97, was recently ordained to the Baptist ministry in the First Baptist church, at Perkasie, Pa., of which he is pastor.

Mr. Frank Simpson, '95, visited his classmate, Prof. Davis, during the week.

Third Form Contest.

The Third Formers of the Academy had their annual contest in declamation for the Rev. David P. Leas prize, on Saturday evening. The weather was very disagreeable, yet a good sized audience assembled in Bucknell Hall to witness the efforts of the "Cad" boys and the audience was well repaid for coming. The contest went through without a hitch or halt of any kind. The excellence of the declamations was very complimentary to the contestants and to the instructor in elocution in the Academy—Miss Maud E. Hanna.

The speakers all manifested evidence of careful and painstaking preparations and showed good tact in the selection of their pieces. All presented a pleasing appearance on the platform and spoke in a clear and distinct tone so as to be easily heard all over the Hall. While there was no display of perfection in the art of declaiming, and we could not look for that, yet there was evidence of future greatness and success in oratory. The program opened with a march by Misses Patterson and Coleman followed by the Invocation by Principal Edwards. Miss Patterson then followed with an excellent piano solo. Edwin Carlin was the first speaker and gave Matthew Simpson's "Burial of Lincoln."

Elmer Watts next recited a selection from Elizabeth Stuart Phelps entitled, "A Man among Men." J. Brown Martin followed with an excellent violin solo, accompanied on the piano by Bryant Bower. This was substituted for Miss Hancock's solo since she could not appear. Following this Clyde Wolfe gave Cicero's oration against the Cataline Conspiracy, after which Russell Sanders recited Demosthenes' oration on Philip of Macedon. Robert Mackey next recited the trial scene of, "Bordell versus Pickwick," from Charles Dickens. An instrumental trio on the violin, cello and piano was next rendered by Messrs Martin, Wendel and Bower. Walter Hilton followed with Lord Byron's "Apostrophe to the Ocean," after which Zaccheus Daniel gave Lord Chatham's speech on, "The American War" delivered in the House of Commons during our Revolution. George App closed the program with Maurice Thomson's "Claudius and Cynthia." The winner of the contest will be announced on Commencement Day.

Alumnae Club.

A large number of Bucknell alumnae were present at the special meeting of the club held Thursday evening in the Institute parlors.

Mrs. Campbell, of Wayne, President of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, gave an address on "Federation." She spoke of the work the prominent women's clubs, both literary and departmental, are doing, and described her own home club. Then followed questions and answers concerning the subject, after which Miss Bacon sang "Oh, Mavourcene," and the meeting was turned into an informal reception, Refreshments were served and the evening was very pleasantly passed in making the acquaintance of the president.

There is no reason why Bucknell should not have a very efficient track team this year. For the first time we have a regularly employed coach and he is a hustler. We see him on the field nearly all of the time either working at the track or training the boys. The interest taken in the work by the runners shows their appreciation of his work; and the preliminary contest held on last Saturday justifies us in expecting good work of our team. However, let us not forget that they need our support.

When the warm days of spring come there is generally a disposition on the part of the students to cease attending the various religious and literary organizations of the college. This has not been noticed to any appreciable extent this spring, and we hope it may not be. Such organizations as the Y. M. C. A., the Literary Societies, the Demosthenian Club, the Shakespeare Club, the Chemical and Physicial Society, etc., aim to develop the student in their respective lines of work. One cannot expect to receive the intended benefit if he attends irregularly.

The amount of culture missed by not attending a few of these meetings would not be so great if the habit thus formed could be left out of the question. The habit of attending every meeting of the organization with which one is allied is in itself the moulding of character. The will power gained by forcing one's self to attend these meetings when his physical nature revolts is a victory.

Of course it is not possible for all of the students to be members of all of these organizations, nor would it be advisable to do so, but every student should identify himself with one or two which he considers the most important and then attend regularly regardless of a warm spring.

Northfield Rally.

The annual Northfield Rally was held in Bucknell Hall on last Tuesday evening. Although there was not as many men out as there should have been the strength of the meeting was not impared.

Mr. Morris gave a short talk on "A General View of Northfield." He spoke briefly on the various phases of the work there; giving some idea of the programme, the amount of time devoted to the various departments of work, and the opportunities for games, sports, etc. Mr. Alexander spoke of the work in Bible Study, the methods, courses and leaders. The methods are "Normal." The courses and teachers for this year are as follows: Freshman course, "Studies in the Life of Christ," lead by Wright, of Yale. Sophomore course, "Studies in the Acts and Epistles," lead by Bosworth, the author. Junior course, "Studies in the Old Testament Characters," lead by Sailer, of U. P. "Personal Work," under the direction of S. M. Sayford. Mr. Ayres spoke of the platform meetings and their spectators. Some of the men for this year are Speer, Jefferson, Vincent, Torry, Pres. Shurman. Other men of eminence from all parts of the world will be obtained. Mr. Harvey took up the general "Atmosphere" of Northfield. He showed that one of the greatest benefits was in the meeting of such men as you come in contact with there. Mr. Reno presented the financial side fo the question. He showed that not only the man who goes to Northfield is benefitted but the entire Association by the reports and the influence of the delegate upon his return. For this reason we wish to pay part of their expenses. He urged that Bucknell be well represented in this "congress of colleges." To be so, we need the support of the entire student-body.

VOL. IV. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 1, 1900. No. 29

Bucknell 16, Gettysburg 8.

Bucknell won her second victory of the season last Friday by defeating the boys from Gettysburg, the final score being 16 to 8. From the very first B. U. had things all her own way and the result was never in doubt; interest in the game, however, was kept up throughout by pretty bits of fielding, some good hitting and numerous errors, which rendered it more exciting. The latter, tho', were mostly credited to our Gettysburg friends.

Weaver pitched for Bucknell during the first six innings, and showed that his arm is getting into shape once more; while Gettysburg made several hits, they were kept well scattered. Ketterman on the contrary was hard hit throughout and was relieved by Gladfelter in the seventh inning, while Pepper was substituted for Weaver.

The game opened with Bucknell at bat. Weidensaul reached first on Gettysburg's error, made 2nd on Teufel's safe bunt and stole 3rd. Doolan got his base on balls, filling the bases. Graham made a corking hit to center, driving in 2 runs. Prichard followed with a fine hit to right and two more runs came in. One more run was secured and the next 3 men were retired in order. In Gettysburg's half of the inning Moser was retired at first; Gladfelter's ugly grounder bounded over Teufel, leaving the runner safe; Lantz was given a base and Krout hit safely, Gladfelter scoring on Teufel's poor throw; Doolan made an error, and the ball went thro' Graham, letting in Gettysburg's second score: Wallauer tagged the next man at 3rd and Doolan ended the inning with a fine catch of a hot liner, after Gettysburg had secured one more run.

In the second inning Weaver and Weidensaul scored on errors by right field and 3rd base. Prichard flied out and Teufel scored. Davis went out on a long foul and Doolan was caught at third. Weaver gave a base on balls, but the next two men were thrown out at 2nd and the side retired by an out at first.

In the third B. U. added one more run. Milligan reached 1st on error, but was thrown out at 2nd. Weaver went out at 1st, but Weidensaul got 2 bases on Gettysburg's error, scoring a moment later on Teufel's hit. Doolan's high fly was captured by Doty, thus retiring the side. For Gettysburg the first three men were retired in one, two, three order.

In the fourth Graham reached 1st, stole 2nd and reached 3rd on an error, Prichard being safe on 1st. Graham scored a little later on a passed ball while Prichard was out at 3rd. Davis and Wallauer were retired in order. Gettysburg was again retired in one, two, three order, two men being thrown out at 1st and one flying out to Weidensaul.

Milligan went first to bat in the 5th. After reaching 1st on an error he was caught at 2nd. Weaver made 1st on another error, making 2nd on Weidensaul's hit and scoring on Teufel's nice drive. Weidensaul stole 3rd and Doolan reached 1st on an error. On the next play Weidensaul scored but Teufel was out at 3rd. Prichard reached 1st and Doolan scored, the next man going out. For Gettysburg the first two men were retired, but Lantz hit safely and stole 2nd. On Wallauer's error Krontz reached 1st but Lantz was captured at the plate on Prichard's fine throw home of Hoffman's hit.

Wallauer opened the 6th by an out. Milligan reached 1st and Weaver hit to right. Milligan made 3rd and two runs came in on Weidensaul's hit. Bucknell was retired by a neat double between Krout and Hoffman. Pepper then relieved Weaver and Doty hit safe. Floto followed suit, while White went out at 1st. Ketterman was thrown out at 1st, but Doty scored. Floto came home on Moser's hit, but Gettysburg was retired by a double play, Teufel to Doolan to Davis.

In the seventh Doolan reached 1st, Graham was out at 1st and Prichard got 3 strikes, but White dropped the ball, Prichard reaching 2nd on his wild throw to 1st, Doolan scoring. Davis and Wallauer were out in order and Gettysburg came to bat. The first man up hit safely and stole 2nd, while the next man got a life on Pepper's error. A hit by Hoffman sent in one run, but Krotz was nabbed at 3rd. On Wallauer's error Hoffman scored and Doty was out at 2nd. Teufel made an error and Lotz was safe. A high foul to Graham ended the inning.

Neither side scored in the 8th or 9th innings and the game closed with Bucknell ahead by 8 runs. Summary:

Relay Carnival.

Penn's Relay Carnival this year was probably the greatest athletic meet ever held in America. Certainly it was a championship meet and a more representative one than the usual Intercollegiate. College and schools from all parts of Eastern and Central United States were among the contestants, making it a genuine national meet.

One of the striking events was the capture of the one mile championship by a Western team, viz: Chicago. The time 2.23 3-5, was within 2-5 of a second of the world's record in this event held by Harvard, and proves that the athletic supremacy so long enjoyed by the East is no longer a matter of certainty.

Another fine event was the relay race which Syracuse won in the splendid time of 3.27. The contestants were Syracuse, Columbia, Cornell, State, Lafayette, W. U. P.

The time made establishes a new record for college races, outside of the championship race. Syracuse has reason to feel proud of her athletes. The one mile Prep. school championship was also a record breaker, Hill School lowering the record for that race to 3.31 4-5.

These were all fine races, and tho no others were so fast, good races were not scarce. Indeed the runners seem to have made out better than those who competed in the field events, taken altogether.

The pole vault contest was won at 10 feet 10 in.; hammer throw at 144 feet 7½ in.; discus throw at 120 feet 5 in. and shot put at 45 feet ½ in. These figures are all lower than had been counted on. The high jump, however, was not a disappointment, as Baxter won at 6 feet, 1½ inches.

By far the most noteworthy events of the day were Duffy's run in the 100 yards open and Prinstien's great broad jump.

The figures made in both events stand as world's records. Duffy covered his 100 yards in 9 4-5 seconds, while Prinstein cleared 24 feet 7½ inches in the broad jump, thus breaking Kraenzlein's great record of last year.

In point of attendance, number of entries, and records broken, this is undoubtedly Penn's greatest athletic carnival. It is doubtful if another so successful, will be held for a long time. The one disappointment to all Pennsy's sympathizers is that they were whipped in every event but one.

According to the latest catalogue of the ten leading American universities their relative strength is as follows: Harvard, 5,250; Columbia, 3,729; Washington, 3,346; Yale, 2,688; Pennsylvania, 2,651; Cornell, 2,645; Wisconsin, 2,025; Chicago, 1,680; Princeton, 1,194; Johns Hopkins, 932. Harvard has the largest academic department, with 1,897 men. Cornell is ahead in scientific students, having 795. Columbia's registration in medicine, graduate schools and teachers' courses is greatest, being respectively, 767, 383 and 356 students.

Bucknell Wins at U. P.

Of all the events which took place at Philadelphia on Saturday, the one in which we were most interested was our race with F. and M., Dickinson, Gettysburg, Ursinus and the Indians.

It is with the greatest pleasure that we record a victory over such a worthy group of adversaries—a victory well reserved at that.

When this race was called, Ursinus failed to appear, and Bucknell was in 5th place, or farthest from the pole. The race started with all five runners well bunched and continued so around the curve and well down the back stretch; here, "Lo, the poor Indian" took the lead and kept it until nearly around the last bend, when Goodall, Bucknell's first man, drew neatly away from the bunch and finished in his usual strong manner. His headwork in getting around the pack without either fouling or being pocketed is commendable. Tiffany then took up the race, running strong and steadily and adding somewhat to the fine lead given him by Goodall. Our third man was Riemer, who not only held his own, but also contributed a few yards to the lead, so that Shorkley started with a very substantial lead. "Shork" started at a fine pace, never slowing up until he passed the tape with Bucknell a winner in 3.39 1-5. Each man of the four added his portion to the gain, and each ran a fine race. Had B. U. been pressed it is probable they could have cut down their time by two or three seconds. As it is, the victory is a magnificent one, and the time the fastest ever made by a Bucknell team.

We wish to congratulate the team upon their fine work and also Coach Hoskins, to whose able and faithful coaching much of the success is due.

Founder's Day of Π Β Φ.

As a celebration of Founder's Day the girls of Pa. Beta chapter of Pi Beta Phi fraternity entertained their patronesses, alumnæ and other friends in the gymnasium Saturday evening.

The feature of the evening was a farce entitled a "Box of Monkeys," the caste being as follows: Mrs. Ondego-Jhones, Miss Mabel Wheeler; Miss Sierra Bengaline, her niece, Miss Edna Bacon; Lady Guinevere. Miss Carrie Halfpenny: Chauncey Oglethorpe, Miss Jeanette Shepard; Edward Ralston, Miss Iza Martin.

The characters were exceedingly well-taken and the play was a decided success. The gym. was very prettily decorated. the south end of the room, used as a stage, being fitted up as a parlor.

Refreshments were served at nine o'clock, after which the evening was spent in dancing. The occasion was a very enjoyable one and reflects great credit on the ability of the Π Β Φ girls at entertaining.

In giving the list of Commencement speakers in last week's issue we inadvertently omitted the name of Edgar Reed, whom we are glad to announce as one of the ten who have earned this high honor.

Our congratulations are extended to the Y. M. C. A. boys on the success of their entertainment on last Monday evening. Every one will agree that the time and money was well spent in attending. Miss Gray is excellent in her line of work, and the entertainment was all that was claimed for it. The attendance was large and the success of the work insures a full house for future entertainments that our friends may be pleased to give. We should all give our loyal support to this organization.

The college chapel choir has been criticised much in days gone by—sometimes unkindly and often unjustly, by those who hardly take the time to consider what a real service the men who sing in the morning chapel are doing for us and what a sacrifice it is. It surely means that time must be devoted to practice and if the result of such effort meets the disapproval of the college community men will drop from the choir on account of the small encouragement. Now the chapel choir is truly rendering us a service for which they deserve our support and encouragement.

Of late the choir has been steadily improving—a spirit of unity is manifest in their melody, and their songs do not jar on the ears of those whose taste is satisfied with harmony. The fact that the voices are chording better together shows that the choir is being drilled more efficiently. So then let there be a pause in criticism and let every improvement be noted and do not forget to whom belongs the credit. Those who can sing well and who do not make an effort to help the chapel choir to be more successful are the ones who merit most of the criticism; the choir needs their voices rather more than their condemnation. Every man who sings should feel responsible for the choir—and why men only? Should not the college woman have a share in this part of the chapel exercises that are as much for her as for the college man? We think so and believe that the advent of a choir of mixed voices in the chapel exercises would be a pleasing change.

We feel much gratified with the results of the relay races on Saturday, because Bucknell has again taken her rightful place at the head. Great credit is due to those fellows who by constant practice and powerful exertion made the result possible. This applies to all those who were in training during the season, even though they were not successful in getting a place on the team. It was a case where, "many are called but few chosen" and "many called" are necessary to the "few chosen."

The fact that we have several very fast men who stepped out of the race without a murmur, but are yet in training gives us hope and courage to meet State College with a determination to win. Many students and friends of the University gave substantial encouragement to the work; to these we would also give due credit for our victory. It goes without saying that the coach, who transformed a last year's substitute into one of the fastest men on the team, is the main spoke in the wheel.

State College meets us this year on our own field. Let us remember we have the same team with other material in training. We have the same coach to develop men for the other events. Should we not give our most earnest support? Those students who have any ability, however small, along any line should come out. No one can know beforehand what latent powers he may have awaiting development. Let us put our whole heart into this work and make it a success.

Final Prelims.

On Wednesday last occurred the final prelims to choose fourth and fifth men for the Relay Team. The contestants ran in pairs as in the semi-finals, and were grouped as follows:

Glaspey vs. Young, and Tiffany vs. Pierson. Both Glaspey and Tiffany were successful in winning their heats and also in making the best time. Consequently they went to Philadelphia with the team which consisted of Goodall, Tiffany, Riemer, Shorkley, and ran in the order above named. Glaspey was taken as fifth man. Manager Hottenstein and Coach Hoskins also accompanied the team to Philadelphia.

Before the team went to Phila. C. E. Goodall was elected captain, vice T. J. Morris, resigned.

The Mask and Wig Club of the Univ. of Penna. gave a burlesque entitled "Mr. Aguinaldo, of Manila," at the Lycoming Opera House, Williamsport, on Saturday evening.

Academy Notes.

On Saturday afternoon the Academy team went to Sunbury where they crossed bats with Sunbury High School team and as a result of good all 'round playing defeated the Sunbury boys to the tune of 15 to 8. The features of the game were the excellent work of the Academy infield and the pitching of Little who succeeded in striking out thirteen of the opposing team's players. The boys were exceedingly skillful in stick work as well as in fielding, one home run being made on the Acad. side. The ball was not only hit often, but at times when hits meant runs, while when Sunbury was at bat, Little kept the enemy guessing and the hits made were rather scattered and infrequent. On account of lack of room it is impossible to print a summary of the game, but let us say that it will be well for the college to keep their eyes on Little—this clever youngster will give a good account of himself when he enters college and will hustle some of the college pitchers to hold their positions.

Rev. S. F. Forgeus, D. D., Bucknell '72, visited the college and led the chapel on Wednesday morning.

Bloomsburg Game.

Poor base-running, a costly error and inability to connect with the ball when hits were needed, were responsible for the defeat of Bucknell's baseball team at the hands of the Bloomsburg Normals at the latter place on last Wednesday. The score was, Bloomsburg 4, Bucknell 3.

The game had been advertised as "the game of the season," and that's exactly what it proved to be, from the standpoint of both teams. Manager Weymouth's nine played an excellent game, and it was only by a single unfortunate misplay that the Normal boys won. With the exception of one error, which was responsible for three runs, Bucknell did not have a misplay which counted for anything.

In the second inning three hits were made, but no one scored, two men being caught off first. Bucknell had nine singles off Williams, who is said to be one of the best college pitchers in this section. But these hits could not be secured when needed, except in one or two instances.

This is the way Bloomsburg made her runs: Newton and Williams singled in succession; Byron flied to Teufel: Lewis sent out a hit which secured Newton. Williams landing on third; Breon sent a grounder to Teufel, who made a neat stop and threw home to head off Williams, the ball going three feet over Graham's head. Williams and Lewis scored and Breon rested on third. Breon scored on Ronemus' out from Davis to Prichard—a nice play. Gernert singled, but was caught at second from Carlin, who muffed Hoy's fly to Teufel. Bloomsburg had other chances to score, but was prevented from doing so by Prichard's pitching and the clever work of the fielders.

Bucknell secured its first run in the eighth, on a base on balls, a sacrifice, a single, and a fly to the outfield. The visitors gave the 300 spectators present a good scare in the ninth. Prichard was out on a fly to pitcher. Milligan got his base on balls, but was forced at second by Davis: Carlin and Wallauer got to first on errors of the infield, and the corners were filled. All hope was placed in Captain Weidensaul, who hit out a pretty single to right, scoring Davis and Carlin. By this time Mr. Williams was "up in air." Teufel drew a base on balls, and the bases were full again. Doolan, who already had two hits, came to bat, but he had the misfortune to knock a foul, which Aldinger captured, and the game was over.

Dickinson Game.

When Bucknell met Dickinson College on Saturday, she was up against the fastest ball team faced this season. Dickinson won the game on her merits, as she played a careful, scientific game from start to finish; no misplays of Bucknell are responsible for her defeat.

The game opened with Bucknell at bat. Weidensaul, Teufel and Doolin were out in order and Rothermel opened up for Dickinson, being hit by a pitched ball. Lauer was safe on an error, but Runkle was out, being hit by a batted ball. Adamson got first on an error and the bases were full. Bindenberger died at first, but Rothermel scored on the play. Hahn followed with a safe hit, scoring Laurer, but McGuffie was out at first, ending the inning. Both sides were blanked in the second and third.

Bucknell failed to score in the fourth, but Dickinson added two to her tally. Teufel was out to Hahn, and Dorlin to center field; just here Graham cracked out a beautiful double, but Prichard was out to short and Bucknell's chance to score gone. Hahn was safe on an error, McGuffie bunted, and on Prichard's high throw to first, Hahn scored and McGuffie was safe on third. Kerr flied to left, but McGuffie scored on the throw in: Russel was thrown out at first by Prichard and Rothermel fouled out to Graham. The fifth was a blank all around.

Bucknell rallied and scored two runs in the sixth, while Dickinson failed to score. Weidensaul hit safely, Teufel was out at first, but Doolin hit one for two bags and Weidensaul scored. Graham hit safely and Doolin scored by a beautiful slide to the plate. Prichard was out at first and Milligan followed suit on a fly to left. Dickinson failed to score.

Bucknell was retired in one, two, three order in the 7th, while Dickinson had two men left on bases. One man only reached first in Bucknell's half of the 8th, but Dickinson scored five runs. Adamson fouled out. Bindenberger hit safely, and scored on an error. Hahn got third and McGuffie was safe on an error. Kerr was safe at first, but Hahn was caught home. Another error filled the bases, while a hit and a fourth error brought in four more runs before the agony was ended.

G. A. Grim, '00, spent several days with his classmate R. H. Kress last week before sailing for Europe on the City of Rhone, Saturday, May 5th. Prof. Grim with two friends expects to tour the continent for the summer, taking in the Passion Play and the World's Fair at Paris.

The Soiree.

The annual Soiree of the fourth year class of Bucknell Institute was given by the class of Nineteen-one on Saturday evening last at eight o'clock. A goodly number of friends of members of the class was gathered filling the school room. Representatives from College, Academy, Institute and town were present. The men clad for the most part in conventional dress and the ladies beautifully gowned in evening garments, we doubt not, gave encouragement to the nine fourth year girls who took part in the "Interpretation of Tennyson"—the evening's subject.

The exercises were opened by a "Danish March," played by Miss Aiken, during which the Institute faculty and the fourth year girls entered, the latter taking their places in two temporary recesses built of tropical plants and class colors on each side of the platform. The entire end of the school room was a dream of loveliness and void of all suggestion of the dull routine of Latin or Mathematics to which it is devoted on common days. The combined effect of cleverly arranged decorations, a smartly dressed audience and the costumes of the Tennyson girls gave the school room a most pleasing effect, so that the room could not have been recognized by one who knew it only in the prosaic plainness of its everyday appearance.

After the last strains of the march died away, the recitations were begun by the class members, who assumed the characters of some of Tennyson's women and were clad in a way befitting the part taken. The following were the characters: Tennyson's Women, Miss Ruth Lesher: Dora, Miss L. E. Felsburg; Mariana, Miss Lula Biddle: Amy, Miss Ruth Stephens: The Spinster, Miss M. C. McGann: The May Queen, Miss Elsie Seiler: Elaine, Miss J. E. Murphy: Lady Clara Vere de Vere, Miss Harriet Emerick: The Princess, Miss Groff.

The young ladies succeeded in covering a wide range of the emotions which England's immortal poet—laureate knew so well how to depict. Humor, the tragic, and the gentler emotion—Love, were all given a place and each part was rendered with considerable ability. The excellence of the entertainment showed what painstaking care had been given the preparation of it and reflected great credit both on individual members of the class and also on Misses Stanton and Hanna, to whose efficient teaching and drilling the success of the evening was in great part due. The entertainment ended with a tableau in which Tennyson's fair maidens circled around the pretty little "May Queen" giving her worthy homage, while the Princess placed on her head a crown of narcissus. The music of the evening was furnished by the Misses Aiken, Louise Lawshe and Knox, the latter singing several of Tennyson's songs.

In the informal reception that followed, the heartiness of congratulation bore adequate testimony that all were greatly pleased and that the evening had been instructive as well as entertaining.

Annual Inter Class Field Day.

The Annual Inter-class Contest in Field and Track Athletics will take place on the Athletic Field on Saturday afternoon, May 12th. This contest is doubly important this year, as it occurs the week before the meet with State College, and will serve as a preliminary in which the men will be chosen to represent Bucknell in the dual meet, on Friday, May 18th. Every class should turn out a strong team, and see that there are at least two entries for each event. If any class has not yet elected their class captain, it should do so at once, or the Class President should appoint some one to arrange the entries for the class, for all entries must be handed in to either Coach Hoskins or Capt. Sherwood by nine P. M. to-day.

Let everyone show their class spirit by entering some events or by cheering on those who are striving for the honor of their class. Upon the success of this contest depends largely the result of the State meet, and our best is the least that we should do. Coach Hoskins will gladly furnish information concerning any of the events, etc., to those who desire it. Let us all turn out and make it "go."

A Fraternity Contest.

Manager Weymouth of the baseball team has had an elegant cushion made in town, worth eighteen dollars. This cushion will be awarded to the fraternity receiving the highest number of votes. Anyone may vote as often as they please without being charged with ballot box stuffing, the only condition being that each vote will cost ten cents. The votes will be counted and the cushion awarded on June 9. The cushion is on exhibition in Voris' window on Market Street and votes are to be obtained from Manager Weymouth or Captain Weidensaul. Proceeds for the benefit of the baseball team.

Prof. Ford to Lecture at Bucknell.

Announcement has been that Prof. S. T. Ford, of Baltimore, impersonator and humorist, will give an entertainment in Bucknell Hall on May 10 for the benefit of the Base Ball team. Prof. Ford has been at Bucknell several times in the past, his last appearance being May 3, 1898. Those who heard him at that time were delighted and enjoyed an evening of jolly fun. If you desire a good laugh hear Prof. Ford. Tickets 25c.

L'Agenda.

The 1901 L'Agenda went into the bindery last week and the management informs us that the books will be here for distribution in a very short time. It will be a good idea to lay aside your dollar at once. If you have not already subscribed for a copy, do not delay further in the matter.

A large number of the College and Academy boys visited Forepaugh and Wells' big show in Sunbury, on Thursday.

We are sorry to note that the home team has omitted, after each game, to give the college yell and a cheer for their opponents. This is a simple matter of college courtesy, and visiting teams are entitled to as much courtesy as they give. We trust this matter will be remedied at once.

There have been a great many harsh things said about our baseball team's work on Saturday. The work was not what it might have been but no doubt each man played the best he could, and there is no use in being down on the players. Censuring the players makes it all the harder for the management to get a good team. If men do not try for the team they are berated for not being loyal; if they do the best they can we are cross after every defeat. We are indeed "Like children sitting in the market place." No one feels the sting of defeat more keenly than the players. We cannot always win, so let us do all in our power to develop winning teams and when defeated, accept the inevitable.

There is nothing more commendable in a student body than true loyalty to their institution. On the other hand, nothing is more painful to the true collegian than to hear words of adverse criticism heaped upon his college by one who should be her loyal supporter. The college is indeed the alma mater of the man who has completed his course in the right way. She has brought him into a new sphere of life. He thinks as she has taught him to think. He actually breathes her spirit. Her life-blood, as it were, courses through his veins.

It is not necessary to be always boasting the praises of the college. Sometimes the very opposite is the most effective. The true collegian goes about his business in such a way as to bring success to himself and honor to his college. His heart is full of love for the institution, and he unconsciously reveals it in his conduct, in his contributions to her organizations, in his studies and in his life.

It is sad but true that we often hear damaging criticisms of our colleges even before the public outside coming from those who are enjoying the privileges and the benefits of the endowments. But it is characterstic of some people to be ungrateful in proportion to the benefits received from others. These are the people who do not see good in anything. They are approached for support to athletics and they say that the contests are not fair and so they cannot support them. They don't support the literary societies because of some conceived injustice, and so with various other organizations. They go into the class room with magnifying glasses to look for some little fault of the professor, overlooking his many good qualities. Thus some persons spend their lives in the lower sphere, a burden to themselves and an annoyance to others, instead of broadening out into the higher life which it is their privelege to enjoy.

It is true we do not find perfection in our organizations or in our college work, but we must not allow little imperfections to injure our life or prevent our being loyal to our institution. With what enjoyment will we look back upon our college days when we have left her walls! With how much pride we will watch her victories in every contest when we know we helped to make her what she is! All this will depend upon our degree of loyalty while students.

H. Senn, ex '01, visited his brother, W. Senn, '03, and his Kappa Sigma brothers in College, several days during the week. He was returning home from the Medico Chirurgical College in Philadelphia.

Institute Notes.

The Bucknell Institute Annual Contest in Elocution will be held in Bucknell Hall, Saturday evening, May twelfth, at eight o'clock. Everyone is invited to be present.

Miss Gertrude Grant, a graduate of the Institute, is visiting her ΠΦ sisters in town and in the Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawshe, of town, were the guests of Miss Knox at dinner Friday evening.

Mrs. Foster, of State College, was entertained by Miss Aikin at dinner Friday.

Miss Lyon, of New York, secretary of the Students volunteer movement was a guest at the Seminary several days last week and addressed prayer-meetings held Thursday and Friday evenings.

Yesterday afternoon's "At Home" was well attended and enjoyed as all of Miss Stanton's functions are. The Seniors, clad in cap and gown, were centres of interest and remark. The decorations of the school room which the skillful fingers of the girls of the soiree committee placed there, were still allowed to give forth their charm. The next "At Home" which will be the last of the year, will probably be held on the Institute campus.

Annual Track Meet.

On Saturday was held the annual track meet between the four classes. It was a day of surprises all around, especially when the freshmen won out handily with 48 points. The Seniors, heretofore Invincible, and the picked winners, could get no better than second, with 35½ points. Third place went to 1902 with 28¼ points, while the Juniors were fourth with 19 points. aving the weather, everything was greenable and the events were run off romptly: a fair sized crowd was in attendance and several of the contests were close and exciting. The first event, the 100 yds. dash, was won by Tiffany, 1903, with Mitchell, 1903, second and Shorkley, 1900, a close third. Fourth place was won by Pierson, 1901. Time, 10 3-5 seconds. Sherwood, '00, was an easy winner in the hurdles in 17 2-5 seconds, with Mitchell, '03, second, Dershimer, '03, third and Hottenstein, '00, fourth. In the 220 Shorkley, '00, won out with Tiffany, '03, a close second, Wassell, '00, third and Prichard, '02, fourth. Time 25 seconds. The quarter mile was a pretty race, with Goodall leading and Glaspey, Wassell and Young fighting for second. The last 40 yards settled the question of second and third and the men finished in the above order. Time 58 seconds. In the half mile there were six starters. The men were well bunched for the first quarter, with Morris leading at the finish and Goodall a close second. Young finished third while Ruhl got fourth place. Time 2.19. The mile run was somewhat of a procession, with Riemer leading from start to finish in 5.19 2-5. Sterling put up a game race, finishing second and surprising everyone. "Sterl" will go up against State on Friday as a result. Fetzer proved that he is a coming star by winning and leading the 2 mile race. His finish was very strong and considering the fact that there was no one to push him the time was good. Edgett, without any training, pluckily held on and beat Snow out for second place, while Reno took fourth. Time 12.13 2-5.

At the same time the races were being run off, the field events were taking place in turn. The entire programme was conducted according to intercollegiate rules. This put the high jump first, which was won handily by "Merl" Edwards, '03, at 5 ft. 3 in. Weymouth and Theis tied for second place at 5 ft. 2, dividing the points instead of jumping off the tie. Trax took third place.

In the broad jump Sherwood had an easy thing at 19 ft. 10 in. Lesher won second, with Trax a close third, while Edwards secured fourth.

Taylor won the shot put at 35 feet, with Armour, Rowe and Gray 2nd, 3rd and 4th in the order named. The hammer throw went in about the same order with Taylor 1st at 91 ft. 6 in. Elliot 2nd, Rowe 3rd and Armour 4th.

The final event—the pole vault, was won by Theis at 9 ft. 4 in., with Lesher 2nd at 9 ft., Elliot 3rd and Wolfe 4th.

The meet as a whole was quite successful, although no fast time was

Bucknell 9—F. & M. 5.

Bucknell's baseball team won its third game of the season on last Thursday, when it downed the nine from Franklin and Marshall on the college campus by a score of 9 to 5. Both sides put up a good fielding game, and it was Bucknell's superior work with the stick that enabled her to win.

For the fourth time this season Prichard was on the slab for Bucknell, and with the assistance of the men behind him, succeeded in shaking the hoodoo that has been following him since the season began—winning his first game. In justice to him, however, it must be said that his pitching has been of a superior character in every game he has played.

The home team showed greatly improved form. It is possible that Captain Weidensaul's switching the men around may have been responsible for this: at any rate they played a much better game than before. Wallauer was taken off third and put on first, Davis going to center field. Capt. Weidensaul came in from center garden to replace Doolin at second, who was sent to third. Sigel played in left field in place of Milligan. The former appeared to be rather nervous both at bat and in the field, although he made a pretty catch of a fly after a hard run.

Bucknell did not start off well and four innings passed before a hit was secured off Brady, although one run was secured in the first on a base on balls and a costly error by Henderson. F. & M. scored three runs in the third inning on Bucknell's headless playing. In the fifth, however, Bucknell began to find the ball, and after that the game was never in doubt. By good fielding Bucknell held the visitors down to two more runs. Little umpired well, not one of his decisions being disputed. The score:

Base Ball Series.

A series of three dances has been arranged for the benefit of the Base Ball Team, the first of which takes place to-night in the Armory. Good music will be furnished and all interested should turn out. The dates of the other dances will be announced later.

Institute Elocution Contest.

The Annual Institute Contest in Elocution was held in Bucknell Hall on Saturday evening. The weather was favorable and a large crowd was present to witness the efforts of the fair reciters. The audience was well repaid for going to the hall. The reciters all acquitted themselves remarkably well showing hard work in preparation and careful training; reflecting much credit upon the ability of the reciters and also upon the teacher in elocution, Miss Hanna. Several tasty decorations added to the pleasant appearance of the platform.

Shortly after eight o'clock, Misses Watkins and Kress started to play the opening march to whose melodious strains the contestants marched up the aisle and took their seats upon the platform. Rev. Judd followed with the invocation after which Miss Kress rendered a very pleasing piano solo, then Miss Browning recited, "The Last Conflict," from George Eliot, followed by Miss Burchett who recited, "Lucindy's Baby." Miss Hancock next sang the "Spring Song," from Mendelssohn in her characteristic pleasing manner. Miss Nellie Goddard next recited that pathetic story of "Patsy," after which Miss Mary Halfpenny recited Dickens' "Midnight Adventure." Miss Mahaffey next gave McDowells', "Zingarella." The girls' glee club followed with a chorus "The Lovely Rose," after which Miss Ruth Stephens recited, "Seven Little Australians." Miss Warringer closed the program with Lord Tennyson's "Guinevere." The reciters received many well deserved compliments from their friends.

Principal Edward's Reception.

The annual reception given by Principal and Mrs. Edwards to the members of of the Fourth Form and their friends was held Friday evening. The Watsontown orchestra furnished music for the entertainment of the guests, which everyone pronounced a delightful innovation. About eighty young people and the Institute and Academy faculties enjoyed the evening. Bright faces and happy conversation filled the rooms, making the time pass rapidly. The office was transformed into a dining room filled with small tables at which the guests were seated in congenial groupes. All too soon came the time to go and everyone felt that the evening had been one of the most enjoyable ever spent at the Academy.

Freshman Declamation Contest.

On Monday and Tuesday, May 7 and 8, occurred the Freshman Contest in Descriptive Declamation. Nineteen freshmen contested, the selection recited being Henry W. Grady's "The Homes of the People." Messrs. Singiser and Cook were chosen from the groups in which they contested on Monday and at 9.45 Tuesday morning recited before Dr. Perrine, Prof. Martin and Dr. Schwill who acted as judges. The winner of the final contest will be announced Commencement Day.

Prof. Ford's Lecture.

Notwithstanding the fact that Prof. Ford's lecture was well advertised he was greeted by a rather small audience on Thursday evening last, a discouraging fact from the financial point of view, if no other. The lecturer held the attention of his listeners throughout and dismissed them thoroughly well pleased that they had come.

Although Prof. Ford is not a great artist, he is particularly happy in his treatment of humor and pathos. There is a sense of whole soulness about all that he says, and considerable subtlety of tecnique in his way of saying it. Arrogance and driveling meanness become more detestable as he portrays them, while simple goodness seems more fair with him as its mouthpiece.

His program Thursday evening covered a wide range of situations and emotions. "Say Hello" first opened the hearts of the audience toward all men high or low. Then there was the story of the child at school who was wronged by teachers and pupils: and the story of "what the violin told." Prof. Ford presented these beautiful sketches with a simplicity of touch and a tenderness characteristic of high art.

Perhaps the professor was most inimitable in his impersonations. Here was the "Old Colored Mammy"—Prof. Ford's own production which was touching in its reference to the old days of servitude, just "befo'" the great conflict that made all men free under the stars and stripes. The professional visitor of the sick with her long face and her remarks well calculated to heighten the fever of the patient was well depicted. The impersonation of the modern church choir was exceedingly funny. Prof. Ford gave a number of other interesting impersonations and recitations, all of which well showed his ability and were admired by all present.

A Noted Lecturer to Visit Bucknell.

Through the efforts of Dr. Hulley the Rev. Charles Davis, of Cardiff, Wales, has consented to lecture before the students of Bucknell and their friends on Thursday evening. Dr. Davis is a man of considerable renown in England and Wales, and as a platform lecturer and orator is said to be unequaled. As the lecture will be free, everyone should turn out. An opportunity to hear an orator of the reputation Rev. Davis enjoys does not come very often. The fact that Dr. Davis' Ability is vouched for by a member of the faculty should insure him a large and attentive audience.

Bucknell Golf Club.

As a result of the Golf Links laid out early this term by Messrs. Wassell and Weymouth, Bucknell can now boast of a Golf Club. Friday afternoon the enthusiasts met in Room I and organized a club with the following officers: President, H. B. Wassell; VicePresident, W. E. Woodyear; Secretary, H. A. Milligan; Course and Finance Committee, Weymouth, Goodall and Milligan. All students desiring to use the links are requested to join the club in the near future and become charter members.

The inter-class contests held on Saturday were the most interesting that have been held for some time. They show us clearly that we can look for excellent work from our boys when we meet State College next Friday. We will have a stronger lot of men in the field than we have had for years. Our runners will do work of which we may justly feel proud. In many of the other events also our men will do honor to Bucknell. State College is reported to have a strong team also, and the contests will be close. Since the meet is on our grounds we will not lack rooters. This means a great deal in bringing success to our boys. In the contests on Saturday nothing of this kind could be done except an occasional display of class feeling, but next Friday, class feeling will be sacrificed to college loyalty, and we will turn our guns upon a common foe. If the contests last Saturday were interesting, those next Friday will be doubly so. No one will care to miss this important meet, and friends of the two colleges will be here in abundance. Let us remember that success depends largely upon our enthusiasm.

The work of the literary societies is a very essential part of a college course. In the society we get a certain training which it is not possible to get in the class room. One unoccasioned to public speaking will always present an awkward appearance to his audience. He will feel embarrassed on every occasion, and he must hesitate for words to express his thoughts, and then leaves no clear, definite impression. He is beaten easily in an argument by a skillful opponent. To be sure, there are many who do not intend to become public speakers, but they must become leaders if they make a success in life. It makes no difference what profession one follows, the need of this training soon becomes apparent. The lawyer and the preacher, of course need this training for their daily practice. The physician must have it if he would lead in his profession; he will have theories to defend and arguments to refute if he would become an authority in his line of work. The teacher must be ready to respond to every demand made upon him, and take every opportunity to increase the efficiency of his co-laborers. The merchant will need this training as he mingles with his fellow men. So we might go through all occupations and professions and we will find that all need literary society work. Even a private citizen living the most retired life imaginable, will sometimes need to know something of parliamentary rules and literary society usages. In fact, one's college education is not complete without some training along this line.

It is gratifying to observe in this connection, that the membership of our societies is large and the attendance good; but there are some who are making the great mistake of their lives by not becoming members and taking an active part in this work. Some students do not join either society; and some others join but never attend except when something special is on the program. Neither class is of any use to the society, and the society is of little use to them. Since the societies are large we scarcely miss the absent ones; then let each one remember that he loses infinitely more by staying away than the society does. The societies exist for us all, then let us make the best of our opportunity.

Annual Track Meet.

made and no records broken. Probably a warmer day and a faster track would have been productive of some better results, but on the whole everything was satisfactory.

On Friday State College will be here and our boys are training faithfully for the meet. The result is very certain to be close and each event will be hotly contested. This bids fair to be the most interesting event of the year and a big crowd should turn out to help the Bucknell boys.

The State Bucknell Meet.

The most interesting track and field meet ever held in Lewisburg occurred on Friday, when the Orange and Blue was pitted against the Blue and White. Several causes conspired to keep up interest throughout, but most especially the closeness of the the score, which see-sawed up and down, and not until the very last event had been finished was the final result certain. Several surprises were forthcoming for both sides, and while each lost certain events they had counted on winning, they won others they had not counted on, so that matters were very evenly divided. While State won out, the result was practically a tie, as one more second place for Bucknell would have made the score 48 to 48.

Had our own boys been given the advantage they had fairly won, but were robbed of by our judges postponing several events until Saturday, on account of rain, we might have secured the needful three points. However, we are not excusing the track team for its defeat. State won out fairly, and deserves credit for doing so: and, inasmuch as this is but the second year Bucknell has had a track team, the home team is also deserving of credit for the good contest they put up. Considering last year's score of 34 to 62, a big improvement is seen when we look at the present score of 45 to 51. We shall hope to see a still greater improvement next year.

The first trial heat in the 100 yds. was run in 10¾, with Pollock first and Tiffany second. In the second trial heat Martin was first, with Mitchell second, all four men met in the final, but State was too fast for us and Pollock won out with Martin second. Time 10 2-5 sec. While Bucknell fell down in this event, she evened up matters in the 120 yd. hurdle when Sherwood took first in 17 2-5 seconds with Mitchell second. The latter had the misfortune to fall, but recovered himself and made a magnificent finish, beating Cure out by 6 inches.

Perhaps the finest contest of the day was the mile run. State's track miler, Mills, was pitted against Capt. Riemer and Sterling. Riemer paced the first lap, Sterling the second, Riemer the third, and then Miles was kind enough to undertake that job for the last lap. All three were bunched at the 100 yd. mark, and then came a magnificent struggle to win out. Fifty yards from home Sterling took the lead, while Riemer and Mills ran neck and neck. Ten yards from the tape Riemer gained a lead, winning out for second place. All three contestants finished within four feet of each other, making the most exciting race ever witnessed on the Bucknell track. Time 5.07. The quarter mile immediately followed. Gill, State's fastest quarter miler, was pitted against Goodall and Shorkley. We at once took the lead, holding it until 100 yds. from the finish when both Bucknell men pulled up and challenged him. The finish was most exciting, Goodall winning out by his accustomed sprint, with Gill second and Shorkley third. Time 54¼ seconds.

State was avenged, however, when Gill won the half, with Goodall second. This was much like the quarter, but Gill was the stronger at the finish. Time 2 minutes 13 seconds.

One more race came to Bucknell when Fetzer won first in the 2 mile run. A rather amusing incident occurred in this race. Fetzer started out at a brisk pace and Norris, the State man, let him go, thinking he was in only to pace a lap or two. Sterling and Riemer stayed with Norris, who did not discover his mistake until Fetzer was almost a half lap ahead, when the race developed into a struggle for second place. Our men, tired by their hard mile were beaten out for second by Norris, who made a fine finish. Time, 12.05.

Had Bucknell done as well in the field events as on the track we would have won easily. However State took first and second in both the hammer throw and shot put. Cure winning first with Scholl second, distance 103 and 42 ft. respectively.

The broad jump went to Sherwood, who quite surpassed himself by doing 20ft. 7 in, with Martin second.

Martin won the high jump in fine style, Bucknell taking second. The pole vault was last, and so close was the score that if Bucknell had won both places in this event we would have tied State. Naturally much interest was centered in this event. Only three contestants were entered, Martin, Lesher and Theis.

After his alloted trials Lesher failed to clear 9 feet, and State was sure of victory. Martin forfeited the event to Bucknell, taking second for State.

Mr. Paton Coming.

We are soon to have the great privilege of seeing and hearing John G. Paton, the Veteran Scottish Missionary of the New Hebrides. Mr. Paton has spent 42 years of Missionary effort among the cannibal tribes of the South Sea Islands; he has lived to see many of those same cannibals transformed from fierce, unclothed savages to civilized men and women. The story of his life reads like a novel. His adventures and escapes are nothing less than miraculous. Mr. Paton will adress the Faculty and the Student body of the University on Monday afternoon, June 4, in Bucknell Hall. He will also speak in the Presbyterian church at 7:30 the same evening. Do not miss the rare opportunity of meeting this great missionary hero, as this will probably be the last time he will visit America.

R. E. Carringer, '03, visited Watsontown on Thursday afternoon.

Bucknell 3; F. & M. 5.

Inability to hit the ball at the proper time and poor base running were the factors that conspired to defeat Bucknell at Lancaster on Thursday when the Orange and Blue was pitted against the Blue and White of Franklin and Marshall. The pitching of Prichard was of the gilt-edged variety, and if his support had been good he would have won his game easily. The four runs made in the fifth inning came after chances had been offered to retire the side. But this would have been overcome had the Bucknell boys handled their bats well, and kept their heads while on the bases. No less than seven men were left on bases and two men caught at the plate, trying to score.

Graybill and Prichard both pitched well, striking out six and seven men respectively. Killheffer at short for F. & M., and Teufel in the same position for Bucknell fielded remarkably well.

Dr. Bartol's Lecture.

Dr. Bartol delivered a lecture yesterday morning in Bucknell Hall directly after chapel on "eclipses," with special reference to the eclipse of the sun, which is to occur on the morning of May 28, and which will be visible to a certain extent in Lewisburg about 8.15, A. M. The total eclipse at Norfolk, Va., will begin at 8.54 A. M., lasting but little longer than one minute. Dr. Bartol told of the problems that interest astronomers at the time of a total eclipse, and also described methods of photographing the corona and other phenomena attending eclipses. The relation of the form of corona and the number of sun spots was also discussed.

The lecture was intensely interesting, especially since the subject is one so widely discussed at this time, and was attended by all the students.

Junior Exhibition in Oratory.

A rather large audience greeted the representatives of the class who took part in the exhibition and showed by close attention to each orator and by numerous commendations at the close of the contest that the affair was an interesting one, and instructive as well. We have neither the room nor ability to criticise each production. All who took part spoke clearly and presented their subject in a forcible way. The orations themselves were of high grade and evinced that careful thought and study had been given to each.

The orations were pleasingly varied by music furnished by a number of ladies from the Institute, so that those present enjoyed both an intellectual and musical treat.

Louis Pasteur, the Scientist.... ....Creighton M. Konkle.
The George Junior Republic.... ....Katharine Johnson.
College Politics..Hugo B. C. Riemer.
"A Man's a Man for a' That".... ....Mary Protheroe Davies.
Honor in Student Self-Government.. ..G. W. Alexander.
Needs for Protective Legislation.. ..Elmer H. Myers.
The Need of Individuality.... ....Sarah Mabel Grier.

The result of the contest will be announced Commencement Day, when the winner will receive the Wm C. Gretzinger Prize.

Thursday Evening's Lectures.

The university and town enjoyed a treat on Thursday evening in Bucknell Hall. Two lectures were given—one by Rev. Chas. Davis, of Cardiff, Wales and the other by the Rev. C. T. Davis, of Phila. The speakers were introduced by Dr. Hulley, who in a witty way referred to the number of the Davis family present.

Dr. Davis, of Wales, spoke on the life and work of George Müller, a noted scholar and philanthropist of Bristol, England, drawing a number of choice thoughts from the doings of Müller's successful life.

Following Dr. Davis' excellent address, the Rev. Davis, of Phila., gave a stereoptican lecture on the world famous Yosemite Valley in California. Prof. Nelson Davis, of Bucknell, operated the slides. In a fascinating manner the speaker carried his audience to the valley pictured before them, describing in a vivid way, the famous "big trees," the granite walls that surround the valley, its silvery streams, its wonderful waterfalls and its lofty rocks. The views presented were fine and the descriptions were interesting.

The athletic contests on Friday were fine until interrupted by the storm. There could be no satisfaction in finishing on Saturday in the rain. We were beaten by six points but our boys did work of which we need not be ashamed. They showed unmistakable evidence of fine coaching. State's strong men at the hammer and shot gave them an advantage which our superior running could not overcome. Considering everything the meet was a success.

We would suggest that the students keep well informed as to who are our best patrons among the business men of the town. We have some loyal supporters among this class of men. They place advertisements in all of our college publications, give to our athletic fund and in every way try to help us along. These are the men who deserve all of our patronage. They get the most of it at present but they deserve it all.

Most students know in a general way who these men are, but the loyal student will know just the amount of each man's support and patronize him accordingly. It will take then but little effort on our part to keep ourselves thus posted. A mere glance through our publications and at our subscription lists will reveal just the amount of each man's support. Ten minutes time for each student with a pencil in hand would give him a tabulated comparison of this support. We do not advise boycotting any one, but we do earnestly urge reciprocity, and believe that every loyal student should be governed by this principle.

There is at present considerable talk about strict government of colleges. To be sure, a great many good arguments are advanced in favor of that method, but we wish to suggest a few points against it. They say that the fellows who come up the hill about nine o'clock at night would not be allowed to make those hideous pulmonary exertions. Now, there are about a dozen fellows in the college who have no other means of gaining notoriety, and if that right was taken away from them they would sink into oblivion. This would never do.

Again, it would prevent those spasmodic rackets in the halls at night. This is something that we could not afford to have stopped. Those who do not room in the building can have no conception of the pleasing impression made upon one, by the sound of a tin bucket rolling down the hall when he is trying to get his mind down to a hard lesson, on a warm spring evening, or tossing on his bed trying to sleep.

But the worst feature of the method is that it is behind the age in its mode of locomotion. The motto of progressive Americans should be, "never walk when you can ride," but they say that the strict government method never allows one to ride. Now, if that was made absolutely binding, how many would always be Freshmen! Oh! The thought is too horrible to contemplate!

The Remenyi Concert.

Last evening the students of Bucknell were treated to an entertainment by the Remenyi Concert Company, composed of Herr Victor Beigel, Pianist, Miss Marguerite Hall, Mezzo Soprano, and Mr. Walter Wheatley, Tenor. A small number of town people and students greeted the performers, but the audience though a slender one was very appreciative.

The three members of the company came to Lewisburg well recommended by all who have heard them in the past and succeeded in sustaining their reputation last evening.

The press of many cities both in this country and in Europe have given flattering notices of the artistic success of these stars. The audience which greeted these artists was likewise charmed and came away full of admiration for the performers of the evening.

The people of Lewisburg and the Students have nothing but generous praise for the remarkable ability of these musicians.

Important Notice.

All persons who owe for tickets, or who have not yet paid their subscriptions to the track fund and base ball team, will kindly do so at the earliest convenience in order that outstanding bills may be paid.

Members of the track and field team who have equipment belonging to the association will please turn same over to the manager or captain, in order that the same may be set aside for use next year.

The expenses of bringing the Indian base ball team here, next Saturday, is about $75.00. In order to meet this expense every student should turn out and buy a ticket for the game.

The Base Ball Trip.

Ralu played havoc with Manager Weymouth's schedule for Friday and Saturday. The trip to Lancaster was made in safety so far as the elements were concerned. But when the team reached Chester on Friday and had prepared for the game, the rain began to fall, making two games impossible. The team returned Saturday evening. The next game will take place on College Campus, Saturday, May 26, when the team meets the Carlisle Indians. A good game is assured and all the students should turn out.

The B. D. C.'s Second Appearance.

Within the next two weeks the Bucknell Dramatic Club will present the very successful comedy entitled "All the Comforts of Home" by Maurice Hagman. The club has been reinforced by the initiations from the Sophomore Class and a strong cast will make its appearance. Each character has been the subject of hard study and criticism and the performance will undoubtedly surpass the last. The play itself has made quite a hit wherever presented.

The proceeds will be applied to athletics and a large crowd should encourage our aspiring amateurs.

The Base Ball Dance.

On Monday evening in the armory the first of a series of Base Ball Dances was held. Notwithstanding the warm weather those in attendance seemed to enjoy themselves. The Lewisburg Band furnished the music and showed remarkable improvement over former efforts. Two more dances will be held, one May 31st and the other June 12th to which all are invited and urged to attend.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

VOL. IV. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 29, 1900. No. 33

Bucknell 8, Indians 4.

There is a saying in Carlisle town that the Indians can defeat any team except Bucknell; the truth of that saying has been well established in former years, and Saturday's victory simply seems to emphasize the fact. Of all the games played this year by our boys, this was the ideal game. Weather, attendance, luck—all were with us; and best of all, victory perched upon our banner. The day was perfect, the crowd the best of the season, and Bucknell pulled through her "fatal sixth" without the usual "ascension"—not only that, but we actually scored a run in our half. There was no indication of "rattles" at any stage, and several times when in a tight place, our boys pulled themselves together nicely. Prichard pitched a fine game, and, while hit hard at times, was finely supported. In fact, the error column was materially smaller than in most of our previous games.

One very pleasing feature of the game was the gentlemanly conduct of all the players, and the courteous treatment accorded the visitors. Excepting one or two questionable decisions, the umpiring was excellent, and very impartial. Pierce, the big backstop, established himself in popular favor by a magnificent drive for four bases, and was given the glad hand at each subsequent appearance at bat. Carlisle's third baseman likewise took the people's eye by his good natured remarks and gentlemanly conduct, and a very good spirit was manifest all around.

Bucknell began the run-getting in the first inning, but Carlisle failed to score. Capt. Weidensaul hit safely, getting two bases on the play; Teufel smashed the ball and on the 2nd baseman's error Weidensaul scored, but Teufel was caught off first. Doolin was safe on a second error, but Graham was thrown out at first and Prichard met the same fate. In Carlisle's half, Miller walked and Pierce hit safely, but the next three men were out in order. No more scoring was done until the third, when Weidensaul opened up with a safe hit, taking second on a balk and scoring on Teufel's out. Doolin went out on a fly to deep center. Graham hit safe, and Prichard got his base, being hit by pitched ball. On the next play Graham was forced at third, thus ending the inning. In the fourth Bucknell added two more to her score. Davis was hit by the pitcher and walked; Wallauer struck out, but Milligan hit safely, and a passed ball advanced each runner a base: Weidensaul got four balls, thus filling the bases. Teufel fouled out, but an error on the next play allowed Davis and Milligan to tally. Graham ended the inning by striking out. The Indians were retired in 1, 2, 3 order. Each side scored 2 runs in the 5th. Prichard was retired at first, but Carlin was safe on an overthrow, took second, and scored on Davis' hit. Wallauer was safe on a poor throw and Milligan drew four balls; Weidensaul hit safely and Davis scored, but Milligan was forced at 2d and Teufel flied out. For Senior Reception.

Last Tuesday evening was the date of one of the most pleasant functions the Class of Nineteen Hundred has enjoyed during the four years of eventful history she has made at Bucknell. It was the occasion of the annual reception to the Senior Classes given by Dr. and Mrs. Harris.

Almost every college senior was present and with them the seniors of the different departments of the Institute. The Institute Faculty was well represented, too, and by their presence greatly enhanced the pleasures of the evening. The college man and woman, clad in cap and gown, presented a gravely dignified appearance and the Institute ladies, attired in soft evening dress, made a charming picture.

Dr. and Mrs. Harris by their genial way of receiving, soon made every guest feel completely at home. Happily chosen words of greeting and interesting companions allowed no formality to enter into the affair or mar the pleasure of any. The one whose devotion to book and study room had led to neglect of social life during the college course, entered into the spirit of the occasion and experienced just as gay an evening as the one who had given much time to social pleasures. The merry groups in the parlor of the President's house forgot all other cares in the cheerfulness of the evening's reception. The friendships formed in the generous rivalry of class room work were the more firmly cemented on the evening when all of Nineteen Hundred were gathered in a social way. The college folks were given an opportunity to become acquainted with their younger sisters of the Institute or to renew acquaintances, and many a lively conversation between a collegian and semite gave proof that all had found jovial companions.

On the whole, the reception was enjoyed as only a gathering of old friends can be enjoyed. During a part of the evening a number of the guests drew around the piano where Miss Knox was seated, and for a time the rooms rang out with many an old familiar college song, whose strains gave a glad cheer to all.

After refreshments, the guests returned to the parlors, where the pleasures of the evening were resumed. But ere any were aware, the time of departure arrived. That time never flew so fast was the opinion of all. After farewells were said, the guests returned to their several abodes well satisfied with the evening's enjoyment.

Another Track Meet.

As the result of a conference between Coach Hoskins, Captain Sherwood and the Coach of the Carlisle Indian Team, held on Saturday, we may hold another track meet on our campus this spring. The track men have been ordered into practice again and the meet, if held, will occur June 8. The Indians are famous, in track athletics as in all other branches of sport, and a meet with them would surely be very enthusiastically supported by all interested in athletic contests.

Junior Banquet.

On last Friday evening occurred one of the most pleasant and delightful social functions that has graced the entire year of the class of 1901.

Determined to establish a precedent in Junior history at Bucknell, the above class resolved to hold a banquet. Accordingly all arrangements were duly made and last Friday evening two hack loads of merry Juniors left the Seminary en route for the Hotel Haag at Milton.

The early part of the evening was spent in a social way and all seemed to thoroughly enjoy the occasion. About 10:30 all repaired to the dining room where they were greeted with a most artistically decorated table and a very toothsome menu.

The last course was finished about midnight or shortly after when toast master Alexander greeted the banqueters with a pleasing introduction to the treats that were destined to follow.

Retrospective...Katherine M. Johnson.
L'Agenda.....Andrew B. S. Bechtel.
1901 in Society..Chas. F. Bidelspacher.
Present.....John S. Stephens.
Football Prospects..Samuel C. Smith.
Mandolin and Guitar Quintet — Sarah Mabel Grier, Minnie Gertrude Eckels, Emma Clare Probasco, Bessie Helen Wells, Mary Protheroe Davies.
Old Bucknell.....Edgar T. Shields.
Prospective.....Creighton M. Konkle.
Vocal Solo .....Joseph Z. Rowe.

After the toasts the party proceeded to the parlors where various social games and sports were indulged in.

The ladies were very well chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. Davis.

About three o'clock the merry party returned to Lewisburg feeling well repaid for the evening so pleasantly spent.

Inter Society Debate.

On last Friday evening representatives from the two men's Literary Societies of the College met in verbal conflict on the rostrum in the Theta Alpha Hall. The subject under discussion was: "Resolved, That the members of the President's cabinet ought to be given seats and the right to speak in the lower house of Congress." The men who represented the Theta Alpha Society and who argued the affirmative were Messrs. McCracken and Rhodes; those of the Euepian Society, and who debated in the negative, were Messrs. Ulmer and Weaver. Notwithstanding the fact that the debate was confined to under class men, it was discussed thoroughly and in an interesting, logical way on both sides. The judges, Professors Stewart, Fisk and Helm, rendered the decision in favor of the negative, thus scoring a victory for the Euepians. After the debate each of the judges made some interesting and humorous remarks touching on the past and present of the Literary Society work.

A College Crime.

It is with great regret that the ORANGE AND BLUE takes notice of an act of vandalism that occurred last Thursday evening. We would not speak of it were it not for the fact that we desire to voice a protest against such disgraceful proceedings as took place last week and also several times previously during this year.

It is a sad fact that students who ought to represent the pick of young men often form the opinion that any act of rowdyism done by them is justifiable. College matriculation is to them a wall within which neither law nor censure of questionable conduct should be allowed to enter. While we are in hearty sympathy with any jolly college trick or joke, we cannot excuse as thoughtless the act of slyly entering the home of President Harris, and while he and his family were engaged in entertaining guests, steal the refreshments intended for them. It was not thoughtless, nor fun but common thieving. Those who took part in it broke the common law, placed under suspicion the student body, committed a very serious offense against Dr. and Mrs. Harris, disgraced the University and perjured themselves, all for a little ice cream.

Such conduct ought not be allowed to continue. The student body should take the matter in hand, repudiate the act, discover the criminals and turn them over that proper punishment might be meted out to them.

Fourth Form Reception.

Dr. Harris' reception to the young men of the Fourth Form Academy and their friends occurred on last Thursday evening. A pleasant feature of this reception and one which doubtless contributes largely to its success is the fact that members of the class are permitted to invite young ladies of their choice to share the pleasures of the evening with them. As a result of this many young ladies from College, Institute and Town were present.

From beginning to end the affair was a pleasing one and all who were permitted to enjoy it, departed highly pleased with the hospitality of their host and hostess.

There appears to be a little bit of carelessness among us about the wearing of letters and numerals by those who are not entitled to them. There are certain rules governing this matter and we believe they should be strictly enforced. Only those who have earned a "B," or a numeral should wear one or anything that has its appearance. The track team will be given caps which will indicate that they have earned a place on our team. No other person should wear one of these caps or anything similar to them.

The reasons for conforming strictly to these rules are very evident. In the first place, it is unjust to those who have earned these marks of honor. If every one is permitted to wear them or to palm off an imitation there will be no honor in it. Secondly, it is unjust to the student body. The men who earn these honors represent the whole college in their respective places. The man wearing them without earniug them is a very poor representative to say the least. He is like counterfeit money in circulation with the good. Of course, we believe that the slight tendency in this direction has, in the past, been due to thoughtlessness; for we know that none of us want to be know as a false representative.

Carlisle, Blackchief flied out to Doolin, Miller was safe on an error, and Pierce smashed the ball for a home run, making one of the finest drives ever seen on the home grounds. Rogers got four balls, but Roberts was out to Doolin and Johnson struck out. Carlisle changed batteries in the sixth but it did not change Bucknell's run getting. Doolin flied out and Graham struck out, but Prichard walked and Carlin hit safely. Prichard stole third and Davis got a pass to first. On a passed ball Prichard scored, but Wallauer ended the half by striking out. Roberts was out at first, but Johnson was safe on an error. The next two men were out on a neat double, Teufel to Wallauer. Carlisle scored two runs in the eighth. Milligan retired the first man up, on a nice catch, but the next three men hit safely, filling the bases; a fourth hit scored two runs, but Beaver was caught at third and Pierce was out to Doolin. Bucknell scored one more in the ninth, just by way of clinching the game. Wallauer was safe on an error, taking second on a wild pitch. Milligan flied out, but Weidensaul scored Wallauer by a fine drive for three bases. Teufel fouled out and Doolin was out on a long fly. Carlisle was retired in 1, 2, 3 order. Final score, 8-4. VOL. IV. LEWISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JUNE 5, 1900. No. 32

Gettysburg vs. Bucknell.

On Friday our boys left for Gettysburg, where they expected to play a clean, fast game of Baseball. It is with regret that we record the unfair treatment received there—worse treatment, in fact, than could be expected in any inter-collegiate contest of any sort. We hesitate to speak ill of any sister college, but in this case the facts justify the deed. The fact that thirteen of our boys struck out is sufficient to cause an uplift of the eyebrows. Even this, however, could be pardoned, but a deliberate theft of a run cannot be. Especially when baseball rules declare that the baseman shall not interfere with the runner trying to reach a base, and we were robbed of one run by exactly this method. Milligan had reached third, and Capt. Weidensaul, our "sure hitter," was at bat. Gettysburg's pitcher threw to third attempting to catch Milligan. The latter ran quickly back, but the baseman, perceiving that he was too late to catch Milligan, deliberately blocked him and tagged him, the umpire calling the runner out. Such umpiring has no excuse. Numerous other bad decisions we pass over, but this one, robbing us of the run that would have tied the score, is too bad to overlook. Gettysburg and other colleges we treated fairly when at Lewisburg, and we have a right to expect as much when away from home. Such conduct as Gettysburg is guilty of ought to sever all college relations between the two institutions. We regret very much that there should be occasion to chronicle any such actions. Summary:

The Mt. St. Mary's Game.

The Mt. St. Mary's game was a pleasing contrast to the Gettysburg game played the day previous. Clean playing, gentlemanly conduct and impartial umpiring were very much in evidence, and the Bucknell team is greatly pleased with the treatment they received.

Both teams played good ball and Bucknell had to do her best to win. The fact that our boys had only one error credited to them, shows that they played in very good fashion. St. Mary's opened up on Carlin in the first and succeeded in scoring two tallies by the aid of three very nice long hits. Bucknell tied the score and things didn't look exceedingly hopeful, but "Teddy" pulled himself together and the hits were scattered after that, St. Mary's scoring one in the fourth and one in the sixth. Outside of this they could do nothing at all. Bucknell on the contrary succeeded in piling up fourteen runs. A nice bunching of hits and good base running gave us two in the first, two in the second, four in the fourth and three each in the sixth and seventh. Only eight innings were played in order to allow our boys to catch a train.

Several pretty plays are credited to Bucknell. Prichard drove out a three base hit, with the bases full, while Weidensaul and Wallauer executed a neat double. Several men were neatly caught off bases by Bucknell, while both pitchers struck out four men each. Much improvement was manifest in Bucknell's play all around, which we are glad to note. Summary by innings:

St. Marys	2	0	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	—4

Lock Haven—Bucknell.

Bucknell's team won an easy game from the Central State Normal School at Lock Haven on Memorial Day, the score being 29 to 2. Bucknell had on her batting clothes and it was biff! bang! from start to finish. The visitors were also aided in their run-getting matinee by the wildness of the Normal's pitchers and poor fielding by the rest of the team. On the other hand, Carlin, for Bucknell, pitched a superb game and was given gilt-edged support, but one error being charged up against our boys. Carlin held the Normal batters down to three hits for six innings, but in the seventh they made three more. A single followed by a home run hit over the center field fence resulted in two runs for the home team, and with that they were satisfied to quit.

"Benny" Griffith, Bucknell '99, a teacher in the school, played second base for the Normals, and put up a good game. He made several difficult stops, but his throwing, owing to his glass arm, was not so good. The score:

Rev. George Dana Boardman, Annual Lecturer on Social Ethics, accompanied by Mrs. Boardman, arrived in Phila., last week, having just returned from Europe. Dr. Boardman's health is reported to be much improved. He and Mrs. Boardman will stay for a few weeks at the country seat of Harry S. Hopper at Pennhurst, Montgomery county. Dr. Boardman's improvement in health will be news gladly received at Bucknell, where his recent severe illness was a cause of much concern.

Myers, '01, spent Wednesday in Sunbury visiting friends.

The Indians.

We are pleased to announce the coming meet with the Carlisle Indians on June 8th. All indications point to a close contest. State defeated Dickinson and the latter defeated the Indians. State also defeated Bucknell. Judging from records in the separate events, also, the meet promises to be of the greatest interest. Immediately upon agreeing to this meet, our boys went into training again, and are rapidly rounding into form. They will also benefit by experience gained in the State meet.

One very pleasing feature of the contests between Carlisle and B. U. is the good feeling manifested, and the very congenial relations existing between the two schools. It is to be hoped this feeling may be perpetuated and contests in all sports be held between the two schools. There are several men in school who have shown ability in previous meets, and it is to be hoped they will come out and train again. Those failing against State have now another chance to earn their team cap or B.

Important Notice.

The following announcement was handed to the ORANGE AND BLUE by the President:—

In order to allow larger freedom in electives, the courses in Mechanics, Physics and Astronomy will with next year be made elective, and the courses in Psychology, Ethics and Theism will be transferred to the Junior year. Both seniors and juniors will take these courses next year, but at different hours, using the same text. The text in Psychology will be Stout's Manual of Psychology.

Mirror Association Election.

The annual election of the Mirror Association was held in Euepia Hall on Saturday morning. President Miller, 1900, called the meeting to order. The attendance was remarkably large owing no doubt to the warm contest for Business Manager and Editor-in-Chief.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President:—Ulmer, '02; Vice Pres—Taylor, '03; Secretary—Konkle, '01; Business Manager—Marts, '02, was re-elected.

Every College student should bear in his personality two prominent characteristics, by which his friends at home and the people in general might have no trouble judging him a college man. The first one is an evidence of good intellectual ability. The second is a jolly college disposition.

We would like to make a suggestion concerning the prompt return of books to the library. Every week there is posted a list of books which are over due. This should not be necessary. When one keeps a book over the alloted time he is seriously infringing upon the rights of others. The books are intended to be used by all and not to be monopolized by any one. Again, it gives the librarians much extra work. The amount of work connected with the making out of those lists is not small, and it is all extra labor. Now as the term is coming to a close we can save the librarians the work of collecting these books by carefully returning them to the library on time.

The Y. M. C. A. hand book for 1900-01 is now out. This convenient little volume of valuable information has become one of the indispensable articles of every student. Our boys have improved it each year until it has become one of the best published. The present work is no exception to this advancement. It is similar to the book of last year in style and binding; but we note the insertion of a few items of information in addition to those of last year. One of these and perhaps the most commendable, is the list of topics for the devotional meetings for the year. This informs all just what the subject will be, giving each an opportunity to prepare something worthy of college men, so that there will be no excuse for those rambling extemporaneous blasts of wind sometimes heard. It also shows the careful work of the committee in planning their work for the year. Taking all things into consideration we believe it is the best hand book yet published by our associations.

Prof. Smith's Lecture.

A rather small audience assembled in Bucknell Hall on Friday evening to hear Prof. Bromley Smith (Bucknell '95) of Keystone Academy lecture on the subject, "A Great Hoax": The threatening weather doubtless kept away a good many who intended to attend. Perhaps too, the subject had a tendency to keep some away fearing that the whole lecture would be a huge joke. In this they would have been very agreeably disappointed as it was not a joke at all but a lecture well worth hearing. It is not often that Bucknell graduates have the honor and privilege of being asked to come back to their Alma Mater to deliver a public lecture, so soon after graduation. Prof. Smith is but a young man and may justly feel proud of the honor.

The lecture contained many sound points which furnished good food for thought, these were interspersed with a number of humorous and apt stories and jokes.

The lecture treated of the three great necessities, Religion, Society and Nature, with which man has to strive and the evils resulting from this strife. Man's life always has been and still is a battle with nature. Volcanoes, earthquakes, floods storms and plagues have brought to naught what man has accomplished and have resisted his efforts. Man in all ages has worshipped what he believes to be a higher power. He can not see God yet he believes in him. He has fought great battles for religion. Society the third necessity, brings man in contact with political and educational institutions.

Man is fond of pictures, books, music. Society has its accompanying evils, the worst of which are ruinous competition and slavery in some parts of the earth. Man by nature is a fighting animal. His wars have killed ten times as many men as the present population of the world numbers. The fatality of society is great. Man's duty is to subdue the earth and help bring about the millenium. Man should lend a helping hand. This nation has a divine mission to perform.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the Northfield com. of the Y. M. C. A.

Rev. J. R. Wood, '94, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Collingdale, has accepted a call from the North Frankford Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

A new plan for athletic dues is now being circulated among the Alumni and undergraduates of Lehigh University. A petition has been presented to the Board of Trustees that they "establish a compulsory athletic fee of seven dollars, to be paid annually by every man in college." This fee, the receipt of which admits the holder to all games on the home ground, is to be collected with the regular tuition. The petition in its general features is like the one circulated at Bucknell two years ago, but which met disaster when it reached the Board of Trustees, notwithstanding the fact that nearly all the students signed it.

What "A Crazy Idea!"

You will think so if you miss the next performance of the B. D. C. on Thursday, June 14th. It will eclipse all former efforts, and the play itself has had a very successful run wherever presented. You can't afford to let this opportunity pass. Music Hall will be especially cooled for the occasion.

The Senior Banquet.

The Seniors held their annual banquet last Tuesday night in the Hotel Haag, Milton, where about thirty-five of the class gathered around the festive board. To give justice to the affair is impossible in our columns; we cannot reproduce in cold type the many merry incidents that graced the occasion—we can only say that from the moment of departure from the Institute until the return in the wee small hours of the morning, everything was joyful. The repast and the tasty decorations of the table, though keenly enjoyed, were very small features of the evening's cheer; the way that all present entered into the spirit of the occasion made it a feast that warmed the heart as well as one pleasant to the palate. In the joy and mirth of happy classmates all divisions were forgotten, and each loyal son and daughter of 1900 remembered naught save love for the glorious class which has fostered them so kindly during the four years at dear old Alma Mater.

After all the viands had been thoroughly discussed, toastmaster Bell in a neatly worded speech proposed the first toast, responded to by Miss Martin who in poetic strain told of "what we have learned." John Sherman's toast on "Our Posterity" was not a personal matter, but referred to the three lower classes. Had representatives of those classes been present they would have learned how vastly inferior they are, from every point of view, to the hardy braves of 1900. H. B. Wassell next told "How 1900 managed Bucknell" referring to the six managers, many editors, literary men and students, the class has given the school. "Our Benedicts" by Edgar Reed, were discussed not only from the standpoint of the present, but prospectively as well, and few escaped the well pointed jests of the speaker. M. A. Carringer told how successfully 1900 had comprehended the problem of "What is What?" especially since the introduction of the automobile. The faculty were touched upon in this toast and their kindly efforts for 1900's welfare were not forgotten. Miss A. G. White in discussing "Les Hommes Puissants" told of the athletic prowess of her class brothers. Chas. Miller next responded and in an eloquent way expatiated upon "Our Accomplishments," touching upon all the features of 1900's life, not neglecting the social accomplishments and looking somewhat further in the future to determine matrimonial possibilities. "Day Dreams and Air Castles" by Jesse D. Evans, was a discussion of our future professions and encouragement to success. "Our Willies" was well discussed by Miss Gertrude Roos, who paid a glowing tribute to the men of the class.

In the absence of Sherwood, his "college chum," was called upon to respond to "co-education,"—"Wey" succeeded in keeping the class in a perfect uproar of laughter. The "Closing Ode" was greeted with enthusiasm as are all of the results of Bunnell's poetic genius. After the regular toasts were over Miss

Bucknell vs. Carlisle.

The most interesting track meet ever held on the local grounds was run off on Friday, between Carlisle Indians and Bucknell. Perhaps the most peculiar feature of the entire meet was the tie score of 52 to 52—a thing very unusual when over one hundred points are contested for. Almost every event was hotly contested, which added interest to the meet. The fact that three Bucknell records were broken shows what high class work was done in each event. Some surprises were sprung on both sides, each team winning events unlooked for and losing others they had counted on. Bucknell sprung a surprise when Tiffany won the 100 in a beautiful race, and when Thels tied Moore for first place in the high jump. On the other hand, Carlisle won the mile, which was a surprise to Bucknell, as was Roberts' win from "Sherry" in the 220 hurdles. The only really easy win was in the pole vault, which went to Thels at 9 feet 9 inches, establishing a new college record, Pierce failing to clear 9 feet. Fetzer won the two mile in fine style, setting the pace all the way and finishing with a tremendous sprint. His time of 11 min. 11⅘ sec. establishes another new record. The third new record was made by Goodall in the half, who, tho finishing second, ran in record time. The Indians' time was 2.9⅘, Goodall's time being 2.10 flat. Financially, as well as in every other way, the meet was a success, all expenses being met and a neat sum cleared. One pleasing feature was the generous reception of our opponents by the spectators and the applause given each worthy performer, regardless of which side he represented.

The events in detail are as follows: The 100 yards went to Tiffany, B. U., in 10⅘ sec., who won out in fine fashion, Beaver, C., taking second. Sherwood, B. U., captured the 120 hurdles in his usual brilliant style, Roberts, C., being second. Time, 17⅘ sec. Perhaps the quarter was the prettiest race of the day. Howling Wolf, C., cut out an awful pace, with the men in two groups several yards apart. Near the 220 mark, Shorkley, B. U., breasted him, with Goodall, B. U., close on his heels. The latter passed the bunch, coming into the stretch, and won out by a magnificent spurt. Time, 54 sec. The mile run was fast and furious. Ruhl, B. U., paced two laps and quit, leaving Sterling, B. U., to fight the three redskins. Spring, C., barely won, with Sterling a close second, in 4 min. 59½ sec. In the 220 hurdle, Sherwood, B. U., seemed to have the race all safe, until the last hurdle, when an unfortunate stumble gave Roberts C., first in 27 4-5 sec. The half mile was another spectacular event. King, C., took first only by a terrific effort, winning from Goodall, B. U., who had already run a hard quarter. Time, 2 min. 9⅘ sec. Roberts, C., took the 220 dash, beating Tiffany, B. U., only by about two feet. Time, 24⅘ sec. Our two miler, Fetzer, again showed his

John G. Paton Visits Bucknell.

Bucknell has had the very great honor and privilege of welcoming to our midst the venerable missionary Dr. John Paton, whose life and work forms one of the most inspiring stories of missionary heroism. His visit was a benediction to all who saw and heard him. In appearance, he is patriarchal with his long snow-white hair and beard, his calm and peaceful features and his simple and unassuming manner. His first address was given in Bucknell Hall on Monday afternoon, June 4, at 4 o'clock, Mr. E. D. Soper, College Sec'y of Y. M. C. A. of Penna. presided. Dr. Paton told of his call to missionary work, and the opposition it caused among his friends; related his thrilling experiences among the cannibals of the New Hebrides, and his marvelous deliverances; and told of the transformations wrought by the preaching of the Gospel in those islands, forever refuting the hopelessness of any people. He contrasted the conditions existing in heathen and christian lands and tenderly and forcibly appealed to all dedicate their lives unreservedly to Christ, to whom we owe the blessings of this favored land. At the close of the address many met him, to each of whom he spoke a word of encouragement. In the evening he addressed a crowded meeting in the Presbyterian Church at which Dr. Perrine presided, and also spoke at an overflow service in the Baptist Church later in the evening.

Bucknell Wins at Berwick.

The game at Berwick resulted in the score of 17 to 1 in favor of Bucknell. Prichard occupied the box for Bucknell, while Heller pitched for Berwick. Prichard's speed told on the Berwick men and they were unable to score until the last inning, when Hopper crossed the plate on a bad error by a bucknell man. Weidensaul's work at second was brilliant, his record being four hits, seven put outs, five assists and no errors. Teufel's work at short was also of a superior character.

Geo. H. Catterall, ex-'99, who is manager of the Berwick team entertained the Bucknell fellows royally, and also accompanied them to Lewisburg, where he is visiting his many friends. The score:

Bucknell's Two Reserve Teams Defeated.

It is not frequent that Bucknell's baseball representatives play three games in one day. This happened on Saturday however. Besides the first team's game at Berwick, the reserves played at New Berlin and the second reserves at Watsontown, and in both games our warriors were defeated.

The game with the Central Penna. College at New Berlin was slow and uninteresting. Our boys were discouraged early in the game by rank decisions of the umpire, thus playing a somewhat careless game, losing by the score of 11 to 2.

The game at Watsontown was scarcely better. The game was poor from the beginning. The third team lacked team work and found it impossible to do any playing as a unit. Besides, umpire and crowd were on the enemy's side and contributed much to the defeat. The final score was 23 to 13 in favor of Watsontown.

On account of the small number of men who are candidates for athletic teams at Bucknell, it is the opinion of the ORANGE AND BLUE that it is a bad practice to arrange more than one scrub game for one day. A defeat from an inferior team cannot but reflect discredit upon the institution.

During the summer vacation many students plan more or less definitely for the coming year's work and expenses at college. Along this line we have a few suggestions to make. Would it not be a good thing for each one to make a provision in his plan for funds to subscribe for the college publications and patronize the college games and entertainments? Sometimes we do not think of these things as we should and try to reduce our expenses to the minimum by leaving them out. Now, the university is a little world in itself. We are here for nine months of the year, and we need to come in touch with all phases of university life. These things are the means by which one can broaden his life and social circle. Take the publications for example, We could not get along without them, and yet some borrow them each issue and then clamor for improvement. They, like our games, are just what we make them by our patronage. The larger we make their circulation, the less need there is for filling the columns with advertisements. Each year they are improved just in proportion to the support they receive. And we might show this is also the case with our games and lecturers. These are real factors in college life, and the man who lays his plans without considering them surely makes a mistake.

Dr. Aviragnet made happy the hearts of the members of the Bucknell Band on Thursday evening by giving them a treat of ice cream and cake in the Laboratory. The teachers in the Institute and several invited friends were present. All appreciated the Doctor's kindness and gave him three rousing cheers. After enjoying the delicious treat, the band serenaded the fair co-eds.

Bucknell Vs. Carlisle.

While the track events were being run off, the field events were also being contested and were equally as interesting. The high jump was most hotly contested, seven men jumping, Moore, C., and Theis, B. U., however tieing for first place at 5 ft 4¼ in. The points were divided, each man taking four. Pierce, C., won the shot put by two inches, making a put of 36 ft. 8 in., Gillis, B. U., taking second at 36 ft. 6 in. In the broad jump another pretty contest was seen. Sherwood, B. U., won out at 20 ft. 10 in., with Roberts, C., second at 20 ft. 8 in. Pierce again came to the front in the hammer, throwing the lead 94 ft. 3 in., with Taylor, B. U., second. Both Taylor and Gillis are entitled to team caps as a result of their work in the weight events. Only two men were entered in the pole vault. Pierce failed at 9 feet and Theis tried for a new record, breaking his old one by four inches. Height, 9 ft. 9 in.

Total score, 52 to 52.

Spectators are prone to give all the credit to the point winners, forgetting that the other men who have worked faithfully and encouraged the winners by their presence in the events, are deserving of great credit, for they have done their best. There are other men who can do something and will not even try. These men deserve anything but commendation. We desire to thank those men who have so faithfully worked, with no show of winning, and the track team, to a man, desires to express their sincere appreciation of Coach Hoskins' faithful and sympathetic work and kind instruction. We believe there is no better coach in the business.

Pooley, Holland, Peck, Rohrback, Miss Sober and others responded to impromptus.

The toasts, all of which were fine, added greatly to the merry-making; every one was held in suspense waiting to hear some marked characteristic of theirs pictured in jest. The worthy toast-master came in for a large share of this good natured fun but always managed to turn the tables on the other fellow in a remarkably happy way.

The toasts over, the company returned to the parlors, whence, after Mr. Simons had made use of his kodak and a few songs were sung the party repaired to their conveyances and the happiest gathering that 1900 has ever experienced was history.
